to the open balcony in front. The whole second floor of the north pavilion includes the great assembly room and the dining room, and is completely provided with an elevated stage for the accommodation of speakers. The kitchen, the dining room, the reception kitchen, refreshment room, reception room, and the library are on the ground floor. The building is encased with "staff" of the same material used on the rest of the buildings, and the walls bathed in meliorated lime. The women of the British Legation, the women of the country are not permitted to enter the building. The northern architectural composition of the position is a group of buildings, the most important of which is one that is situated at the southern end of the west flank and lies between the main building and the mines building. Facing eastward, it commands a view of the forest island and an extensive branch of the lagos. The building is a simple, rectangular, quietly restrained and simple in architectural treatment, although very rich in detail. The interior is furnished with a savor much of the Romanesque, although to the initiated the manner in which the building is treated, and the solitude above, for fine proportions and subtle relation of parts to parts, will at once suggest the methods of composition followed at the epoch of the great artists.

Viewed from the lagoon, the cupola of the transportation building forms a dominant and pleasant accent of the skyline. The building, a square quadrangle, built from the same material, reached by eight elevators, the effect of the entire exposition, may be seen in all its glory.

The entrance to the transportation building consists of an immense single-arched entrance to an enormous dimly defined interior. The entire floor is a mural painting, the entire floor forming a rich and beautiful yet quiet, rather than a noisy and brilliant, effect, as if the golden door.

The remainder of the architecture is composed of a series of buildings that contrast with the highly wrought entrance, and is duly quiet and modest, although very beautiful. The building is a continuous arcade with subordinated colonnade and establishment. The numerous small buildings, with their time pierced in the walls, and with them are grouped together.

The cupola, placed exactly in the center of the building and rising 155 feet above the ground, reaches by eight elevators. These elevators of themselves naturally form a part of the transportation system, carrying every passenger to galleries at various stages of height, a fine view of the interior of the building being maintained. The main galleries of this building, because of the abundant electric light, are as bright as could be desired by visitors.

The main building of the transportation system is 155 feet high, 100 feet front by 150 feet deep. From the second floor westward to Sixty-sixth street, the building is 155 feet square, the rest being 125 feet. This is the largest building in the world striking. Add to the effect of the exhibits the architectural impression given by a long vista of finely ornamented colonnades and it may easily be seen that the interior of the transportation building is one of the most impressive of the exposition.

The transportation exhibits naturally are arranged in the order of the name or sort, devoted to the purpose of transportation, and range from a baby carriage to a cable car, a street car, a cash conveyor to a balloon or carrier pigeons. Technically this exhibit includes the transportation of passengers of the official classification. The transportation building took about 100,000 cubic feet of material, of Chicago, was a local contractor, the Chicago and Farmer.

Will you please get on to Steve?
Steve Kline,
of West Virginia,
U. S. A.
Secretary of war!
How does he strike you?
Ain't he a corker,
That kind of sword of his,
His good broad sword.
You find him?
No! He can bend it all Around the situation,
And straighten it out again
Which he wants to!
And that with "H"
Why, Marry, old boy,
He can out the ties
That bind him to The Plumed Knight
That is as stick as butter!
Has he Well, nobody said he had!
No! I heard anything
To that effect over your way?
Steve's, No boy, strategy!
It's a Waterloo
War secretary
That the country needs now,
And Steve is that,
Finger that is bent of bow,
You stick it. Marry
Is not having been raised In West Virginia.
And after sword being Upseated as a Blaine house!
You come in at all

On the fancied differences within the ranks of the democracy. Long telegrams filled with tidings of personal disappointments are given great prominence of position and flaming headline. Mr. Gorman is painted as a spectral power with a sceptre of craft and guile. His political and financial dates which are represented as standing in the way of his own ambitions. Mr. Cleveland never walks on Broadway according to these stories, lest he should encounter Gov. Hill, for these two do not speak as they pass by. When Gen. Palmer rises from his new seat in the senate to shake hands with a friend it is not an act of courtesy, but to spread dismay among his rivals by displaying the ease with he carries his three score years and ten. Mr. Mills is not confined to his bed-chamber with the grip are under debate, and a programme is being formulated against the coming campaign. Who would not have it so? Is there any other point from which wisdom can be drawn than that supplied by a comparison of prevalent theories? Is anybody acquainted with superhuman wisdom, than that which is commonly accepted and subscribed to without weighing the conflicting data which different sections have to present? Our country has always been the abiding place of freedom of thought, where every argument based on patriotism is listened to. It is to-day more than ever before in its history the nurse of national leaders, who would be at the head of its columns because the mercenary is to victory. The comments of the enemies are only the reflection of their hopes. They are dreaming that perquabble with the Chilians. Pat Egan, who had been in the country with the dust of Ireland still on his breeches, was appointed by President Harrison to represent this country in Chile. He was the one man who chose to accept the appointment. Not only the Chilean government did not want him, but the people of the country, with the exception of President Harrison and Secretary Blainin, strongly opposed conferring distinction and honor upon a man who was an American for revenue only.

In the very face of this opposition both at home and abroad, Pat Egan's name was enrolled in the book of diplomatists. Then the trouble began. And it continued and it will continue just so long as Pat Egan misrepresents this country in Chile.

While the Chilians were trying to that our lynching bane in New Orleans was a parallel case and that they were simply applying the dagger of vicious foreign policy. Then they set about to justify lynching in New Orleans as a means to condemn shooting and stabbing in Valparaiso. After telling Italy to go to thunder for her indemnity threats, the vigorous statesmen demanded reparation from Chili. The size, population, wealth and fighting capacity of Chili made the bluff "go."

The very thing these jingo statesmen should have done they failed to do, that is, recall Pat Hizon. Such a course would have made it impossible for seven-spot number downs in South America to further make a side show of our government.—Chicago Globe.

The Nomination.

The republican opposition to Harrison has had no candidate in view except Mr. Blaine. In the hard work he has been doing for his own nomination Mr. Harrison has found strong Blaine sentiment in the republican party the greatest obstacle to his way, and is nominating Blaine. It is not probable that he will give the strongest card for the nomination. He lost in his play for the count of the New York delegation through election of Fassett for governor. And he is not likely to be so easily persuaded to put the blame on the renewed the coolness of that influential republican body toward the administration. And though, by urging the nomination of Blaine, the Nicaragua canal bonds into some of standing in Wall street, the president endeavored to make new allies in New York, his chances for reelection are diminishing with the closing of the deal which resulted in the nomination of Blaine for secretary of war.

This would not have been done party in a position where it was obliged to renounce him whether it liked or not.—St. Louis Republic.

STEVE'S SITUATION.

Harrison's Sword-Bearer and His Partner.

Mr. Elkins is safe from the aspersions of slanderers and blusters. He sits in the luxurious apartments provided for the head of a war department having no serious duties to perform and laugh at blusters. He scorns the imputation that the party of Kerens and colleague of Dudley, Sey and Haine can be frightened by veutions when the truth has been sufficient to drive him to obscurity would have been sought by a sensible official. It was found by a specialist talowar, dwelte, thate he's been ing the war department, those of the republican party who look for success by abhorrent methods will see proof of further gains. With Woods in the emrine will be hope that criminals may be seved from the bench which bar would be impotent. Neither the secretary in the war department, the judge, if he be confirmed, need slander. There is a limit to humanity. It has been drawn by gentlemen in their public acts — Chicago Times.

OPINIONS AND POINTER:
—How can Mr. Foster end Nebeker keep money in the treasury as President Harrison has friend of ensidles and joha?—L. ville Courier-Journal.

—Republican president mikes puzzling their brains over two tenses with an interrogation pot the heel of each: Has Blaine traded presidential ambition to Harrison cabinet position for Elkins, or Harrison bought Elkins away from Blaine with a cabinet position? Worcester Gazette.

—Some of the democrats on floor of the house have been a cross, perhaps, but they enjoy blessed satisfaction of knowing their seats are safely under them in this congress. Reed, of Maine, his seat-snatching committee on tions are not in—St. Louis at the stand just now in business Republic.

—One of President Harrison's papers characterizes the ap ave the meagre, or one-third. The greater proportion than they are entitled to by their numerical strength. On committees of membership than fifteen theicans are also given more than a proportionate share. If Speaker Crisp held the minority down to the number of committee men they could claim the basis of their proportion of members, he would have had a large number of desirable committees to give to democrats. The error of the speaker, in dealing so liberally with his political opponents, is in being contrasted to the ungenerous unfair treatment of the minority the world has seen in the days when was a member of the Detroit Press.

"I was thinking, sir," he said, "that I should like to see the old man's private office and to be made to know your daughter."

"A nobis girl," said the man, reflectively. "I don't know I can spare her, but I suppose to—"

"Yes, sir; quite right, sir, and to have her, except—except—I'm not rich, sir."

"I know," replied the other man, "but I am drawing a salary, and I don't receive the salary."

"I'm glad of that, sir, but I'm thinking that—that she isn't engaged in household matters."

"No, sir; but she is," said the other, "but she's a wonderful observant."

"Yes, sir, and I think a great deal of her, but if I take her to a home where I'm afraid, sir—I'm afraid to be hard, very hard. She's afraid of rich men's wife and I don't know—"

"You're partly right," interrupted the old gentleman. "But let me see something about that."

CHILL.

Blaine Receives the Report on the Baltimore Case.

Conclusions of the District Attorney of Valparaiso on the Matter.

Three Chilians and the American are indicted. The Attorney General has received the report of the District Attorney of Valparaiso on the matter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Senator Montt, the Chilean minister, had another conference with Secretary Blaine Friday. The minister said before the secretary that the information furnished by the Chilean minister of foreign affairs.

The voluminous summary of judicial proceedings submitted before the regular court (that presided over by Judge C. J. Folger) on the 10th of October, in reference to the Valparaiso between the Chilians and the Americans, has been received.

The district attorney has presented an extensive report upon the case, drawing the following conclusions:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—In diplomatic circles the opinion prevails that the Chilean in the Behring sea negotiations is a man of high character and high ability.

The British government regarding the number of arbitrators. The original proposition, to which the United States assented, was that the arbitration should be a single arbitrator, and those two should agree upon a third.

LADY FALLS DEAD.

And Her Body Laid to Rest in the Cemetery of the Roman Catholic Church.

New York, Jan. 8.—Anna M. Dunham, 26 years of age, fell dead Thursday evening on the street, within a few doors of her home, in this city.

Before her body was moved to her apartment her fingers were stripped of their valuable diamond rings, and a pocket of gold and jewels was torn from her wrist.

Mr. Dunham, who lives at No. 100 West 10th street, was informed of the death of his daughter by a neighbor, who had seen her lying on the sidewalk.

When the woman fell her hands were apparently to hold her, but, as the result showed, to rob her. Her fingers were torn from her hands on the pavement of the sidewalk.

The ring was found on the sidewalk, and the bracelet from her wrist. Mrs. Dunham was born in Philadelphia. Her father was a Quaker, Isaac Williams. She was a widow. Four sons, three of whom are in California, were born to her.

The police are on the look-out for the thieves.

Benjamin Underhill is very much interested at the report that he told three parties who came to his house in search of Burkhardt, the barkeeper, that he had not stayed there all night and he knew nothing about him. The fact is Mr. Underhill not only told the men that Burkhardt stayed all night at his house, but told them where he lived and the route to take to go to his house. Mr. Underhill has no sympathy for barkeepers, and was anxious that Burkhardt be captured, instead of having harbored him or desiring to cover his flight.

The Revisory Committee has submitted its report on the arrangements of Judicial Districts, and they form the Judicial District of Boone and Kenton counties, to which there are objections from all the time in Boone. The Eleventh Judicial District as now composed is parceled out as follows by the committee.

12—Spencer, Shelby, Oldham, Henry, Trimble and Carroll.
13—Franklin, Woodford, Jessamine and Anderson.
14—Harrison, Scott, Owen, Grant and Gallatin.
15—Boone and Kenton.

A RECORDED representative met Judge Baker one day last week, and applied the reprobital probe to ascertain, if possible, whether his brother, Hon. W. H. Baker, expected to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district at the fall. The question as to whether or not his brother would be a candidate being asked, the Judge answered:

"A great many persons have solicited him to declare himself a candidate for Congress in this district at the fall. The Democratic Convention is not yet held, but he has not told anyone that he will be. It is early for such a declaration, but when the time comes he will declare himself a candid

How he assurance of support from any other than this county?

"Yes. Some of the prominent men in several of the other counties in the district have volunteered their support and solicited him to make the race."

How long will your brother remain in New Orleans?

"He will not return until about the first of March."

Will he then declare his candidacy?

"It is now very evident that Boone is to have two candidates for the Congressional nomination next time, Hon. L. W. Lansing and W. H. Baker, and she will have to first decide as between them and then go to the district convention and capture the plums."

The most exciting experience detailed to the RECORDED during the sleighing season was that of Noah Turner and family and Richard Smith and family, who reside near Union.

They had an appointment to spend a day with their neighbor, John Crider, and when the morning of the appointed day arrived, they hitched Mr. Turner's big mule to a large farm sled which was loaded with some human freight.

The party started for a delightful ride and a pleasant day. Nothing occurred to disturb their pleasure until they reached the first crossing of Gunpowder river, where a halt was made, the ladies claiming that the ice would not hold up under the mules and sled, and waited to walk across, but the men insisted that there was no danger, and drove the mules out on to the ice, and when the middle of the stream was reached, down went the sled and mules, and but it did not get for cow heads, a pair would at once have resulted. The sled got fast in the ice and the mules could not budge it without pulling all the ice out of the creek. Noah said that when the sled and mules were up, the ice and rescued the mules and the members of their family from their perilous condition.

Having succeeded in crossing the creek, the party was soon merrily gliding up a large hill, thinking that they had had enough experience for one day, when the driver gave one of the mules a keen cut with the whip, causing the team to hasten its gait, and sled to run under the planks on which the party was riding, some of which were pulled down the hill, others were buried in the snow that filled the ditches along the roadside, while the sledging to the standards of the sled and merrily in the party following the mules.

The "planks" were restored, and the members of the party collected and the snow scraped off, when once more the journey was resumed, and this time without further incident.

Sherrill W. F. Payne and his assistants, George W. Winters and Gill White, returned from Batavia, Clermont county, Ohio, Sunday, where they went last Friday with Fred Burkhardt, who is accused of stealing horses from a number of parties in that locality. Sherrill Payne was promptly paid the $250 reward. The prosecutor of Clermont county stated that Burkhardt had lived there about seven years ago with his (Burkhardt's) parents, but since then his father died and it was understood that his mother resided at Madison, Ind. The authorities expect to prosecute Burkhardt to the utter end. Several who have been giving to visit here and institute search for their long lost W. H. Lyons, giving Branch Hill, Clermont county, Ohio, as his home, were here Saturday, and recovered a horse from Jacob Perovet that he described several other horses that were lost among the number was a gray horse in possession of G. W. Forwood, of near Ellison Station, Grant county.

Forwood getting in a trade from Burkhardt, a horse named Dr. Ross went there Sunday and secured the horse, Mr. Forwood coming with them. As they had no positive identification of the property, and had no possession of the horse by process of law, Forwood returned with the horse, but it would be very well for all parties having horses of questionable ownership in their possession to cause parties coming here after such property, to make them prove their ownership and secure possession by legal process.

It might be that a detective endeavoring to secure a reward would come here and demand the property, and thus be the ultimate beneficiary.

W. H. Lyons, of Branch Hill, Clermont county, Ohio, was here last Saturday, looking for an old 6 years old, from Jacob Perovet, as having been stolen from him some months ago. Perovet bought the mare from George Thomas, and he traded for it with Burkhardt, the horse thief.

Miss Johnson, a Cincinnati attorney and his brother-in-law, W. C. Russell, of Branch Hill, O., were here Tuesday, looking after a gray mare belonging to the latter. The one at Griffin Forwood's near Ellison proved to be the property. J. B. Summons went out there with them and is to get $25 reward. Forwood traded a mare and gave $30 in addition to Burkhardt for the gray mare. Burkhardt traded the Forwood mare at Owensboro. Mr. Summons went to Batavia, Ohio, Wednesday to get information from Burkhardt, who is in jail there, about other stolen property, but failed in his purpose.

Chas. Sahlin, of Edenton, Ohio, was here yesterday looking for an iron gray mare 16 hands high, seven years old, stolen from him July 17th. The mare is supposed to be one Burkhardt traded at Williamstown last August, and Sahlin will go there to try and find her. —Warsaw Independent.

Personal deaths.

Judge Baker and his wife are both quite sick of diphtheria.

Mrs. Arthur Blythe was quite sick several days last week.

Mrs. Dr. Furness has been quite sick for several days with gripe.

Thanks to Hon. N. S. Walton for a copy of the Governor's message.

Mr. Frank Smith, of Union, was a guest of C. L. Crider and wife last Saturday.

Mrs. W. E. Piper arrived yesterday from Dayton, Ky. to attend her sick father.

C. L. Crider and wife were visiting Frank Smith and children near Union last Sunday.

R. H. Tupman, of Erlanger, and Geo. Tupman, of Covington, spent last Sunday in Burlington.

Mr. Hinkle, of Middletown, Ohio, was a guest of Miss Ella Duncan, a few days the past week.

Sheriff Beall was off duty two or three days last week on account of a mild attack of gripe.

Miss Gottlieb, of Ludlow, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley House, two or three days last week.

The gripe attacked A. M. Acker last week, but after several days' effort succeeded without sending him to bed.

Eliza Harper, of Hebron, was in town Saturday. Eliza has a swelling cold of her head, which makes something very fancy.

James L. Riley, of the north part of the county was in town Saturday. He has two horses which he expects to give a record of 2:30 or better the coming season.

Mr. Claud Watson, wife and baby, of Butler, Missouri, arrived in Burlington Saturday night. This is Claud's first visit to his home in left several years ago. He looks as if an old soldier.

Lewis Beeson and Robert House, of Lumburg, went to Bellevue one day last week in a sleigh. Lewis can describe his experience with the mule and sleigh much better than you can. So for particulars and a diagram you must call on him.

J. Frank Grant, of Petersburg, accompanied by a Mr. Baird, was in town last Friday. Mr. Grant said the articles of incorporation for the new fire insurance company would be filed in the county court shortly. The company's business will not be confined to this county, as parties from adjoining counties are among the incorporators.

Claud Watson and wife, of Butler, Bates county, Mo., are visiting Mr. Watson's relatives in this county. They came from Central Kentucky, where they have been visiting Mr. Watson's relatives for some time. The west has made but little change in Claud, whose many friends here are glad to meet him again after nearly nine years' absence.

The following is the synopsis of a good story that came to me on the morning of Saturday morning at 10 o'clock:

Mr. A is a man, who, by the way, has no particular outline to his religious belief, but has a wit as keen as anybody, while Mr. B has strong tendencies to predilection for foreordination, etc., which, of course, is his own business. Well, Mr. A had a pig and Mr. B had a potato patch. Mr. A's pig persisted in rooting up Mr. B's potatoes, and Mr. B finally says to Mr. A, "I have tried to do so, but I cannot by any means, and to tell you the truth, I believe it was predestinated from the foundation of the earth that my pig should root up your potatoes."

Mr. A said, "I have tried to do so, but I cannot by any means, and to tell you the truth, I believe it was predestinated from the foundation of the earth that my pig should root up your potatoes."

Mr. B said to him, "You go away with such talk—I don't believe in that doctrine." Just at this time the roosters in a barnyard cackled.

Mr. A said, "You are just like Peter of old, denying your Christ." See?

GRANT COUNTY.

The gripe has not claimed a single victim in Williamstown out of about fifty cases.

The new crop of tobacco is moving off well. It is being brought from eight to twelve cents.

Lou Sanders, of Dry Ridge, has purchased 500,000 pounds of tobacco at an average of 10 cents per pound. The farmers wish that there were a few more tobacco buyers of Sanders' kind.

About dark Monday evening when most people who had attended county court were on their way home, a crowd as usual, composed of horse swappers and sight seers collected on Falmouth street, trading horses, drinking and swearing. Mixing with the crowd was James McFarland, very much under the influence of liquor and very boisterous, meeting John Landrum, some words passed between them, plots were drawn and as quick as lightning two or three shots were fired. Landrum was shot in the hip and McFarland was struck square between the eyes, the ball entering the brain. When the bullet struck him he dropped to the ground in a heap, and was afterwards conscious. Friends secured a spring wagon and removed the wounded man to the Webb House. Physicians were summoned and the wound dressed, but it was useless, and he breathed his last at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. McFarland was a Cincinnati man and was in Grant county on a visit to his brother-in-law, Wm. Workman, his wife accompanying him. This is a considerable difference of opinion among the witnesses as to who was in fault. John Landrum is a son of Dick Landrum, of Knoxville, Ky., and lives in Pendleton county. He sent word to the authorities Tuesday that he would be happy to identify himself. A writ for Landrum's arrest charging him with murder was sworn out Monday night and placed in the hands of the constable of the Coleman precinct. This makes four murders Grant county has had on trial during the past few months.

Later—Landrum came to town Wednesday and surrendered himself to the authorities, his examining trial is set for Friday.

In memory of HENRY A. CANTLER.

At a regular meeting of Venus Lodge, No. 154, I. O. O. F., of Florence, Ky., held Jan. 10, 1892, the report of the committee on the demise of Brother Henry A. Cantler was read, and the following resolution adopted:

Resolved, That the report be received and adopted, and recorded in full in the minutes of this meeting, and a memorial book be set aside in memory of our deceased brother, and a copy of this report be sent to his family, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy and condolence in this hour of great sorrow and bereavement, and that a copy be sent to the Boone County Recorder for publication.

To the Noble Grand and Brothers of the Lodge:—We your special committee appointed at our last meeting, to draft a memorial on the demise of Past Grand, Henry A. Cantler, of this Lodge, would fraternally submit the following:

Brother Cantler became a member of this Lodge by initiation June 24, 1871, at the age of 25, and died Dec. 13, 1891, at the age of 47, in Covington, Ky., surrounded by his sorrowing family.

Brother Cantler passed through every ordeal of trial and honor during his life, and

Please change my paper from Florence to Stony Point, Alexander County, North Carolina. I visit my father there after an absence of twelve and a half years.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

Mr. Mary Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hughes, of Richmond, and Marshall Hill, a prominent business man of Covington, were married last Wednesday at 10 o'clock. After the reception, which lasted till twelve o'clock, the bride and groom left on a bridal trip through the South.

We are always glad to hear of the success of Boone county boys who have struck out from home to seek their fortune, and the following from the Louisville Commercial will be gratifying to Mr. Grant's many friends in Boone.

Mr. W. T. Grant, who came to Louisville about eleven months ago, and who for some time has been Secretary of the Al-Bander Hotel, was elected Treasurer of that hotel by the directors at a meeting held last night.

Mr. Grant was an entire stranger when he came to this city, less than two years ago, and the important trust complimentary to him. It is safe to predict that the Alexander will lose none of its merited popularity under the management of Mr. Grant.

"His Petersburg, Ky. home Grant was a holy terror as a tariff politician, and it is said of him that he could beat any man in his neck of the woods in debate."

One evening last week one of our young ladies prepared her toilet in a costume of yore, and, accompanied by a couple of her lady school acquaintances started out to call on some of her friends.

The second call she made was at one of the hostilities. The landlord, closely followed by his wife, answered the door-bell to meet one of the old Irish lady, who asked if she could stay all night, and not being pleased with her appearance, the landlord declared to her that he was "full up," and directed her to other places in town.

By the careful watch of Capt. Ben Wilson, the ferry boat and sailer were not damaged any by the late run of the. The yonkers have made good use of the snow, sleigh riding, dancing and oyster suppers have afforded them a grand time of it.

Quite a number of farmers have taken advantage of the fine sleighing by delivering their tobacco. O. W. Adams makes it lively in our town, in bringing people to town.

Elmer Simpson, from the Grange Hall near Union, to a house on Z. Kelly's farm on the hill above Rabbit Hash, and is running a blacksmith shop opposite Wilson & Riddle's store, has broken his leg on them.

The Baptist church here is without a pastor, since the withdrawal of Rev. T. E. Lins.

We are delighted to hear in the Recorder that the apocryphal of Union, will continue his weekly reports.

Ben Kirkpatrick has been on the sick list for several days.

Judge Baker is up and about again, and his wife is mending.

H. A. Hicks, of Richmond, has been on the sick list for several days.

Mr. Moore, who used to sell fruit trees in this locality, was in town one day last week.

H. H. Howard, of Bullittville, made the last trip from his town to Burlington in a sleigh.

Mrs. W. E. Piper, who had been at the sick bed of her father returned home to Dayton, Monday.

On account of the death of his brother, Rev. Penn did not fill his appointment at this place last Sunday.

Dr. Gordon, of Hebron, who has been having quite a serious time for a week or so is up and about again.

Mr. Emma Corbin and Mrs. Beale Barlow are visiting Mrs. Ida Grant in Boone county - Lawrenceburg Press.

How Reuben Conner, who was in the State was vacant a few days last week on account of the Senator's illness.

D. M. Snyder, of Bellevue, was in town Friday. He reported the people in his country as enjoying the sleighing season.

After a few days' sojourn with his two uncles here, Claud Walton and wife left last Thursday for their home in Missouri.

Mr. James L. Riley, of the Constantine neighborhood, was the guest of G. G. Hughes and wife last Thursday and Friday.

"Happy Jack" Turner fell from a wagon a few days ago and received injuries which render crutches necessary to his locomotion.

Mr. W. B. Watts, of the Bullittville neighborhood, was in town Saturday, fresh from Aurora, where he had been hibernating for a few weeks.

Natlie Hughes joined her husband at last, Harrison county, Monday. He has an attack of the grippe, or some other kindred disease.

Mrs. Dr. Owen, of Rabbit Hash, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. McKay, and West Virginia, was visiting Mr. Sam Cowen and family, Saturday and Sunday.

Judge P. U. Major's many friends in this county will be sorry to learn that he is considered critically ill at his home in Frankfort. His trouble is said to be the result of a complication of diseases.

J. J. Rucker, of Constantine, was in town Monday, and told us of very interesting, base-drum, religious revival held in an itinerant sanctuary that made port there. One of the officers became mortified and left with the following chapel.

Opt of Order, Rev. H. M. Lewis, the Recorder:

I received the first copy of the resolution. I resolved that as it now appears that the name in this county for the Congressional nomination is distinctly between Baker and Berry, therefore, all other candidates or imaginary candidates, be and are stricken from the list, and being voted for in the future.

Yours, J. J. Rucker, of Constantine.

We declare the motion out of order and the voting will proceed - J. J. Rucker.

OUR NEIGHBORS

The Alabama fever is getting a strong hold on several of our people, and all their work together for good to those who love to be paid for $20 per acre, as good as they sell for $50, then there will be several families move to the South in the spring.

Mr. Elizabeth Huey met with a very severe accident last week, falling upon the ice and breaking the same bones in her arm. The bones were broken almost at the wrist-joint, making the break more painful and difficult to set. However, she is improving at present.

Miss Bertha Baker entertained quite a number of little girls and boys one evening recently. Miss Bertha dined down to Union with a large sleigh, (oh, no, by the way, Charlie did the driving) with bells on the horses and loaded it full, and away they went to the time of 2:40 - After spending a most delightful time popping corn, eating candy, oranges and other nice things, the sleigh was brought into use again, and all were returned to their homes happier and better for their trip.

The recent heavy snow caused a terrible avalanche on the north side of the west side of our town one evening last week. It prevented one of our most estimable citizens from being instantly killed.

About half past 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, women and children ran, with flushed faces to places of safety and strong men stood paralyzed with fear, and amid the clashing of steel, clank of bells and the volume of flying snow, loud and, people cried out, what is it? Who is it? From whence it is? For my part I say, Lord have mercy on pedestrians.

A mob took a murderer from the Owen county jail one night last week and hung him to a tree.

The war with Chili is over. Chili was only trying a game of bluff, but found that would not win.

Hon. A. S. Berry opened his Congressional campaign at Falmouth Monday in a ringing speech.

That Stricker committee—some of the Republicans in the county are wondering what has become of it.

There were fifteen thousand eight hundred and three marriage licenses issued in this State last year.

It appears that Congressman Brookridge is to be the Democratic leader on the floor of the National House. Kentucky will come to the front every time.

It cost the United States $20,624 to bury Senator Hearst, of California. It would bankrupt the Government were all the Senators to die within a twelve month.

With Governor Buckner declining to become a candidate, and Proctor Knott residing in Frankfort, the race for Congress in the Fourth District is set down as a free-for-all.

Under its new management, the Milton Free Press has a fighting editor who measures six feet four inches and tips the beam at two hundred and fifty pounds. He will do to face John I.

This Revisory Committee is unloading by installments. It will soon develop that some of the members are of the opinion that the Committee knows very little about the business in which they are engaged.

The Brecken county Supervisor of Tax, amounting $36,000 worth of bonds that were not listed for taxation. They made it interesting for many who were trying to cover up their property to avoid taxes.

W. O. Bradley wants to be a delegate at large from the State to the National Republican Convention. As he is for Harrison, who has control of the machine in Kentucky, he will scoop the honor desired.

It is said that not a member of the present Legislature has been drunk since that body assembled at Frankfort. That such is the fact is not for the want of time in which to indulge their convivial appetites.

Those who voted for the adoption of the new constitution should find no fault with the slow progress the Legislature is making. They assisted in putting the brakes on, and they should, without a murmur, submit to the result.

The Committee on Public Buildings, in the Senate, has made glad the hearts of the Frankfort people. While Judge Mulligan was searching for his lost map, the committee reported adversely on the bill to change the location of the seat of government.

The President prepared what he considered a great war message, and he was determined it should go to the country, through Congress, notwithstanding Chili's communication asking forgiveness had been received at Washington. Benjamin is a great warrior—full of fight.

It is said that the House Committee on President and Vice-President is in favor of amending the Constitution so as to permit the election of Senators of the United States by the direct vote of the people in those States that desire to choose their Senators in that way.

CHARLES AND BOES—Ah, there are two Democratic daisies for the nomination for President and Vice President! With them as the Democratic standard bearers next fall, the G. O. P. will be wiped from the face of creation. If they are not nominated and the Democrats fall to win this fall we shall always know that that was the cause of the defeat.

The Harrison men and the Blaine men both are well pleased with the result of the recent convention held at Lawrenceburg. The delegate was given the Blaine crowd in the Harrison crowd succeeded in instructing him for his favorite, but he might construe his instructions not to extend beyond a complimentary, in which event the Blaine men would have the best of it.

The colored people's protests against the separate coach bill have been through the delegates they sent to Frankfort. They presented the protest with eloquence and earnestness. Were all the colored people of the character of the delegates sent to Frankfort, there would be no demand for separate coaches.

Has the Commonwealth forgotten that Hon. L. W. Lanning, of this county is a candidate for Congress? In its last Saturday's issue it says: Col. Albert Berry will open the Congressional campaign with a speech at Falmouth next Monday. The other announced candidates are Mr. Dickerson, of Grant, and Mr. Harry Baker, of Boone. In a few days we shall probably have at least two from Kenton, one from Campbell and one from Pendleton.

The name of Senator Carlisle is being mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. If the party desires to nominate the greatest man in the United States, Senator Carlisle is the man it will have to take. They say that he resides on the wrong side of the Ohio river should not prejudice him in a convention that knows no North nor South, but that has at heart the good of the entire country.

Of the recent mob in Owen county, the Carrollton Democrat says:

Some of the persons in the mob are known, and it is probable that they will be brought to justice. There will be a vigorous prosecution. Judge McHenry has called a special term of the Circuit Court for February 24, and the grand jury has been ordered for that day. It is said that the brother of Ligon, at the funeral made a speech, urging his friends to allow the law to deal with the slayer of his brother.

The New York Herald is very much opposed to Mr. Cleveland's nomination for the Presidency and is trying to start a Waterson boom for the nomination, while a Hill rally is attempted on the western coast. It may be that the Cleveland following in the State of New York will be too loyal to the Democratic party to hazard its success by urging his nomination at the risk of renewing the Hill enmity that compassed Cleveland's defeat in New York in 1888.

As the Legislature has considerable leisure, and as its acts have to be general in their nature, it might for ever settle a vexed question by adopting a preamble and resolution like the following:

Whereas there is a dispute in this State as to whether the first or second day of February is Ground Hog Day, and, therefore, to settle said dispute.

Be it Resolved by the General Assembly of Kentucky, That hereafter the second day of the month of February in each year shall be recognized by the people of this State as Ground Hog Day.

It will not be long until Ohio is in another political ferment. Although Sherman and Foraker pretended to be great admirers each of the other at the close of the recent senatorial contest at Columbus, the fact is neither had any use whatever for the other, politically, and their jealousies are participated in by their followers, and the Sherman-Foraker political feud will be made quite prominent in the selection of the Ohio delegates to the National Republican Convention in the event Mr. Blaine does not decline, positively, to allow his name to go before the convention for the Presidential nomination.

A bill under which primary elections may be held in this State has been introduced in the Legislature. If a law regulating the holding of primary elections is needed, it should not be left to the political party ordering the election to say whether it should be held under the law, but the law should be made so that it should be recognized by law, no one opposed to corruption at elections will deny, but the bill pending is so loaded down with red tape requirements, that if it should become a law, it will not be recognized by the politicians.

The following from the Paducah News is very close to the truth:

Those gentlemen who wish to reduce the salaries of circuit judges to $2,000 should think the second time, whether they are not "penny wise and pound foolish." They should remember the reply of the old time parson, "poor pay, poor preaching." The bench should be occupied by men of good grade of intelligence and legal acquirement. If this is not to be the case there is no use for circuit courts, and the whole business should be relegated to the justice of the peace. The bar and the business of the country demand good talent, and it can not be had for less than it can make at regular practice of law. Take out the expense of travel and board in large districts, and out of $2,000 per annum the judge could not buy two suits of clothes.

When it comes to genuine, self-refering religious revivals the Methodist denomination can not be surpassed, and the Rev. T. W. Barker, who is conducting the services mentioned below by the Warsaw Independent, is one of the best men in the State to take charge of a genuine revival. The Independent says:

There is now going on at the Methodist Church one of the most interesting revivals Warsaw has witnessed for years. There is a new departure entirely; all denominations are working harmoniously together. If it were not in the Methodist Church, you could not tell what denomination was running the meeting, for all alike are rallying with force and energy. Many are surprised at the results already. We predict that the town will have one of the most thorough awakenings revivals it has ever witnessed for never in the history of Warsaw was there such cooperation.

To the Editor of the Recorder and of the County:

FRANKFORT, KY., JAN. 31, 1892.

As your representative I watch closely every issue of the Recorder for expressions touching the duties of your humble servant.

It is doubtless known to you that under the new constitution the work of the legislature is mainly the enactment of general laws. The legislature may repeal local laws, but can not enact them. It can also repeal amendments to local laws.

It appears that the dog tax and sheep fund law has been made inoperative by reason of amendments thereto. I will introduce two bills repealing the two amendments, and when passed will leave the law as originally enacted, except that the now superfluous office of recorder will be dispensed with. If allowed, I would amend the law in some particulars, but can not for reasons mentioned.

I am anxious to amend the road law of Boone county, but can not because that would be local. I will try to provide by a general law that the supervisors of roads shall be appointed by the Fiscal Court of the counties. Said court is composed of the County Judge and County Commissioners, or Judge and Magistrates. And it further provides that the supervisors shall make an itemized report to said court of all money that has come into his hands, and how it has been expended, and that these reports shall be placed in full on record in a book kept for the purpose, and deposited with the county clerk and subject to public inspection.

The new Revenue Law as proposed by the Revisory Commission provides for a county Treasurer and almost abolishes the office of Sheriff, and Sheriff and Jailor may be united. These changes, if made, will save to the State $200,000 annually. This law, it is said, will reach a vast amount of property heretofore untaxed, that will add greatly to the resources of the State, and well it may.

The hand is uplifted on every side to be plunged deeply into the State Treasury. An appropriation is asked to complete the Eddyville penitentiary—a chestnut. The building of this branch penitentiary is the greatest financial mistake of Kentucky. Another is asked to build a House of Refuge. Another to enlarge Asylums. To improve the Capital Buildings, and still another for a display at the World's Fair. It is said that all the States and Territories, except Kentucky, have made appropriations. And further than all this, some favor a county tax to supplement the school fund. What think you of these things? The taxpayers of Kentucky have to work, watch and pray.

I am doing my utmost to prevent Boone from being united with Kenton as a Judicial Circuit, and believe it will not be done.

N. S. WALTON.

[Reported by the New Enterprise Tobacco Warehouse Co., of Louisville, Ky., Jan. 30th, 1892.]

This has been another week of exceedingly large receipts and offerings, but prices have been well maintained and the market now burly, closed firm and strong.

We can see no changes in prices since January 1st, except that medium grades may be a shade lower.

Fancy hogheads have repeatedly sold at $20 and over, and it has been no uncommon thing to see eight or ten hogheads at one house bring over that figure.

Old tobacco has also been strong and in demand, but there has been very little offered, and in fact, there is very little that is desirable that is now held by the warehousemen in our city.

The receipts for the week were 3,004 hogheads against 2,395 in 1891, and the sales were 3,974 of which 2,706 were new burley and 563 dark against 3,960 for corresponding week last year.

Present indications receipts will be again heavy next week, and there will be the same sort of offerings, but we do not think there will be any change in prices.

We quote new burley as follows:

Trash	$ 4 00 to $ 7 00
Bright Trash	$ 7 00 to $ 11 00
Lugs	$ 8 50 to $ 8 00
Bright Lugs	$ 9 00 to $ 11 00
Common Leaf	$ 8 50 to $ 12 00
Medium Leaf	$ 14 00 to $ 18 00
Selections	$ 18 00 to $ 20 00

C. M. Manchester, a successful grower of Burley tobacco, was very successful in making mistakes in digging up the seed beds after burning them and sowing the seed to thick. The beds should be dug up before burning, and after burning make off the large ovals and submerge them in water, and then pulverize the top of the bed not over two inches deep, mixing the surface earth and ashes together. One last "fertilizer" of good quality is sufficient for the seed.

F. F. Helm, Master Commissioner of the Kentucky Chancery Court, came out Monday and sold the late advertised in the case of J. G. Arnold's, Ex'r, vs. J. G. Arnold's devisees, &c., Henry Stephens was the purchaser at the price of $4,000. This sale was particularly just that much more than he had bought several years ago and which for. We do not understand how it was, but the land was taken from Mr. Stephens by the litigation settling up the Arnold estate in some manner.

There has recently been quite a commotion in the religious circles among the small water craft landed there. On it, were preachers. One was an old man and the other a young man. The old man did not reach the meridian of life. These occupants of the boat held religious services every night on the boat, until the weather became so inclement that the worshippers from the town were not attending in as large numbers as desired. To overcome this obstacle and leave no excuse for not turning out to hear the preachers, permission was obtained to occupy the Constance Christian Church, and the services were transferred to that building. Shortly after this the old man dropped the boat down to Taylorport, leaving the young man in charge of the Constance conveyer. The young preacher and his flock continued to use the Christian church, the members of which were very tired of them, and requested that they vacate, to which they paid no attention, and last Saturday the officers of the church came to Burlington and obtained legal advice with a view to commence proceedings to eject the intruders as they consider them.

Thomas and James Bythe sent from Nebraska to their brother, J. F. Bythe, and nephew, Arthur Ross, of this place, two Jack Rabbit pelts which had been very successfully manipulated by a taxidermist. They were put on exhibition at the post office, where they had been thoroughly inspected and the following are a few of the questions asked concerning them: "A local police officer inquired concerning them: 'Is there any bones in their legs—what do you suppose they are?' 'They are rabbit skins, but they did not get so and enough to make a visiting butcher—'What a nice overcoat 100 of them skins would make.'"

Chief of the County ink-slugging department: "Who sent them here, $300, there was some charges on them, $50, is that straight?"

Unknown—"What the—! I am thinking."

A mechanic who had seen them out west—"That was the only thing I shot at while in Illinois. I thought it was a deer. How did it come here? It gave me the luck away for three months!"

A noted hunter—"Jack Rabbit! Wonder if there is any jinnie rabbit. A young attorney—"No, rabbits must be brought where they came from. Would like to have one for a pet."

Close observing young farmer—"They have longer tails than a common mink!"

A German knew them—"Vat dem diings? Jack Rabbit! Vere did you get'em? Vat's inside, brandt? Vere was day rained?"

A popular professor—"Are they both jacks?"

An arch—"Why don't you throw them rabbits out, they will get to stinking after a while, won't they?"

The chief officer of a shaving shop—"Have you a name for them? The one standing is the Jennie. Did I like to see the other?"

The Jailer—"How come, one standing and other set? Do you suppose they were that way when caught?"

A leading comedian—"The one standing has some get up about him—the other is on the set!"

A rural gent—"Where did you get them rabbits, Mr. Boone? They come high but they are busters!"

A leading Veterinary—"The ones I had were high behind and low before. The ones on mine were 13 inches long!"

A carpenter—"A fellow would want plenty of money to buy Jack Rabbits!"

A money changer—"If those rabbits were caught in a graveyard, I want the left hind foot of one of them for luck on the tail of!"

A violinist—"They are cheap, ain't they?"

A coonhunter—"I'll bet Tod and Jud could catch one of them rabbits, for it would be too big to go in a hole, and it would be a good one for a mouth."

A leading Quaker—"Why, how the other they are, a big fine looking pair, ain't they? I'd like to exercise my dogs with them. They things could not be better my dogs. Oh, no, Mr. Rabbit, we could put you in a short time. We have been running huzzards long enough to be in shape for Mr. Jack. Your dogs could not catch that kind of an animal, Mr. Foxhunter. You, you bet they could. They never beat the morning huzzards after the huzzards. A county official—"Who sent them here? They are not as dark as I expected. Well, they are a very pretty bird, isn't they? Is $30 the price sure?"

The meeting at the Presbyterian Church last Sunday was in marked contrast to the one held last week. Rev. Tadlock had concluded that Rev. Cooper and Roper would not come, but finally "Uncle Joe" did come and is now working in his most faithful and earnest manner. One addition to the choir.
In return for the kind words from the Florence correspondent, I will express a hope that by this time that most worthy and spirited citizen that has been in the woods of the morning and just at the opening of the meeting now in progress they were presented with a handsome and excellent lamp by Miss Jane Dickey, for which, they doubtless feel very thankful.
Let me tell you right now and here that Mr. Editor, Frank Benis may see as the hawk he wants to and even angel should circumstances permit; I don't expect to say anything about the matter, for the last time published, he took me in the woods and I wedged me in a log so that when I hit his good blow they both flew up and took me twice the eyes "kerzip" and I took I hear no resemblance to myself. You let him run for office at any time in the future and then something will drop.
I was shown some very ordinary boxes recently, made of straw. And I said what on earth can them things be for? Well next time I say I saw them or rather did I say I saw them covered over with silk, lined in plush and gold and otherwise ornamented until they were perfect gems of handkerchief, comb, collar and cuff boxes. The Nannie Burkhart has quite a reputation for her work. There are many such handsome decorations for the home can be made at a small cost only to be answered by the genius of Friday last week Aunt Sallie Thompson one of our substantial and earnest friends 88 years old. This loved and respected lady has lived in this village for 49 years—knows every body in this precinct and almost every body in Boone county. Aunt Sallie believes in her friends and has a host of them, she believes in the existence of a pure and undefiled friendship—not of the kind spoken of long time ago—such a name only and following face. Well on her birthday her great surprise and delight some 15 or 20 of her most thoughtful friends, but more thoughtful friends gathered of an accord at her home (and the latch string always hangs on the outside) and all brought baskets of good things to eat and on good soil brought even something good to drink, and as it was near 12 o'clock when they arrived the feast was spread and after congratulating the birthday lady and giving her the seat of honor at the table, business began and I can assure you that for two hours the forces advanced and the good things disappeared, all went as merry as a marriage feast. The old and young enjoyed themselves and it will be a long time before they forget the day.

Miss Sallie Kennedy has about recovered from an attack of scarlet fever. Mrs. Geo. Clarkson fell upon the ice recently and came near breaking her arm.
Mr. Oscar Gaines and wife, of Burlington, were visiting relatives here last week.
Mr. Joe Wilson and sister, Mrs. Belle Smith, have been seriously ill, recently, but are much improved.
I am pleased to say that Mrs. Ad Huey is improving, and it is to be hoped that in two or three weeks she will again be well and as strong as ever.
Mr. Bate Jones and his family have been afflicted with second attack of grippe. Morris says he was perfectly satisfied with one wreath with the dominion.
Glad you decided that the over seat one citizen was out of order, who wanted to strike all but two candidates off. Let 'em go, we want to send in seventy-votes shortly.
L. R. Lico, of Covington, was shaking a lot of lamp friends here last week for as if he was fully recovered from scarlet fever, he says his little son Neddy, is still suffering from the effects of it.

CORRECT ABUSES.

The Republican party in no other section of the country shows as many signs of terror, not to say panic, as in the South. Within sixty days there have been three meetings of the republican state conventions, and in each one no organization, no organization, no organization was called together outside state central committees. The party has formulated an editorial policy, statements that may be, and to arrange and prepare for the shipment of political literature. At the same time, one of these meetings has there been efforts at concealment of the fact that the party is in a state of panic. Indeed, have been stated as the cause for the frequency of the meetings themselves, and instating it as a means of maintaining party harmony and thorough organization as indispensable requisites to the success of the party.

view of this condition of things in the greatest republics since next to nothing is accomplished by the efforts of the "practical politicians" would shut their eyes to the inviting prospect of the northwest and insist that the people of the north are those which have so often invited defeat and so rarely brought success to a party.

It is not hard to read with interest and profit the proceedings of all of these meetings of frightened republicans in the state of Lincoln and Grant. It is not hard to understand that they cannot fail to see at the party is attempting to deceive at large body of voters who left in the hands of the democrats the republic which it had itself raised by its enactment of the edicts and un-American compulsory education law of 1888. In the face of this it is not hard to see from their position on the question, the republican leaders made a great show of courage and self-sacrifice. They met the people and offered them the to posterity as the cunning and scrupulous craft of a billiard-ball player. The democrats were elected because of a popular revulsion against Keedon should imitate ways. The democrats have contributed to the success of the republicans resulted from a neglect by republicans to place obligations if democrats ally or demoralize at Dem. Keedon's side.

It is not hard to understand the reason by holding fidelity to a strict formance of promises. It will settle with the people—there is a possibility of a change in the political power to be made once breaking the promises under which was gained.

There is no fear of the demomajority at Washington. On questions there may be honestness of opinion. But the democrats are not the democrats appealed to the people and gained overwhelming power in the state. There will be no spirit of the democracy enough to believe that they could stampede democrats away from their party by false and perfunctory promises of a "big thing." The election returns prove conclusively that democrats are always and everywhere agents of oppression and friends of the oppressed, and Illinois republicanism has been itself deserted by thousands of men who had hitherto contributed to its victories in the state.

learned victories failed to comprehend the situation. They attributed to transitory and inconsequential causes that was due to permanent and important ones. When the democrats in the last assembly attempted to replace the tyrannical republics with the republics more in harmony with popular institutions, the republicans majority in the senate united in its opposition and the state an edification force bill, with all its oppressive features retained, and with the power to close school houses still lodged in the hands of school trustees. Since that bold defiance of the common spirit of freedom in the state the republican leaders have heard something. It is a storm and they know it is coming. They still have their convictions, but their moral courage has entirely deserted them in the knowledge that a great body of voters who had been always ready to follow their success is gone out of the party—driven out, rather, by oppression—and that the men who composed them have abandoned the republican party forever, not only on state but national issues. Republican trepidation,* in the face of such a crisis, is expressed by nearly now being led by "Long" Jones. The anonymous expression of the speakers is that the party must "come down." It must abandon its high and lofty attitude and take the back track of the platform soon to be adopted at Springfield. It is desperation which leads men to believe that having added insult to injury by refusing to support the party, they can now demand another, the unionism arty can now call kick the voters who are leaving it by a hollow and hypocritical platform declaration: It has invited defeat, and it must take it.—St. Louis Republic.

The Blaine anchor has gone to the windward as usual. Mr. Blaine may be well pleased with his temporary eclipse. He is cunning. When he saw Harrison coming to an end he saw the chance he had to make a change of protestants, and he changed. He changed to a Presbyterian, and when, as Legislative Proceedings.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 25. —SENATE.—MR. WOODS has sent up a bill to amend sections 123 of the civil code and to provide for the creation of the office of street court stenographer. He moved a motion to table, made by Mr. Harpaz, was lost and the bill was made a special order for the 27th. A bill was offered by Mr. George providing for the creation of a board of public examiners, to consist of the auditor and attorney general, ex-officio, and one ex-confederate and one—a federal addition, to pass upon the merits of all pension cases, and to provide for the payment of pensions to all disabled soldiers of the state of Kentucky, whether of the federal or Confederate army. Those having lost a limb, twenty dollars per month is allowed, and lesser sums to those having received lesser injury. Even soldiers of other states, living at the present time within the boundaries of Kentucky, may claim a pension under this act. The senate then adjourned.

HOUSE.—Dr. Woods sent up a resolution to request the reticary commission to so amend their emphasis on revenue and taxation that administration may be made every four years in the annual session. The resolution, after a discussion, went into the committee. They announced that a message was received from the governor, announcing that he had received from the U. S. treasurer a draft for the $600,000 of federal refund, and asking what disposition the house would make of it. The bill, reconsidered last week, to provide for the funding of certain county indebtedness, then came up and was passed. A motion to resolve into a committee of the whole was carried, and the tenth section

FRANKFORD, Feb. 16.—SENATE.—The senate devoted its time to reading the bills on the calendar, and nothing else was done.

HOUSE.—Bills introduced: Authorizing the fiscal courts of this state to levy a poll and ad valorem tax for county purposes; to amend the general statutes, chapter 110, section 4, in reference to turnpikes and plank roads, by making them travel free to church and luncheon; to est-

in their maintenance; to make the silver coins of the United States full legal tender for debt in Kentucky; amending an act relating to writs of forcible entry and detainer, approved April 3, 1868; to regulate the public common school system, and to make it self-maintaining; for the better protection of owners of established ferries across the navigable streams within this commonwealth; in relation to fraternal

FRANKFORD, Feb. 17.—SENATE.—The senate after hearing the second reading of several bills, was started by Mr. Goebel, who introduced his lottery bill a second time and as a new bill. Mr. Downes sent up a bill of the following title: "An act concerning the liability of railroads for the negligence of fellow-servants in their employ." The bill allowing a female physician in every public institution where women are confined, such as asylums

House.—The Goebel lottery bill came up as a House. O'Neary, at the request of Senator Goebel, moved that the consideration of the matter be postponed until the senate could take decisive action on the bill introduced this morning. It was decided to make it a special order for Thursday week. The house refused to reconsider the Hart memorial bill. Mr. Myers offered a resolution to authorize the employment of a clerk by the commissioners of the sinking fund. Mr. Fair-

Motion.—The house disposed of the bill to reduce the mitrage of future legislatures. It has been referred to the committee on retrenchment and reform, whose chairman belongs to the Farmer's Alliance, and it was reported adversely. The house stood by the committee and refused to order it to a second reading. An hour was spent discussing a resolution to adjourn for February and March, but a vote failed. It was finally brought up with the clause of provision for a new constitution, and the house refused to agree. A resolution to allow the state to grant the constable's salary of $100 per year was also position from two or three members, and all sorts of delay motions were made, but it finally passed.

FRANKFURT, Feb. 19.—SENATE.—The senate had some trouble over the emergency clause question, but it seemed determined to settle it all at once, so Senator Anderson's resolution was adopted declaring it to be the sense of the senate that the constitutional provision was complied with when the emergency clause was acted on. The bill was then passed, and the senate passed, and received twenty-two votes. It contains the emergency clause, and will take effect.

An effort is being made to start a rural boom in the vicinity of Clay City. The Chronicle says:

This Covington Enterprise, until recently a staunch Republican paper and the only one of that political persuasion in this Congressional district, has deserted the Republican ranks and run up the independent flag, and declares that if Carle is nominated for the Presidency all the powers of both the Republican and People's party combined cannot defeat him.

The Carrollton News concurs with the suggestion of the RECORDER made some time since in regard to the rearrangement of this judicial district. It says:

If allowed to have a say as to the district we would have the county of Franklin cut off, and we would abide with the balance of our old associates perfectly contented and happy. This, we think, would be almost universally acceptable to the people of all five counties constituting the district. Suppose gentlemen, you let us have it that way, and we will be under many obligations to you.

BOSTON LETTER

To the Editors of the Recorder:

To the pleasureseeker no city in America is more interesting and fascinating than Boston. Its very quaintness and old fashioned simplicity, give it an inexpressible charm, and recall to mind the many associations connected with its early history. The people cherish with pride and a fond devotion the customs and habits of their forefathers.

The first scene that meets the traveler's gaze upon crossing the Massachusetts line is one of rugged beauty. As the train winds closely around some rough crag, he sees laid out before him a typical New England scene; with jagged hills crowned with a scrub growth of oaks and bushes; narrow valleys with thin soil, and granite cropping off on top of the ground; scattering farm houses; now and then an obscure hamlet resting peacefully upon the banks of some placid stream.

The country is rough and irregular as if nature in some great upheaval had thrown things together in grotesque confusion. The farmers in order to utilize their scanty soil are forced to clear away the stone which cover it in the greatest profusion, and are thus able to erect a scanty subsistence by handling the resources at their command. Is it any wonder that the hardy New England tiller of the soil, who has to labor under untoward circumstances where nature renders but a meager return for his efforts, should abandon his farm and seek a new home in the West where land is cheap and productive?

But we are digressing. Let us return to Boston. The city is constructed very much on the plan and after the style of the older cities of Europe. It has been frequently called "Little London," from its strong similarity to that city. The streets are narrow and irregular and winding; and let the neophyte beware of short cuts if he is in a hurry and does not wish to have the pleasant experience of finding himself in the opposite part of the city from his intended destination.

The style of architecture is old fashioned in the extreme, and simplicity itself. Scattered over the city are many old buildings, cherished and preserved on account of the stirring incidents enacted in and around them during Revolutionary times.

The city proper nestles in a narrow valley between the Charles River on the north, a sluggish, muddy stream, winding in great and tortuous curves through low-lying meadows; and Fort Point Channel on the south. To the east lies the harbor, with its many islands, forts and beaches, and its surface dotted with crafts of many nations. To the north lie Cambridge and Charlestown; the former with its colleges; the latter with its Bunker Hill, Navy Yard. A twenty minutes ride on the street car, and the visitor is in the precincts of Charlestown; a quiet, unpretentious suburb, constructed almost exclusively of wood. Many of the buildings are old moss grown structures, simple and unpretentious, and bearing every evidence of being relics of ante-bellum days.

A few minutes walk up a steep ascent and we are at the base of Bunker Hill Monument, a description of which would be superfluous here. Suffice it to say that it is a somewhat huddled, weather-beaten pile, from the summit of which an extensive view is afforded of the bay and harbor. On pleasant Sunday afternoons this is a favorite lounging place for the good people of the neighborhood who congregate upon the benches on the sunny side of the monument and while away the time reading papers, or idly watching the children at play upon the green. But to the stranger who gazes first beneath its shade and gaze rests first time upon its massive walls, many thoughts of long-time ago crowd through his brain, and recall to his mind the stirring incidents enacted on its site.

Another short jaunt in a southerly direction, and we find ourselves at the Navy Yards, the first suggestion of which is the looming up in the distance above the house-tops of a forest of tall masts. Here may be seen the iron-clad gunboats and warships with their gulls, black hulls rising out of the water; some of them resting idly at anchor with an air of quiet and mystery about them; others all bustle and confusion as if preparing to enter upon some long and distant cruise in foreign waters.

Here to at the docks and wharves are the stately merchantmen, the swift sailing passenger and mail steamers, and the weather-beaten and low pretentious crafts of the hardy New England fisherman. At the wharves may be seen these fishing boats at anchor; their owners idly standing around answering the many questions of the curious or else comfortably ensconced in their cozy cabins, feet cocked up and pipe in mouth. Recounting the many stirring experiences of the last voyage. It is no difficult matter to get them started in conversation upon their seafaring life, and striking them in a retrospective mood, the stories recounted in their own peculiar way, interlarded with many homely but apt comparisons, and strongly tinged with the superstition imbedded in their nature, are extremely interesting, and are apt to cast a damp over the spirits of the youthful enthusiast who is infatuated with a desire to lead a seafaring life.

Again may be seen a weather-beaten craft, with all on board in confusion; the occupants rushing to and fro, giving orders and gestulating; swearing after the style of the proverbial fish wife, in their eagerness to render everything in shipshape preparatory to a trip to some distant fishery; to the New Foundland banks, or perhaps to the mackerel fisheries off the Carolina coast.

During the outing season, with the first warm days, there is an irresistible impulse in the heart of the pleasureseeker to seek the ocean, and the mountains along its coast, to get away from dull care and worry of busy, active life, and to forget themselves for the time in the intoxicating delight of fasting their gaze upon the ocean and mountain scenery. Life is a nabob or millionaire, he will likely go to Fort Harbor, where he may have both of these longings gratified. Here are forty promontories on the granite heights, with sudden outlooks exposing to the naked vision beautiful mountain lakes resting in some depression or valley; steep and abrupt precipices; lofty peaks, and off in the distance, the treacherous ocean rolling its restless billows endlessly upon the shore.

There are beautiful winding drives ever and anon ushering the visitor upon some new and varied scene of rare beauty; now and then entering some sylvan retreat, through the shadows of which will break a glimpse of the ocean sparkling in the sun. "In your nostrils is the mingled mountain odors and the winds of the sea; in your ears is the mingled murmur of the breezes in the trees, and the roar of the surf—The air is full of the sweet smells of turf and brake, and checker-berry, and wild rose, and sweet-briar, and the balsam of the pines and spruce and hemlocks."

But those of limited means must frequently seek some lake on the coast where they may have all the home comforts and conveniences and be within easy reach of the sea. Boston during that season is full of such visitors, who make daily excursions to Cambridge, Concord, Lynn, Marblehead, Quincy, and to the thousand of such places within easy reach of the city, that are full of historic interest and of great natural beauty. Then again the curious may spend days rambling around in the city, which is full of quaint, curious old relics and ancient structures of still more ancient design. Everything that is at all suggestive of ancient customs and habits is cherished with true New England steadfastness.

Then again there are many who take about the beautiful Harbor, to its islands, forts and bathing beaches. Many of these trips may be taken on swift flying steamers, and at a very small cost. And if the visitor is much inclined to economize, he can partake after the thrifty New England fashion, of a lunch at noon, consisting of a plate of "pork and beans" and a "hunk" of Boston brown bread. Such a feast is extremely satisfying, especially after a long and tiresome morning's jaunt, when the appetite is not inclined to be very fastidious.

Quite a number of these trips may be taken afoot, and one of the most delightful of these jaunts is that from Cambridge to Lexington and Concord, by way of the old Lexington pike. This thoroughfare is dotted throughout its entire length with numerous stone pillars and monuments erected on the site and in commemoration of the brave and daring deeds of the Revolutionary heroes. You are continuously running across such legends as "Here is where Gen. — met a strong detachment of British under Gen. —" and forced them to seek safety in flight. "In this house Gen. — lodged the night before the battle." "In this spot John — and his brave comrades were overpowered by superior numbers, and fell fighting for their country."

This pike is still bordered with rough stone walls, and the stranger in traversing it can almost imagine that he has dropped back a hundred years or more, and is visiting the scenes of recent events. He can picture to himself his brave forefathers, sheltered behind these stone walls, pouring in their rambling and irregular, but effective fire upon the retreating British; dodging behind these same trees; crossing the same ravines. So too the rambling farm house and the lack of improvement in the country are in harmony and keeping with the picture. There is nothing at all new, and a great lapse of time, unless, perhaps, the traveler is within bearing of a locomotive, or the rumbling of a cable car. On this same road and about two miles from Lexington is Arlington Heights, one of the highest points in the vicinity of Boston; the summit of which is reached by means of a winding and irregular road. The ascent is rather thorough, but meets the gaze, well repays the fatigue and effort. At your feet lies the city nestling in the valley, and surrounded by its many suburbs; comprehending an extensive scope of country. The Charles river appears like a narrow thread winding its sluggish course through the city and over the broad expanse of marshy flat meadows; now advancing, now receding and doubling upon itself; now disappearing from sight behind some rough granite crag, only to reappear again in the distance and continue on its course to the sea.

Beyond the city lies the bay. On to the east are low lying hills, rough and irregular, black, uncultivated and wild as the day they first felt the tread of white man. Beyond them and in the distance, on a clear, calm day, may be seen the waves of the ocean chasing each other as the tide comes in, and lashing themselves into foam upon the shore. What a vivid history might be written: what harrowing tales of the fateful mariners' despairing cry, were the never ceasing murmur of the waves a language that might be interpreted. No sooner is a tale unfolded than the restless waters are off on another mission bent, seeking new scenes and fresh objects upon which to vent their fury and display their power.

But behold! the day is fast waning and the shades of evening are gradually enveloping the surrounding landscape. The visitor has been so absorbed with the vivid scene and his own silent meditations, that he has taken no note of the flight of time. A brisk walk down the hill, and retracing his course of the morning the traveler is soon again within the precincts of Boston.

Here again a very pretty picture meets his gaze, and one calculated to incite the muse of the poetical traveler. As the traveler stands upon the bridge leading from Cambridge to Boston, at nightfall, and casts his eyes up and down the river, he beholds long arches of brilliant lights spanning the stream from shore to shore, dimly outlining the skeleton forms of other bridges and casting their delicately penciled reflections far out into the murky waters. On the surface of the stream and along the shore may be seen the fishing boats at anchor and numerous pleasure boats gliding here and there in the shadows. It is a quiet and peaceful scene, with nothing to break the stillness of the night, save the unusual dip of the oars, and now and then the merry peals of laughter floating over the water from the occupants of pleasure boats. Often on warm spring mornings, the stream is dotted with skiffs, bearing parties of students from the colleges, who enliven the night with their college songs; and the wayfarer is often prone to slacken his speed and listen to the clear, full notes emanating from many strong and well trained voices as they are wafted and mellowed by the soft sea breeze. It is a scene that is often likened to the views on the canals of Venice.

"There is a pleasure in the pathless woods,
There is a rapture on the lonely shore,
There is a society where none intrudes
By the deep sea, and music in its roar."

Tobacco Market.

The offering and receipts this week have continued very large, and although there is very little quotable difference in prices, still medium grades of the new crop ranging from 12 to 16 cents have been somewhat lower. This decline is easily accounted for when it is taken into consideration that about 20 per cent. of the new crop has already been sold, and as all the manufacturers have good stocks on hand, they are not as eager to buy as they have been. In consequence medium grades which constitute a large part of the offerings, do not excite the same competition that they did a few weeks since. It is the general opinion, however, that the position of the new crop is very strong and will at once agents may be a temporary decline, it will only be due to the overworking of the market.

Old tobacco remains high with but very little that is desirable remaining in the warehouses. The sales for the week were 4,391 hogheads, of which 2,724 were new burley, and 1,666 dark against 4,229 hogheads last year, and the receipts were 3,010 hogheads against 3,775 for the corresponding week in 1921.

We quote new burley as follows:
Trash $4.00 to $7.00
Bright Trash $7.00 to $11.00
Light $8.50 to $10.50
Bright Leaf $9.00 to $18.00
Common Leaf $7.00 to $15.00
Medium Leaf $13.00 to $18.00
Selections $15.00 to $25.00

The call for the County Republican convention has been changed so as to appear as follows by the order of C. M. F. Stricker, Chairman of the District Committee, and provides for the selection of a new County Committee. From this it appears that Mr. Stricker has dumped the committee he appointed for this county some time since, and it now seems that the "ins" and the "outs" have kicked and made up in this county, and on the surface everything is to appear lovely.

KENTUCKY is growing smaller in extent of territory. During the last four years she has lost four hundred thousand acres of land, according to the showing made by the Assessors' books returned to the Auditor. The Geological Survey gives the whole an area of two million acres more of land than the Assessors have been able to find for taxation.

This colored brother is coming to the front in Scott county. The last issue of the Enterprise says: A Republican convention was held at Georgetown yesterday afternoon, at which John Horner, colored, presided, and John Workman, white, acted as secretary.

Very few are aware that the remains of ex-Governor John W. Stevenson have been taken from Kentucky, and now rest in Spring Grove Cemetery back of Cincinnati.

This county has very little confidence in the 1890 census, and it will have less if the methods of the census bureau are thoroughly investigated.

The New York State Convention instructed for Hill with a whirl last Monday. Cleveland is "out of it" so far as that State is concerned.

SEND IN YOUR VOTE.

It now seems that about every nine-tenth of this Congressional District has congressional sentiment, and to test the temper of the district in that direction the RECORDER will poll it in accordance with the following rule: Cut out the following ballot, write your name and the name of the person for whom you vote, as therein indicated, and mail the ballot to the political editor of the RECORDER.

FOR CONGRESS:

VOTER'S NAME: _____

The ballots will be kept secret, and no person but the party sending the ballot and the editor will know for whom he voted. The result of the voting will be published every week. No ballot sent out from this paper will be counted. Only legal voters will be counted.

The following votes have been received:

Hon. Harry Baker	223
Hon. George Washington	217
A. S. Berry	217
T. F. Hallam	27
W. L. Harrison	27
H. R. Riddell	27
Hon. R. B. Conner	27
Hon. N. W. Wilson	27

RECORDED. HOPEFUL CANDIDATES.

Represents the fact that they have a number of admirers among them. Their plans will be fully known, but even if they were not, the fact that they are carrying on against the overwhelming sentiment of the democratic party.

In the event of a successful campaign, the plan, practical house for a few down here, such as many farmers' wives keep close to the house, for the reason that they are so near the water.

There is hardly any necessity of my giving into a lengthy explanation of the plan, practical house for a few down here, such as many farmers' wives keep close to the house, for the reason that they are so near the water.

The main floor of the house contains a dozen or two of nesting places, on the floor, covered, if you will, with a board to make them dark; have the floor covered with a board to make them dark; have the floor covered with a board to make them dark.

THE OLD AUTOGRAPH ALBUM. Among the things that have been laid away among the dust and cobwebs, is the "old autograph album" of post-bellum days. It was a book of old mothers and fathers, and it numbered the names of many of our grandfathers.

THE DEADLY CIGARETTE. Statistics showing the enormity of the consumption. There are 1,500,000,000 cigarettes smoked throughout the United States every day. The paper used for rolling them is exceedingly thin, the quality required to make 500 only weighing one ounce.

NARROWLY PARTISAN. The platform on which Harrison will be nominated. With the support of his office holders and with that of Steve Elkins and the medical community, Harrison will probably have no great difficulty in forcing his own re-election.

CONTEMPORARY COMMENT. President Harrison is now convinced that Mr. Blaine is the man to whom the party should look for its future. Mr. Harrison is now convinced that Mr. Blaine is the man to whom the party should look for its future.

to the children's exhibit. "Some parents are afraid to let their children go to the exhibit and the ball them pass by a vote of 5-4," said the woman. "I don't know what to do about it. Another ball passed was one provided—old stereographs for each judicial district."

OTIS—The house passed the only real measure of the day, a bill to amend the law relating to the bill as reported by the revenue commission fixing the duties and qualifications of the commissioners of the revenue and the total expenditures for all purposes connected with the revenue in the fiscal year 1902. The bill was to be read at the seat of government on salary of $2,000. Twenty hundred dollars is the salary of the commissioners of the revenue. The bill established revenue across movable property and the revenue of the state, and the house looked at it in the same way.

He refused to order it to a second reading. Mr. McKeever's resolution was not to be taken up. The president of the People's-Independent league said that the bill was a good one, but that the progress of the children under 10 years of age was a view to finding out if any of the children were under 10 years of age. The resolution was passed providing for an appropriation of $100,000 for the purpose of giving the children an opportunity to accept a variation to visit the A. and M. college as a condition of receiving a certificate of admission to a similar resolution.

The bill to enable the state to borrow money from the federal government for the construction of penitentiaries, hospitals, and other public buildings, and for the purchase of land for the same, passed the house by a vote of 100 to 10. The bill was then sent to the senate, where it was passed by a vote of 100 to 10. The bill was then signed by the governor.

FRANK E. FENNERSON, of Pike county, was acquitted of the charge of violating the pension laws.

TYLOR CLARK, a nine-year old son of J. A. CLARK, was run over and killed by a freight train at Hillsboro, Ore., station in late summer north of Mayfield, on the Newport News and Mississippi Valley railway line, late the other evening. While running across the tracks, the boy was struck by the moving train and knocked under the wheels, which cut both his legs off above the knees.

hiding in place of the convict parole system abolished by the new constitution.

Mrs. C. McKINNEY, a prominent lady residing near Roaring Spring, met with a serious if not fatal accident while alone in her room. She attempted to rise out of her invalid chair, when one of the rollers on it slipped, throwing her so violently to the floor as to break her limb. Owing to old age and infirmity there is little hope of her recovery.

Mr. R. P. Berkebile is under the treatment of a physician.

Quite a number of farmers are busy plowing and sowing plant beds.

Z. T. Holmes, an agent, after several months' confinement with grippe, is still lingering among some of the citizens, but no dangerous symptoms.

Daughter, the male who had the shoeing, is not likely to appear here and court an investigation as to its reported having been done in Covington and Cincinnati, although he has but little to fear from witnesses appearing against him.

Swift has employed Attorney Carson, who, upon investigation, discovered that the term for which L. A. Loder, of Petersburg, was elected to the office of Justice of the Peace, expired some time since. Mr. Loder was not re-elected, therefore he was not a Justice of the Peace when he ordered the negroes to jail, and Swift's attorney will make that fact one of the grounds for a habeas corpus, under which he expects to get the negro released from jail.

Personal Matters.

Miss Nannie Arnold's school closed last Friday.

Prof. Graham, of Bellevue, was in town Saturday.

Mr. James Mason, of the Hathaway neighborhood, was in town one day last week.

Mr. J. W. Duncan was suspended as deputy county clerk last Monday by Stanley Cluttbuck.

Billy Cropper was visiting his brother, Perry, at Middletown, Ohio, last Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. Penn occupied his pulpit at this place last Sunday, that being his regular monthly meeting.

L. J. Home, of Verona, and George B. Walton, of Point Pleasant, were visitors to the county seat Monday.

Miss Rose Dempsey, who has been visiting friends at Evansville, Indiana, for several months, has returned home.

Dr. L. C. Cowen, who has been attending medical lectures in New York, has returned to his home at Rabbit Hash.

Mrs. Harry Blythe, who is spending a few days with her father and mother, Mrs. and Mr. J. H. Smith, has an attack of grippe.

G. M. Riley, of North Bend, was in town last Thursday. He had just returned from an extended visit to friends in Indiana.

Scott Walton and George Youell, two prominent citizens of the Mount Pleasant neighborhood, were in town a few hours last Thursday.

J. O. Hays, of the Locust Grove neighborhood, was in town Saturday. He has quite an array of friends here who are always glad to see him.

Marce Riddell and Miss Nannie Arnold were married in Cincinnati yesterday evening. Many the many pleasures of this life through their path as they travel together.

The Cowen spent several days the past week with his relatives at this place. He left Monday, and expected to know, in a few days, where he and his partner, Richard McWalt, would engage in business. They have two or three places in view.

John H. Aylor, of Gunpowder, was in town last Saturday. He is now considerably interested in his lamb crop, with which he is having very fine luck. When one of his lambs dies, it entails considerable loss, as they are of the best breed of sheep the country affords.

CLEVELAND AND CARLISLE.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

Looking through the Democratic field lists we see, depicted upon the political horizon, pictures which portend defeat for the party of the masses.

Let us look back to the year 1890, when the party of the masses, the "People's Party," defeated not only the Republican but the Democratic party, and while they regret to have them move away, yet they are pleased to know that they have bright prospects for the future in their new home. Lee, here, the hope that you may live long and prosper.

Passing around the circle last week I found John Garrison looking happy and attending to his stock farm as usual. John is one of those men upon whom fortune has always smiled and notwithstanding his extraordinary good luck in capturing one of Gallatin county's handsome and fair daughters, he remains the same plain and honest old John.

Mr. and Mrs. Karns returned from Indianapolis, Friday, and hope to establish in their home two miles west of Union by the 10th of March.

Lee Clout left Monday morning for Scott county with a load of furniture, etc., his wife following by rail. Mr. and Mrs. Clout enjoyed the conference and esteem of the entire community, and while they regret to have them move away, yet they are pleased to know that they have bright prospects for the future in their new home. Lee, here, the hope that you may live long and prosper.

ORDER ASAROGA CO. MIRACLE.

Helpless for Years and Excluded from Hospitals as incurable.

The Remarkable Experience of Charles Quant as Investigated by an Albany (N. Y.) Journal Reporter—A Story of Miraculous Interest.

There is perhaps no nation, civilized or savage, ancient or modern, that has made a more universal reputation for sentimentality than the German. The reputation seems to be deserved, if the literature of the present and the past be taken into consideration. From the fervid outpourings of the Minnesingers down to the emotionalizing of the most popular of the German poets of the present, the sentimentality of the German has been the dominating factor in the history of the German people. It is the German who, in the days of Victor Hugo, wrote the gentle, pathetic, and favorite theme of the "fine fleur" of the Teutonic variety. German poets of ancient high German tell us that the word "sentiment" is a dictionary of love, and that a modern word love is only a broken shell of the passion of sentimentality. Yet it would be difficult to find among the songs of Wolfram von Eschenbach a sentiment that is not a sentimentalism, for it is the German who, in the days of Victor Hugo, wrote the gentle, pathetic, and favorite theme of the "fine fleur" of the Teutonic variety.

All this would lead naturally to the unimpeachable foreigner to believe that men and women in Germany marry for love. He imagines how the German youth, Siegfried-like in his grand daring, blushing pursues, as Schiller puts it, the "fleur-de-lis" of the German maid; how he falls prostrate at her feet, passionately kissing her love, and then, in the next breath, he is a fugitive from the scene. It is the German who, in the days of Victor Hugo, wrote the gentle, pathetic, and favorite theme of the "fine fleur" of the Teutonic variety.

For a successful marriage in Germany two things are essential: a sufficient salary and the certainty of a pension in his old age, and a bride with a complete set of furniture and a respectable bank account. The German and the co-operation of the parents for the sake of getting "good conditions" for their daughter is a thing that may be handsome and virtuous, and a complete set of furniture and a respectable bank account. The German and the co-operation of the parents for the sake of getting "good conditions" for their daughter is a thing that may be handsome and virtuous, and a complete set of furniture and a respectable bank account.

It may be said also that every hundred marriages in pure but ignorant Germany, as we know them in America, are hardly one that is successful. The young man with good prospects, who marries a poor but honest and respectable girl, is rarely one that is successful. The young man with good prospects, who marries a poor but honest and respectable girl, is rarely one that is successful.

Mr. Chapman, the wife of a Wyoming farmer, recently had a thrilling experience. She stepped outside of the kitchen door, intending to place a pan of milk in the tub, and, as she closed the door, she was struck by a lightning bolt. She was killed, and her husband, who was standing by her, was also killed. This was a tragedy that had been foretold by a seer.

CAN WIN ANYWAY.

New York is not indispensable to Democracy. The first few days of the campaign have shown that the republicans are not so much as they are.

Politics is a practical matter. There are sentimentalists who like to beat the drum for the republicans, but the average citizen does not care to follow an ideal too expensive to have any chance of getting through the ballot box. It does not expect when there are six or seven million people to be induced to vote together, that the republicans can win.

Since the close of the civil war the history of the republican party is one of continuous reaction. The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past. The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past.

The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past. The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past. The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past.

The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past. The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past. The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past.

Unreliable Prophecies. The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past. The republicans have been the party of the future, and the democrats have been the party of the past.

Another case in some respects still more remarkable. A lady, while eating a piece of pie, fell into a terrible fit of coughing. The physician called for no cause for the trouble, and thought that whatever foreign substance had entered the lungs it had been expelled. The patient insisted that there was still some obstruction which not only choked her, but impaired her power of speech.

For six weeks she remained nearly speechless and under constant treatment. The physician called for no cause for the trouble, and thought that whatever foreign substance had entered the lungs it had been expelled. The patient insisted that there was still some obstruction which not only choked her, but impaired her power of speech.

Mr. Cooke (to tramp) if you'll stand up for two hours, I'll give you a dollar. The tramp stood up for two hours, and the tramp gave him a dollar. The tramp stood up for two hours, and the tramp gave him a dollar.

PEY NAMES.

All People do not have the same taste. The names of the people are not the same. The names of the people are not the same.

On the other hand, if he were to call his "little pig" a "little pig," it might be a little more of a compliment. The names of the people are not the same. The names of the people are not the same.

HANDS OFF!

Fought to Be Driven Off of Having President Harrison and Cabinet Approve an Energetic Policy.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The meeting of the cabinet today, in the presence of the president, was the most important of the session. The subject of the energetic policy for the protection of seals in Behring sea, and of adjacent waters. The decision is in harmony with the tenor of the president's message.

The cabinet members, including Secretary of State John Hay, Secretary of the Interior, and Secretary of the Navy, all agreed to the energetic policy.

The Grant county Republicans endorsed Col. Weeden O'Neal for Congress.

The Legislature is considering a bill to require the polls at elections to close at five o'clock.

SENATOR Hill made a ringing speech before the Mississippi Legislature on Tuesday last week.

The letters from our Representatives at Frankfort are read with great interest. Write often, gentlemen.

The Kentucky Democratic State convention should be held at least a month earlier than the date fixed upon by the State committee.

It is noted that the Democrats should not go to New York for their nominee for the Presidency is becoming more prevalent as time passes.

The County Democratic Executive Committee can now call the meeting for appointing delegates to the State Convention at Louisville on May 25.

May 25 is the date and Louisville is the place for holding the Kentucky Democratic State convention for the selection of delegates to the Chicago convention.

COL. W. O. BRADLEY says that with a reasonable amount of money he believes the Republican party can carry Kentucky this year.
What does he consider a reasonable amount of money?

SOME are predicting that if the electric railway is built to Florence,
a branch will be built to this place.
There is not the least likelihood of anything of that kind happening during the present generation.

The following will be the vote of each county in this Congressional District at the State Convention, to be held in Louisville, May 25, next:
Boone, 8; Campbell, 15; Carroll, 6;
Gallatin, 3; Grant, 7; Kenton, 20;
Pendleton, 7; Trimble, 5.

The last issue of the Williamstown Courier contained what was purported to be a double column portrait of Congressman Dickerson, but had it not been for the name below it, no person would have suspected it being "Toby's" picture.

THEY are having quite an interesting contest at Covington over the proposition to build another bridge across the river at that place.
The steamboat men are opposed to any more bridges spanning the river between Cincinnati and Covington.

SENATOR Hill told the people in the South, last week, that the electoral vote of New York would be cast for the next Democratic nominee by the Presidency. He made no qualifications or provisos with the statement. He may know that the Empire State vote will be so cast, and there are a great many who believe he knows why it was not so cast at the last election.

The great suffering in Russia is just now becoming fully known to the outside world. It is estimated that over twenty million people in that country are threatened with starvation, while typhus fever is raging in many of the provinces.
Food for stock is scarce, and horses and cattle are dying at a rapid rate.
Word comes from the American committee sent to Russia that help is needed greatly in excess of what has already been tendered, and that quickly.

GAINE, the colored man who wants to be a delegate at large from this State to the Minneapolis convention is making haste very slowly in that direction. He attended the Grant county Republican convention, and made an appeal for himself on behalf of the 22,000 Republican negro voters in Kentucky, but it was of no avail, the convention treating him with a silent contempt. The Kentucky Republicans have no more use for the negro than the Republicans of the other States have.

SENATOR McCANN, the author of the Tobacco Bill, was given a grand ovation when he visited Bedford, his home, a few days ago. He was met, several miles out of town, by a long procession of his admiring constituents, headed by a brass band, when they proceeded to the court house, where the Senator took the stand from which he addressed the crowd for an hour and a half.
The Tribune county Democracy consider the Senator has made a gigantic stride towards Congress in the passage of the bill to regulate tobacco warehouse fees in this State.

From the instructions Mr. T. B.
Mathews is capturing. It now looks very much like he will be entitled to a seat in the Minneapolis convention, an honor that has not been extended to a member of either political party in this country for a time to which the mind of man runneth not to the contrary.

THE Common candidates for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district, for the nomination to be made by a primary election throughout the district.
There are a great many who do not see it in that way, and want a primary election.

JUDGE AUSTIN has decided the Stine-Berry contested election case.
His finds that Stine was elected Mayor of Newport over Col. Berry by a majority of thirty-nine votes, as Stine has never qualified as Mayor, the Judge decides that Col.
Berry is entitled to the office under that provision of the city charter which says the Mayor shall hold his office until his successor is elected and qualified. The judgment of the court is not satisfactory to either side, and the comments thereon are numerous.

Tas McCain tobacco bill boiled down to about as follows:
First—Compels the warehousemen to settle with seller by actual weights, including samples.

Second—Makes it a high misdemeanor to cloverly weigh or change weights, or mutilate or falsify samples.

Third—Selling fees to be only $2 per hoghead, and for every receipt $1.50; and each party to pay his own rejection fees.

Fourth—Makes it a misdemeanor to nest, size, price, or fraudulently prize tobacco.

Fifth—Reclamations must be made in ninety days, unless sold for foreign markets, then in six months.

Sixth—Either buyer or seller damaged by reason of the bill to be entitled to recover damages in civil action, in addition to penalties denounced.

LAST week's Carrollton Democrat says in regard to the approaching contest for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district:
"Three persons in Carroll are spot of as probable candidates for Congress—Hon. Jno. S. Gaunt, Hon.
Thos. J. McElrath, and Hon. J. A.
Donaldson—all good lawyers, sound
Democrats and worthy gentlemen.
The county can readily unite on any one of them with the other two out of the way. Any one of them would be strong in the lower end of the district—that is to say in Trimble, Carroll and Gallatin—not opposed by any other person siding in either of these counties.
Messrs. Gaunt and McElrath have been well advertised as probable candidates, but Judge Donaldson's boom is of later origin. We have no hesitation in saying that if the three counties named can unite on any one, the latter gentleman would have as good chance of winning their support as would any other person. If it is to be the old fight over again, the country against the cities, the counties of Carroll, Trimble and Gallatin should stand together, and go in to win under the cry that the "lower end never gets nothing nohow."

FRANKFORT, KY., March 17, 1892

To the Editor of the Recorder:

I have been in bad health since
I came to Frankfort—with a gripe about five weeks, after that a carbuncle on my neck, which lasted some time. I am now better. I have been in my seat continuously with the exceptions of a few days.
As a member of the Redistricting Committee, I have attended nearly every meeting. The Senate and House Committees agreed on the counties of Boone, Carroll, Gallatin, Grant and Owen—leaving out Franklin—to form our Judicial district. I think I will be able to pass this bill through the Senate.

As to the World's Fair Bill I had no information as to the sentiment or wishes of my people. I voted against the bill. There was only a small minority—three—against it, believing it was unjust to the taxpayers of my district. As to the counties, they have a right to do as they please, without any enactment of law.

We are getting along very slowly with the business. We have just taken up the Election Bill (March 17). We have to go over it section by section. If the amendments continue as begun, it will take weeks, as it is a large volume. Although it is done I don't think there is a man in Boone county who will know how to vote. I am sure I will not.

There is now pending in the Senate a bill for the formation of a Bureau of Information and Immigration. The Commercial Club of Louisville is taking great interest in it, wanting to appropriate $15-$20,000 yearly to sustain it. I am opposed to the bill.

There is going to be a long session, but not very interesting. I think when we get through our constituents will be willing for us to leave the State, and be willing for the framers of the new constitution to go with us.

Crop and Stock.

A company composed principally of negroes has undertaken the exploitation and operation of a large cotton mill near Chicago.

The famous Kentucky thoroughbred, Foxhall, winner of many famous races in England and France, has arrived at Lexington.

Boyle county has 176 citizens who pay taxes on $10,000 or more,
and one of them is a colored man.
These 176 own about four-fifths of the property in Boyle county. The colored man in the list is Ben Tibbs, who pays taxes on $11,377.

Twenty-two acres of land are needed to sustain a man on fresh meat, while the same amount of land under wheat feeds 42 people, under oats, 83 people, under potatoes, Indian corn and rice, 176 people, and under the planter or bread fruit tree over 6,000.

Fifty years ago Daniel Webster, speaking of the region then known as Oregon, said it was "so far off that it could never be governed by the United States, and a delegate from it to Congress could not reach Washington until a year after the expiration of his term."

The Breckenridge Gazette very satisfyingly remarks: "When producers of 'scrub' cattle can show yearling steers weighing 1,500 lbs. and two years old weighing 2,000 lbs. (as feeders of pure bred and high grade bullheads have done) it will be time enough to talk of substituting slow-maturing natives for good cattle throughout the great beef-making regions of America. All the world knows that the profit in cattle feeding nowadays is to be found in crowding the calves to ripeness at the earliest possible age."

The Lancaster Record says:
"One of Garrard's most substantial farmers surprised us Monday with the intelligence that the 'tiller of the soil' had been at a comparative standstill for more than eight years.
—lately making ends meet. What is the remedy? He gets near 82 cents for his wheat, which crop is rarely a failure; $1.80 for corn; $4.25 for his No. 1 hemp; $12.15 and $18 for his tobacco, with other products in proportion. There is certainly no losing in any of these.
Then why is it that he does not succeed?"

A gentleman who has taken the pains to go over the Assessors' reports from all the counties of Kentucky, presents an interesting array of figures on the tobacco crop of 1891. Christian county keeps the lead, producing more tobacco than any other county in the State.
Christian raised 1,437,618 lbs. of tobacco, an increase of 1,707,118 pounds; Graves county, 1,123,800, an increase of 385,650; Henderson, 9, 885,650, increase, 3,360,200. Of the Burley counties Owen produced 5, 756,900, an increase of 208,050; Mason, 5,700,000, an increase of 208, 950; Bourbon, 2,037,383, a decrease of 1,125,917 pounds. Estill produced 1,840 of tobacco, and was the smallest producer of the tobacco raising counties in the State. The largest crop in the State was produced by J. S. Summers, of Christian county. He raised 175,000—Home-

One of the most desirable and valuable gifts for a horse is a walk, and it should be the aim to first develop this gait in the handling of the colt. The good walker will always make good time on the road
when a day's journey is to be made.
A horse that will go five miles per hour will go as far in a day confined to his gait, as an ordinary horse can be driven when kept half the time on the trot, and with much better ease to himself. If one-half the pains were taken by farmers boys to make fast walkers of the youngsters on the farm that is usually taken to make them trot,
the result would be much more beneficial, and we could find plenty of teams that could do their five miles an hour with ease. But instead, as soon as the colt is bridled, the whole aim of "the boys" is to make a trotter of him, and both gaits are spoiled. Make the colts walk, boys; make them extend themselves in a long, sweeping, square walk, and don't be satisfied with anything less than five miles an hour. When he gets to trotting he will go all the faster for this preliminary training to the walking gait, and if he cannot trot fast enough to beat Dexter, or Goldsmith Maid, or Occident, he will have a gait that is invaluable for business purposes. We hope to see more attention paid to fast walking than heretofore, and we respectfully urge upon agricultural societies the importance of offering liberal prizes for walking horses at the fairs for the coming year. The good walker is the best saddle—Homestead.

We have but little sympathy for the person who becomes the victim of a green goods swindler. It has been well said that no man will answer a green goods advertisement who is not a knave at heart. His intentions is to swindle the public by circulating counterfeit money, and in this respect he is even worse than the man who victimizes him, as he does not intend to work for his money, but to counterfeit it, and simply to swindle the man who does.

The man who buys the pretended counterfeit intends to cheat every honest man upon whom he can pass a worthless bill; the man who pretends to sell them only intends to cheat a knave as bad or worse than himself.—Homestead.

[Henry Waterson.]
Gov. Hill has killed Mr. Cleveland, and he has, I think, in doing so, killed himself. The nomination must come from the West or go to Massachusetts, Pennsylvania or Maryland.

[Ex-Gov. Beckwith.]
By the eternal nominate Cleveland and elect him, despite the world, the fish and the Tammany devil!

[Danville Advocate.]
Senator Hill's loquacity has been advised, but the Southern people, to whom he has been directing his remarks this week, are not yet prepared to accept the New Yorker as the savior of the party.

[Hopkinsville News-Kr.]
Senator Hill spoke at Birmingham Wednesday. He had prepared himself with a lot of stereotyped expressions calculated to capture the interest of the citizens of that place, and fired them off with great effect. "New South," "Magic city," "wonderful growth," occur the usual number of times.

[Harrisburg Democrat.]
The growing and converging force of Democratic opinion points to Grover Cleveland.

[Madisonville Herald.]
At the Chicago convention next June the name of Grover Cleveland will be presented, and he will be nominated by acclamation. Whether friend or foe, every one in the United States is compelled to acknowledge that the ex-President is an honest man, and that he could get up more enthusiasm as the nominee of the Democratic party than any other man living. His name is a synonym for all that is pure and great in American politics.

It is getting too late in the season for the roads to get in any rays of sun having considerable drying power, and the mud disappears very rapidly beneath them.

Mr. John Bradford, of Florence, was in town Friday, and when asked what was going on in Florence, stated that everybody over there was talking electric railway, and were much interested in the matter. If Florence will put her shoulder to the wheel, and we believe she will, the road will not stop short of there, if it should start from Covington.

Next Monday will be a lively day in Burlington. It is the day for the annual horse show, and it is the western permit, never fails to bring an immense crowd to admire the noble animals, of which there are a great number in this county. Having admitted the fine horses, the crowd will be regulated by Col. A. S. Berry in a speech, and the crowd will be regulated by Col. A. S. Berry in a speech, and the crowd will be regulated by Col. A. S. Berry in a speech.

John D. Norris, of Petersburg, made an assignment to J. M. Tassing last Thursday for the benefit of his creditors. The liabilities amount to about $9,000, and it is thought the assets will nearly or quite be sufficient to pay the creditors in full. The assets consist of 90 acres of land at Petersburg and interests in several saloons, and some other stock. The reasons given for the assignment is sickness of business and an inability to pay the stock at full price. Mr. Norris has been handling trotting horses for several years, and the heavy expense attached to the business is what led up to his financial trouble. He has a great many friends who will be anxious to see the steps he has been compelled to take.

Men Slandered Each Other And Fought Like Tigers.

(From the Ky. Post.)

When Chairman Ernst declared Geo. Stover's motion for a division of the house out of order at last night's Odd-fellows' Hall convention, the Stiverites commenced to show their hands.

Stiver, who had been coaching Stover, during the preliminary proceedings, saw that he was beaten, and with the last hope at stake, urged Stover to take the stage and demand a division.

Stover did so and was assisted by several Stiver men who stood up bodily and thrown on the floor.

As Stover started to rise one of the Comptroller, started, Billy Rich, caught hold of him and tried to pull him down from the stage. At this Stover made a motion to kick Rich. This was the signal for the Rich contingent.

Chairman Ernst asked Stover to leave the stage, as he was clearly out of order, and, catching Geo. Stover, he rushed him from the stage, and he was taken to the hospital.

At one time it looked as if a general engagement was about to begin.

A rush was made for the rear of the stage, and the first-escape at the middle window was let down, and a number took advantage of that to get out of the hall.

One excited colored man belonging to Geo. Stover climbed out of a window and dropped to the street below, but fortunately he escaped without injury.

By this time the police had obtained control of the convention, and Chairman Ernst, who was undoubtedly the coolest man in the hall, rapped for order.

Henry Nasceman, of Madison Avenue, started another row in front of the stage, but Stover, who was on him and the work of the convention proceeded.

Chairman Ernst was informed that before the convention was adjourned that attempt was to be made to capture the hall after the convention proceedings had been held, to nominate Stiver delegates.

Mr. Ernst, however, nipped this little scheme in the bud by sending for the jailer and informing him that he wanted the lights turned out when he so ordered.

A committee was appointed to see that the jailer carried out the chair's instructions.

As soon as Colonel Wenden O'Neil got through speaking the big chandelier lights were turned out and the crowd commenced to file out.

Chairman Ernst and the committee waited until the last man left the hall, and then they adjourned the convention on the work of the adjourned convention.

Stiver, who had been coaching Stover, during the preliminary proceedings, saw that he was beaten, and with the last hope at stake, urged Stover to take the stage and demand a division.

Notice—Now have charge of the ferry at Millville, Ky., and am prepared to handle all kinds of live stock for shipment by river. The ferry boat will be in service every day. W. E. KIRKLEY.

Robert White and Ethel Zellens, who were married last Saturday afternoon, at the colored church by Eugene Morgan Beeson. The ceremony was witnessed by quite a large crowd, among which were a great many white folks.

We hear a great deal of complaint from the owners of roads about people throwing brush and other debris in the ditches along the public roads. This is against the law and some body is going to be indicted if they don't stop it.

A popular tree, the top of which is 450 feet above the water level, is one of the rare sights on the Kentucky river. This giant of the forest grows on the perpendicular cliffs, 200 feet high, and can be seen for hours before a boat reaches it.—Ex.

During the last ten days numerous fishing parties have visited Gunpowder, and a great many fine fish have been caught. Many camp fires are being along the creek at night, and the merry laugh of the fisherman is heard up and down the creek.

About $1000 have been subscribed towards erecting a new Baptist church edifice at this place. It seems the necessary remainder ought to be raised without much labor, and could be if some of the many members would manifest as much interest in the matter as some of the ladies have.

Nine of Williamson's citizens has secured the State right of Dr. Tynon, and will have a sanitarium for the cure of the whiskey habit in operation there by the middle of April. The Courier thinks it will be a great boon to the town, and expects the sanitarium will prove very profitable to those who have invested their money in it.

Dr. Furnish was going to P. A. Ryle's across Gunpowder Saturday morning when he reached the creek, he started across, but before he had gone far he was halted by a sudden change in the water, and in a few seconds the water was running over her back. The doctor thought it took her about an hour to swim across, but was very glad to get out safe at all.

Last Friday a woman giving her name as Mrs. Leticia Hoffman, of Lancaster, this State, came to a road at Walton, to which place she came in search of her husband, who she said had come to this county several weeks ago. She failed in the depot, and as soon as possible she was started to the hotel in a carriage, and when the water was reached, she gave birth to a child.

The many friends of our former townsmen, C. E. Fowler, of Creston, Iowa, are sorry to learn of the sad affliction he recently experienced, in the loss of his wife. Mrs. Fowler died of heart disease, and her death was sudden and entirely unexpected, coming about midnight, with no one present except her husband and their two children, aged respectively 18 months, and two years old.

The doctor for the April term of the Boone Circuit Court, which begins next Monday, closed last Friday with a session that was unusually long, and a large number of cases were disposed of. Very few of the new cases will occasion much contest, but there are several old cases on the docket, which, if tried, will consume considerable time. The court will convene nearly or quite the three weeks to which it is entitled by law.

Dr. H. B. Hays, of Bullittsville, called in Monday and informed us that the patients were putting the finishing touch on his new house, and that he was going to home again as soon as they got through. Our Dne.

The Court of Appeals has decided that the instrument in dispute purporting to be the last will and testament of Thomas Vest, the content of which was appealed from the Boone Circuit Court, is not his true last will and testament.

We failed, last week, to mention the death of Mr. Peter F. Cropper, of the Frankfort neighborhood. Mr. C. was an old and most highly respected citizen, whose upright life had acquired for him the admiration of everyone with whom he was acquainted. His age was 72 years.

Walton is considerably disturbed over the floundering of a dead mule to be found in an old building one day last week. The doctors think the animal had been dead five or six days, and the created condition of its neck shows that it was choked to death. The matter is being investigated.

R. O. Hughes, of Richmond, is having stoneware fixtures put in his large tobacco house. By use of the steam he can refire tobacco much more rapidly, thereby being enabled to handle larger quantities, and that, too, at times when he could do nothing were he to depend on the weather for drying purposes.

The family of Mr. John Michael, of Erlanger, has been badly afflicted of late. His oldest son, John, was recently dangerously ill in the Ludlow camp. His son Richard, died last Wednesday last week of pneumonia, and at last accounts his five months old child was dangerously ill with the same disease.

T. F. Corley, Sam Hind and Perry E. Cason were appointed examiners for Boone county.

Com'rs vs. Richard Walton, 2 cases; same vs. Jas. Taylor, alias and cons.

Same vs. Bobb. Masters, fled away.

Same vs. Bud Delpy, two cases, rule against sheriff of Grant county, to show cause why he does not execute process.

Same vs. Jas. Loubach, fled away with law.

Same vs. Henry Bailey; same vs. Evan Anderson, 2 cases, continued for Commonwealth.

Same vs. Jim Ross—carrying pistol, fled $10 and 10 days in jail.

Fidelity Suretying appointed committee for Fidelity Suretying, an affidavit, an allowance of $35 per annum made.

The trial of Matt J. Day charged with forgery was begun yesterday. The jury was obtained before noon and the case stated for the Commonwealth.

The hearing of testimony was begun after noon.

COURT NOTES: Only one divorce suit on the docket for this term.

Judge Major's broad brim hat gives him a new boyish appearance.

A great number of new suits filed have been settled by the parties.

Only twelve grand jurors at this term, any nine of whom can indict.

Atty. Kearns, of Carrollton, saw the wheels of justice put in motion.

From all appearances the Barton will case will be tried again at this term.

Deputy Sheriff Roberts did not recognize his superior for some time last Monday.

Judge O. E. Roberts, of Aurora, is attending court.

Judge Major arrived on the mail wagon Saturday evening, and was ready to start his court early Monday morning.

Judge Major put in an appearance last Friday evening, and his numerous friends were glad to see him in such prime condition.

Attorney Gaunt was on hand early Monday. It is said that he walked across the country from Carrollton, giving his political fences along the route.

Heard a fellow say the other day it was good thing that the grand jury does not meet during harvest, for if it did some neighborhoods would have to quit raising small grain. Don't believe it.

Harvey Marshall's Residence at Waterloo Destroyed by Fire.

A big fire totally destroyed the residence of Harvey Marshall at Waterloo. The house was built thirty-three years ago at a cost of about $4,000, and at the time of its destruction it was insured in the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of this county, for $1,800.

The fire was caused by a candle left burning on a table in the kitchen, and the fire spread to the main floor, and the policy being received by Mr. Marshall not more than two hours before the fire.

Mr. Marshall's son-in-law, Joe. Wingo, and family had moved from Aurora but a few days before to live with the old gentleman, and he lost part of his household goods, although all of Mr. Marshall's were saved.

This is a heavy loss for Uncle Harvey, who has been leaving the kitchen since the fire, and he is now in the chimney left standing, near the rear.

The flames were so hot at times it required great efforts on the part of the crowd present to keep J. W. Kite's residence just across the road from burning.

Personal Acquaintance.

Rev. David Ripley was brought home from the hospital last Saturday.

Mr. Lewis Conner has recently been suffering considerably with rheumatism.

Rev. Geo. W. Dunlap will be in Burlington this Wednesday evening, with his "Stereopticon Views," which he will exhibit at the Methodist Church.

Edmund Hamilton has hung out his shingle as attorney-at-law in Georgetown. He has many friends in Burlington who wish him abundant success in the legal field.

A. W. Smith, of Crescent, was in town last Friday, and the place information he imparted to the boys, is the germ from which will originate, in short period, a great demand for fishing tackle.

Uncle Austin Beeson, of the Lima-borough neighborhood, was in town on Monday. After watching the printer set type with a lead line, he said, "It would not surprise me if it was too much like chicken picking up corn."

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

John Garrison has begun to move into his new home.

Rev. Hays preached at the Baptist Church Sunday morning and night.

There are several cases of scarlet fever and measles in the town at present.

Mr. Robert Chambers and family have moved to Kensington instead of Florence, as stated last week.

Rev. Hill, of Williamstown, has been called to preach for the Baptist Church of this place for the ensuing year.

Dr. Crouch has returned from his visit South. The doctor lost his whiskers and was in need of a new suit.

The W. & T. Club met on Wednesday night, and in order that the treasury might be replenished, a cake-walk was given. Tenderfoot Hill and Miss Harriet Mark took first prize, which was a very large "Kaiser Wilhelm Cake" covered with Marseilles. First prize was taken by Orlando Probasco and his wife. A general good time was enjoyed by all present.

At the quarterly meeting of the Democratic Club on Saturday night the regular order of business was read and a speech from Hon. M. D. Gray, of Williamstown, was listened to with much pleasure. The address occupied forty minutes and was in accordance with the gentleman's reputation for logical and forcible speeches. He touched upon all leading topics of interest before the people, and he believed that there was only one issue before the nation and that was the tariff. This he declared to be the most important of the tariff, and he believed that the tariff was the most important of the tariff.

Tiffany Debauched by the Son of a Former Friend.

He acknowledged his guilt to Inspector
Stanton, who had been arrested for

Carried on for Over Five Years.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Jas. A. Palmer, of this city, was arrested Thursday afternoon, charged with the larceny of jewelry from the firm of Tiffany & Co., on Union square.

Palmer was captured at his warehouse, 15 East Seventeenth street, and when he learned that his misdeeds had been found out, he exclaimed: "Oh, my! I wish I had shot myself!"

He acknowledged his guilt to Inspector Stanton, who had been arrested for stealing his goods systematically.
Carried on for Over Five Years.

Charles L. Tiffany, the head of the firm of Tiffany & Co., and James F. Palmer, the prisoner's father, were close friends for many years.

Palmer died in 1878, leaving his business to his son, James F. Palmer, who was then only a boy.

The Palmer family owned fine brocade goods for Tiffany & Co. He rendered the firm many large bills. The son was nursed by the older Palmer, and did a great deal of work for him.

For the lynching of the Italians at New Orleans the United States is to pay the families $25,000.

The city of Lexington has appropriated $1,000 to entertain the Press Association which meets in this city next month.

The Committee on Claims has reported favorably the Senate resolution to allow Mrs. Judge Van B. Young the salary that would have been due her husband to September first next.

The Owingville Outlook says: There is some talk of the State revenue rate on the $100 being raised from 42 1/2 cents to 47 cents, to meet the increased expenditure of the Legislature.

The Western Argus says: "Abolitionism in the Legislature is caused by the abolition of the free press business. Members go home to attend to business, and the expense attendant thereon keeps them there until they have entirely finished up."

Description of skirt stolen from C. W. Riley opposite North Bend, Ohio. It is 20 feet, cypress, calked with cotton, three sets of orlock, whaling painted brown, body stone color with my name on back. I will give a reward of $5 for the skirt and $5 for the thief. Skirt to be returned to the Mail Line, or address me, C. W. RILEY, North Bend, Ohio.

Station owners are justly complaining of the Kentucky law that makes them pay a tax on "stables" and also a heavy license, amounting in some instances to one-tenth the horse's earnings. In addition to this, the law does not give them any right to levy on a foal for the purpose of collecting the service fee of the horse that got it. The present legislature ought to remedy this, enacting a law that will protect both station owner and breeder alike.—Kentucky Stock Farm.

From the reading of the following from the Millers to Eric Press, it is seen that the Democrats of Trimble Co. have it for Hallam in the race. "Theodore Hallam is believed to be a candidate, not for the nomination, for he certainly knows he cannot get that, but to try to help somebody else trick Col. Berry out of it, as he did at Carrollton and Falmouth. The people are 'on to you' this time, Theodore. If Capt. McCain is not a candidate Trimble's vote will be cast for Newport's Democratic Mayor."

It is now settled that deputy Sheriff C. C. Roberts, of Verona, will be a candidate for Sheriff, submitting his claims to the Democratic party. Mr. Roberts is a young man of good habits, and is well qualified for the office, having acted as deputy for Sheriff Beall ever since he went into office. He is a polite, affable gentleman and has made many friends since he has been deputy, and will start into the race a strong candidate; but so far we do not know that he will have any opposition. If elected we are satisfied that he will make a first-class officer.

Speaking of the working of convicts outside the penitentiary the Argus says: "Under the new Constitution convicts are required to be confined within the walls of the penitentiaries. There is no law authorizing them to act as 'trusties' or to be employed on Capital square. The State may work them on State buildings inside the walls, but there is no law authorizing the convict to labor even for the State outside the walls of the prison. The Constitutional provision on this subject should be enforced, for convict labor worked outside the prison walls has done the State and the Democratic party great injury."

"The losses can not work them outside, except upon the farm to raise supplies for the prison. All others should go inside the walls. There is no reason for a great State like Kentucky having convicts around her buildings, cleaning up her grounds and doing other labor. The State has no right to do this and we hope the Governor will see that this is stopped."

BOSTON LETTER.

Cambridge And Her University.

By the Editor of the Recorder.

The city of Cambridge, Mass., is the offspring of the city of that name in England, like its worthy ancestor, it is chiefly noted as a city of learning. Its greatest institution, and one of the most noted in the country—Harvard University, has gradually developed, expanded, widened its fields of operation from a meager beginning in 1636, with only a few hundred pounds endowment, through the various stages of infancy, youth, maturity, until now, with her millions of endowment, she is fixed upon a firm foundation with resources almost inexhaustible and with facilities for satisfying the seeker after knowledge in almost every field of research. Already is the proud city taking on an air of ancient respectability, although scarcely one-half the age of her worthy progenitor, Cambridge is indelibly proud of her university, and justly so, and everything that is at all conducive to foster her best interests and welfare is cordially provided for.

The school was founded by a vote of the General Court of the Colony of Massachusetts Bay in 1636, and £400 was appropriated for that purpose. It was ordered that it should be established at Newtown, the name of which was afterwards changed to Cambridge, in recognition of the university of Cambridge, England, where many of the colonists had been educated. In 1638, John Harvard, a young clergyman, died and bequeathed to the college his library of 300 volumes and about £700 sterling. From this small beginning she has developed from year to year until now there are, in all departments, nearly 200 instructors and between 2500 and 3000 students.

The government of the university is vested in a corporation called the "President and fellows of Harvard College," (consisting of the President, five Fellows and the Treasurer, and the board of Overseers.) The President and Fellows have the right to fill vacancies in the corporations, and the board of Overseers, consisting of thirty members, are chosen by the ballots of the Alumni of the university.

The student, upon his first entrance into the college life of Harvard, looks upon the large green, traversed by walks and drives and bordered by numbers of stately and venerable elms, and surrounded by brick buildings, many of which, venerable with age, are rendered more beautiful by a thick covering of vines and creepers, as the limit of the university. It does not take him long, however, to discover that beyond the "yard," as the green is called, the largest portion of this great institution is found. Along the streets bordering the "yard" are long rows of dormitories with stores underneath; to the north are the new law school buildings, the Lawrence Scientific School, the Peabody Institute, the Hemenway Gymnasium and numerous other buildings; beyond these are the football and baseball grounds—Jarvis and Holmes fields respectively, and numerous tennis courts; to the east are the Manual Training School, the city Library, the High School and Fulton Hall, one of the handsomest dormitories in the city. The Medical School and the school of Veterinary Surgery are situated on Boylston street, Boston, and five miles away from the city, the university owns an agricultural school and an immense nursery.

Thus does the novice's meager conception expand and widen until he fully realizes that he has become a member of an institution almost a city within itself. His first great desire is to secure a room in one of the many dormitories in the "yard" which are as varied in their appearance as they are in their location. Some are occupied almost exclusively by quiet, industrious plodders, while others are filled with a rollicking set of easy-going fellows who are here mainly for the purpose of having a good time and enjoying themselves.

In the selection of courses in the college proper, there are nearly 200 to choose from embracing philosophy, languages, history, political economy, chemistry, physics, mathematics natural history, &c. The selection is left largely to the student, as he is presumed to have reached an age when he ought to be able to judge what course he ought to pursue. The faculty, however, are careful to prevent him from making too frivolous a selection. Here the student finds quite a change from his accustomed habits of former schools. Instead of recitations, in many of his courses he listens to lectures by the instructors and takes notes to be used in his preparation for examinations.

Perhaps the first acquaintance made by the student are at Memorial Hall where nearly 1000 students daily take their meals. This hall was erected by the faculty in commemoration of the students and graduates of the university who fell in the late civil war in defense of the Union. It is a handsome and imposing structure, surrounded in the rear by a 100 foot high

Through the center is a memorial transept, on the east of which is Sanders theatre, named after Charles Sanders whose bequest of $60,000 materially aided in the construction of the building; on the west of the transept is the dining hall, an immense apartment with high arched, oak-raftered ceiling, and large picture windows of stained glass; the walls are hung with paintings of celebrated Americans, and adorned with the busts of others. Here three times a day, hundreds of students repair to their meals and the walls of the old hall resound with echoes of their mirth and laughter. Soon to the timid freshman the faces at his table become familiar, and acquaintances are formed which ripen into a friendship lasting and true.

Athletics play a large part in the college life at Harvard, even among those who take no personal part in them. The annual football game in November, at Springfield with the Yale team, is looked forward to by all with interest. Then the baseball games in May and June; the boat race and the track contests for the "Berkley Cup," keep up the excitement and stir the loyalty of all to the college colors. During the long winter months many of the students resort daily to the gymnasium and pursue a regular and systematic course of training, either in classes or alone—a round with the dumb-bells, pulleys and rings, a few turns on the horizontal bar, a long silent run out North Avenue at dark, prolonged often to the distance of ten miles, then a cold shower bath and the young athlete is ready for a hearty evening meal.

The Hemenway Gymnasium is one of the finest equipped in the country, being fully supplied with all necessary appliances, including bowling alley, tracks for running, basketball and one of the most generous and enthusiastic instructors in the world. On the second floor is the trophy room which is interesting to all lovers of athletic sports. For those who do not aspire to excel in the athletic line, there are innumerable advantages to satisfy a literary taste, free access is given to the college library which is a very fine one and supplied with all the best literature of the day. There are four papers connected with the school, and all these papers are open to the productions of the student who is ambitious to excel in this field.

On the social side of Harvard life there are several societies in the Sophomore, junior and senior classes. The oldest of these is the Institute with a membership of 100. It was founded in 1770, and occupies now a club-house of its own, with a small restaurant attached. In the junior and senior classes is the Hasty Pudding Club, founded in 1795, and having a membership of 80. Then there is the "Signet" and "O. K." both social and literary and the "S. K. E." commonly called the "Dickey." One of the requisites for membership to this latter society is that the candidate, during his initiation season, shall do everything proposed by the society, shall submit with a good grace to all the practical jokes (and many of them are severe) that they may be prompted to indulge in at his expense.

The many pranks played are familiar to the people of Boston, and if a young man is seen walking along the busy thoroughfares headed, with high-heeled slippers and knickerbockers, and riding a hobby-horse or engaged in some other equally as ridiculous performance, it only provokes the remark by the observer, "There goes a fellow running for the Dickey." It need not be supposed, however, that because so much time is devoted to the frivolous side, that the sterner and more legitimate duties of college life are neglected. To be sure there are all classes and kinds of the genius homo in so large an institution—from the studious and industrious to the lazy and trifling, from the quiet and sober book-worm to the rollicking, good natured fellow who has a strong propensity towards "conviviality" (as the elder Weller would say). But the examinations are rigid and the rules against "cutting" recitations are so strict that the student is left to himself and he is allowed to follow his own bent or inclination. If he abuses the freedom granted him, and is guilty of any questionable practices that reach the ears of the professors, he is reported to the faculty, is made the subject of a special lecture or perhaps placed upon probation. The responsibility rests with him to choose or neglect the opportunities which lie open before him. But the vulgarity and riotousness which once apparently characterized college life have largely disappeared and given place to a higher standard, a nobler purpose, a more gentlemanly life. With such surroundings and environments, the young man of worth and firmness of purpose, will "at once find his place, his place, his friends and his inspiration."

For two married men to take two women on a lark to Georgetown and register at a hotel, under the names of two members of the Legislature, is not at all reprehensible. At least the McInerney investigating committee said so and the House, under the spur of Speaker Moore, said "me too."—Sunday Record.

Guizott.

This Imported Percheron Stallion will make a season of 1892, at Burlington on Monday and Tuesday of each week and the remainder of the time at my stable near Petersburg, Boone Co., Ky. at $15 to insure a colt. The season has now commenced and will end June 15, at Burlington, but the horse will be at my stable after that until July 1, 1892.

Guizott is sure fast getter, and his colts prove him to be the best breeder of draft horses. I have been raising all I can of them, but can not supply the demand. I have sold the last colt sold enough to go to the city at from $150 to $300. Cars will be taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur.

appay as anyone can be on earth. I love Jesse's Fallington, and if she had not been his fiancée, my love demands that I should have married her. As I told you before, I love more Heaven and earth than you get it out of. I love the world and its people, but what they may. I love her heart and her—Howard M. Hope, in "Faiske" Daily.

Trained Dogs in War.

Dogs in some instances carry a considerable load of supplies and are trained to lead to the collar, and this certainly seems to have the advantage of securing the attention of the soldier. The amount of attention; where the latter letter case hanging from the collar, or the two leather pockets attached to the collar, and the collar and kept in position by a second strap across the chest, though, of course, the dog is not to be used as a undoubtedly more convenient, documents, more liable to render the dog an object of suspicion and a mark for a bullet. The dog is trained to lead under the strap dog is enabled to carry a small case of ammunition, and is thus made useful in many ways. The dog is also equipped on his collar with a whistle, which is blown by the soldier, the military postman. Some sanguine officers even hope that dogs may be trained to lead the soldiers through the heat of battle, to bring fresh supplies to the fighters, regardless of the danger to themselves. It is true that dogs from shell and bullets, it would seem, are not very likely to survive as war carriers to bring drink to the wounded army. —"Lying," Black to be had to elect. The problem with the parties, then, is to add to the class as sure for either party a group of voters who will vote for the party.

The vote has been enlarged by 35 per cent since 1888 by the appointment and retention of judges, and by the election of 30 senators, all of which are conceded to the republicans except the three in Montana. The republicans are in the majority in 17 of the 20 gubernatorial appointments, 19 of the 20 in the appointment. They gain in the entire addition 39 to 10 for the democrats. The republicans have 10 of the old figures, that make the total additions in their favor somewhat more than 50.

On the basis of the elections of 1890, the republicans have 186 and the democrats 58 in the electoral votes. In the calculation of the electoral votes, New York and New Jersey have carried them at the two largest elections. Indiana gave 30,000 at the election in 1890, and Michigan 20,000. Michigan is divided, 10 for the democrats and ten for the republicans. It is less by one, at least, than the other states, and they will have one of the largest for the state at large. This is the largest electoral vote in the United States, except Massachusetts, and is the probable presidential result. The republicans will have 173 in the electoral vote, and the democrats 127. The republicans have 173 in the electoral vote, and the democrats 127.

The republicans are given all the state, except Massachusetts.

locking amid this great mass of loose delegates is likely to give the vote of the majority of the caucus members the force of the caucus. Chicago Times.

Texas grows more wool than any other State in the Union, and its representatives voted for free wool.

The sheep raisers of that great Commonwealth think that the good of the State would be promoted by a tariff on wool.

Invited by the great confidence which the millionaire owners of the city have placed in him, the Mayor of Detroit Free Press.

There is a very little doubt that Harrison is prepared to force his will upon the country, and that, in enthusiasm, he represents nothing particular which any other common man would not represent, and he is not a man of a very high general machine. This will suffice for the convention. As to what he will do, that is another matter. When the alternative of sin or nobility is presented to the nation, Harrison undoubtedly will choose the latter.

The worst aspect of the Rhode Island election is the usual assertion that it was won by a coalition. The fact certainly exists that a coalition is made after every important election, and the Rhode Island election shows the general belief in the fact. The Rhode Island election, which the charge is received is a warning sign. The corruption which it implies is a much more serious matter than the fact of a coalition, or of any particular measure of politics.

THE PARTY'S CHOICE.

The great preference of democratic voters is to elect a feature of the electoral vote to night, because the electoral college is the only body that comes in the main from the other side.

It is well at this time to elaborate this point. The vote cast for Cleveland in 1896 was a record. Of these the southern states cast but 1,900,544. There are in round numbers a million and a half more in the north. There are in the north. Their distribution by states, those not voting in 1896, is as follows:

California	117,728	New Jersey	31,496
Colorado	27,700	New York	53,813
Connecticut	10,000	Pennsylvania	100,000
Delaware	1,000	Rhode Island	10,000
District of Columbia	10,000	Texas	100,000
Florida	10,000	Vermont	10,000

Democratic vote in the north, 1,900,544.

Democratic vote in the south, 1,900,544.

The aggregate of votes in the North and South will probably be about 12,000,000.

JUDGE LYNCH.

DEATH Outraged in Two Courts in West Virginia. Red Smith Caught and Stripped. Partner Partner to Death.

NATASHAW, W. Va., May 13.—Caught, condemned and executed by Judge Lynch, is the fitting finale of the tragedy committed on Laurel Creek, near Fair, West Virginia, by the late Red Smith Saturday night last, when he killed Lester Fields to get possession of his revolver. Deputy Sheriff Meade started on Smith's trail soon after the murder was committed, and caught him fifteen miles below the scene of his crime.

AN INLAND SEA.

FEARFUL DESTRUCTION Wrought By the Constantly Swelling River.

THOUSANDS of Acres of Growing Wheat Under Water—Ten Miles Wide the Inland Sea of the River—Many Homes Ruined.

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—The river at 10 a. m. Sunday measured 34.9 feet and is still rising at the rate of 10 feet an hour. On the dock most all perishable goods have been removed, so that in the city proper but little more damage can be done, except such as is naturally occasioned by flooded basements, etc.

[FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS.] KENTUCKY STATE NEWS.

Legislative Proceedings.
FRANKFURT, May 16.—SENATE.—A resolution was offered by Mr. Miller, providing for a committee of five to investigate regarding the advisability of reannexing the inmates of the freedmen's institution for reformation, who are otherwise providing for their return and converting the institution into an asylum for the female inmates of INSANE ASYLUM. A joint resolution to adjourn sine die, June 1, was defeated by a vote of 10 to 12. The president appointed Meems, Patterson and Parker to introduce a bill to amend the act of 1905, which was also sponsored by Messrs. Mulligan, May, Smith, Roberts and Daum a committee on the part of the senate to receive the petition to be presented by citizens of the state to the governor to be authorized to fund common school lands was read and referred. It shows a balance on hand of $175, 242.95 against $192, 518.28 two years ago.

HOUSE.—Mr. Sims, of the judiciary committee, presented a bill for the purpose of providing for the building of a bridge across the Kentucky river at Jackson, Breathitt county, a general bill allowing counties to borrow money for the purpose of building bridges. The substitute was passed, and the bill, being passed.

On its passage, was passed by a unanimous vote. The revision commission's bill on license fees for the use of the land of the heirs or personal representatives of a person who may die while holding a license may continue the business until the license expires. Mr. Walton's bill providing for the regulation of co-operative insurance companies was passed.

FRANKFURT, May 17.—SENATE.—The report of the committee on geological survey, the same as that reported by the house, was presented. In connection with the report and the bill the president presented the report of the state inspector on the sale of the survey publications.

more must be reported to the State.

The Senate has received the bill, and on June 28, 1906, nearly all the votes by which the amendment was passed were cast in its defense.

the speaker against Mr. Keen, president of the committee of Philadelphia auditors, who had introduced a resolution for the payment of the expenses of the committee to receive the palliages to be presented by the state of Pennsylvania, city of Philadelphia to the Keen Committee. The speaker said that the committee of Philadelphia auditors had levied a per cent. for general purposes down the line of the bill, and that the resolution from the auditor was read. The report shows a deficit on April 30 of $72,891.77, and states that on June 30 there will be a deficit of $20,000. The current expenses of the committee will be met by the state. He estimates that it will be necessary to assess 5 cents additional for this year.

FRANKFORD, May 18.—Senator William Franklin, introduced a resolution to provide for the payment of the expenses of the committee to receive the palliages to be presented by the state of Pennsylvania, city of Philadelphia to the Keen Committee. The speaker said that the committee of Philadelphia auditors had company the paintings. The resolution was adopted, and Senator Smith introduced a resolution providing that no business other than the redemption and taxation bill, the judiciary redistricting bill, the revision commission report on the corporation and the election bill. The resolution passed by a vote of 31 to 25 against the majority.

HOUSE.—The house had another lively tussle over the tax-rate bill to-day. Mr. Gardner of Ohio, introduced a resolution to amend the tax-rate bill, so that the tax should be assessed on the dollar, but it was defeated by a vote of 31 for to 45 against. The Hanks amendment, for a three cent increase, was discharging freight at Rising Sun

on the day mentioned.

The Marshal was acquainted with

Huey and had learned that he was on the boat and was laying for him.

When arrested Huey pretended that he did not know that he had killed

Ewalt, and inquired if he was badly hurt. When told he had killed his man, he claimed that it was done in self defense, that Ewalt shot at him

three times before he fired at him.

When searched a knife was found on

Huey, and being asked if it was the one with which he did the killing he said it was. He was taken to be brought back to Kentucky.

Friday morning arrangements were made for holding an examining trial, but the prisoner consented to waive an examination, and County

Judge Baker fixed his bail at $2,000, which he is not likely to give.

Marshal Murdoch went to Big Bone

to see about the payment of the reward, and found that about $50 had been pledged, $15 of which was paid to him, and arrangements made for the collection of the remainder.

The indications are that Huey is in a close place, but as all the indications in the case are negative it is hard to tell what he will be able to prove when the trial comes off.

County Surveyor Vest and the writer

made a trip to Hamilton last Thursday to locate several lots that looked as though farm work had been abandoned

ed. North of Gunpowder one man was seen plowing corn, while in the field adjoining two or three were planting. Starting across the Gunpowder plains, J. W. Smith, of Middletown, Ben

Rue, Geo. L. Smith and W. H. Smith

had a force of hands planting tobacco.

These two scenes constituted the farm work discovered in progress between Burlington and Hamilton.

At Normansville a 40 pound sack of wheat was being viewed by a crowd of men who had collected to do their trading and discuss the topics of the day while the ground was getting in a condition to work. The steam mill at this place has been repaired and refitted, and now presents a promising appearance. It is said it is making a fine grade of flour.

The gentlemen who are operating the mill are popular with the people in that section, and the indications are the mill has entered upon an era of prosperity.

Hamilton was reached and the surveying party organized with B. W.

Adams, as captain and S. J. Ewalt, county engineer, and work was at once begun, but by the time the surveyor had plotted the party around one lot, operations were suspended by a dreary rain which lasted for about an hour, and which time the Burlington commissioner was most anxious to get at the hospitable residence of B. W.

Adams.

After noon a brief walk was made at the residence of Geo. W. Garrett, who lived in Hamilton, as far back as 1839, at which time it was a place of much greater commercial importance than now. He has lived to see the murky waters of the Ohio river plains, and the town's river front, and carry it way until half a century ago,

when it was a small, insignificant place, and has disappeared, and some of the lot owners have about lost all claim on Hamilton really. Mr. Garrett and his wife are enjoying the best of health,

but he is able to do but little work.

With considerable assistance Rev.

David Blythe made his first trip up last Saturday, going as far as the postoffice. He is gradually improving and it is hoped that he will soon be able to walk without assistance.

Mrs. Alice Stowell, of the Point

Pleasant neighborhood, was in town of the jurors compared the accused to Christ, saying the latter "had no show, either did Mase."

"At one time a fight was narrowly averted between two of the debating jurors.

"One of the jurors, it is said, so far forgot the purpose of the Masonic order that he appealed to his brother jurors as a Mason.

"Immediately after discharging the jury, the Judge called a special term of court for the second Monday in July to try the case. The prisoner was, also immediately taken by the sheriff to

There will be a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of Boone county, in the Court House, in Burlington, Kentucky, at 2 o'clock p. m., on Saturday, June 11, 1892. New and important business will be before the Committee for consideration, and a full attendance is earnestly requested.

J. G. FURNER, Chairman.

The agency will soon be over among the Republicans.

The Louisville base ball club has adopted the "down shoot," and is playing it successfully.

The Rising Sun Recorder came out last Saturday in a bran new suit. The Recorder, like whisky, gets better as it ages.

The Cleveland delegates from New York will stay in the Chicago convention, about as long as an icicle would stay in hades.

This political anchor that have been cast by some of the Republican bosses during the last thirty days, have not been conducive of much pleasure to Mr. Harrison.

COL. SAM GAINES is presiding over the editorial department of the Commonwealth. He has been out of the harness for some time, but he will feel perfectly natural on the tripod.

The very large wheat crop in this part of the county is now at the most critical period in its growth. Favorable weather will be very necessary for the safety of that particular crop.

THAT dreadful disease, small pox, has appeared in several Ohio towns and killed a number of people. The larger cities are guarding against the scourge, and expect to be able to keep it beyond their jurisdiction. May they succeed.

It took President Harrison only two minutes and a half to accept Blaine's resignation as Secretary of State. The acceptance was not couched in sentences laudatory of Blaine's management of State affairs, and it was easy to read between the lines what Mr. Harrison thinks of Blaine's action in regard to the Presidency.

In the Kentucky Democratic had not settled the Carlisle ship at Louisville last month, he would have had a pretty good show for success at Chicago. Although those who should have put their shoulders to the wheel in his interest did not, he is still believed to be heard from in the Chicago derby.

His candidates and machine men had the town Monday, and in the afternoon Hon. John Green, of Owen county, candidate for Circuit Judge, and M. D. Gray, candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney, addressed a fair number of the Boone county yeomanry, presenting their respective claims upon the offices to which they aspire. Their speeches were well received.

Since the Harrison and Blaine factions of the Republican party have gone to war with one another, it will hardly be worth while for the Democrats to go to the trouble and expense of holding a convention to nominate a candidate for the Presidency, as all the aspirants in the party can now run without endangering party success. The Blaine-Harrison trouble is a very serious matter with their party, and one that is highly pleasing to the Democrats.

WHERE the Democrats in New York engaged fighting the Republicans as hard as they are fighting among themselves, the Republicans would be cleaned out horse, foot and dragon in that State next November, and there would be no question about Mr. Harrison's successor being a Democrat. It is apparent that New York Democrats are not willing to make the smallest sacrifice in the interest of their party at large. They are for themselves first, last and all the time.

Has the Daily Commonwealth succeeded in starting the wheels of time to turning backward? One day last week the exchanges were brought in immediately after the arrival of the mail, and the Commonwealth slipped out of its wrapper. A tale twang to the news, something very unusual for that paper, was soon discovered, and upon referring to the date line it was found to be the issue of January 20 last. But little would have been thought of this occurrence had not the issue of January 24th waited in on the next day.

The following from the Cleveland Advertiser shows, somewhat, the admiration of Harrison and his friends for Mr. Blaine:

The willingness of Mr. Blaine to betray President Harrison is not doubted. That he should hold a place in the cabinet while playing into the hands of his political enemies is accepted as perfectly natural and unworthy of comment or defense. The prospect of his giving way to pitiable weakness in changing his mind at this late hour, heralded as great good fortune. And this is the spirit of the boom for Blaine. It is the spirit of treachery, trickery, cruelty and deception. But it is the spirit upon which the only hope of Republican success depends. It is Blaine or bust.

When the last Ohio State campaign was yet but a few days old Senator Sherman was called home to sound the Republican key-note for that campaign. His speech on that occasion was devoted, principally, to what he then pleased to call the financial policies of the Republican and Democratic parties, charging that the latter was committed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, emphasizing the charge, at various points in the key-note, that the Democratic party would visit a dire calamity upon this country should it be successful in its efforts to bring about the free coinage of silver. The Senator, believing that Ohio was opposed to the free coinage of silver, recognized free coinage as the leading party-issue of the day. But how is it with Senator Sherman now? He is not certain as to how the silver cat is going to jump in some of the Western States in the approaching Presidential campaign, and he is now declaring from his place in the United States Senate that the free coinage of silver is not a party question—that it does not belong to politics at all. It is strange that a man of Mr. Sherman's ability should be so erratic. But he is now talking to catch the Republicans of free silver politicians.

[Kentucky Journal.]
As to Carlisle and Louisville and the Journal, the Boone county Recorder says:

"The Journal has not given up the ship, notwithstanding it was deserted by the officers at the port at Louisville."

The officers, not deserting the ship, were simply gathered at the wheel waiting the fogs to clear away. It is not worth while wondering who caused the mists and fogs, nor whether the fogs were purely in the imagination—they are there no longer.

The Syracuse bait has cleared them up. They have risen and the rocks of Hill and Cleveland will be avoided. New York has pointed the way to defeat with either favor or disfavor. Neither the rust, nor machine delegates for Hill, nor the bolting Syracuse delegation for Cleveland will dictate the nomination.

Will Kentucky vote for Hill at Chicago? Or will she vote to eat a bolting delegation and vote for the candidate presented by it? Will she cast her fortune with Tammany, the regular machine, or with Syracuse, the bolting machine? Will Kentucky take the goods New York provides at Chicago just because New York provides them?

If Grover Cleveland and the rust, taken to another world where there is no Tammany, he would be no further removed from availability at the candidate for the Democratic party than he is to day. It is unnecessary to discuss to whom or to what he is indebted for his removal from the range of possibilities; it is there and that is all sufficient.

And with Cleveland out, who is there but Carlisle? Mr. Cleveland's acquiescing in the call for the Syracuse convention has not advanced his political interests. Had he discouraged the move from its inception it would have been much better for him at this time. His delegates from New York are the offering of opposition to party organization and will not be entitled to recognition at Chicago, and will serve to widen the breach in the Democratic ranks in New York, and imperil party success in the event his nomination is made by the States other than New York. Hill's boom commenced to dwindle shortly after the New York State convention, and what some pronounced a very fine piece of political work soon developed into an ignominious failure, and would have resulted in no injury to Cleveland had not his friends been so anxious to crush Hill as to lose their respect for party faith and organization and organize a bolt. Had the Cleveland forces in New York pursued the proper tactics Hill and his forces would have been thoroughly harmless ere this, and Cleveland's star would have been much farther in the ascendancy. But, handicapped as he is it is not certain that Cleveland will not be the Democratic nominee for the Presidency.

With Cleveland and Hill out of the contest at Chicago, as suggested by the Journal, there will still be opposition to Carlisle right here in Kentucky. It was in the Louisville convention that Jim McKim, with a sneer, declared that Carlisle can never be President. This only a straw showing which way the wind is blowing. If John G. Carlisle is not a strong man, with in his party it is doubtful whether attributes are essential to political popularity.

Mr. HARRISON now has a very poor opinion of the gentlemen from Maine. He does not consider it safe to take him at what he says in public print. The President felt very well after reading Blaine's letter in which he declared his name would not be presented to the Minneapolis convention, but he did not enjoy his comfort very long, before the clouds again began to thicken and a Republican "twister," with his trusted Secretary of State as a nucleus, began forming. There was an ominous rumbling in the distance, and the President began to again grow uneasy and suspicious of his chief Cabinet officer whom he saw was being pressed to become a candidate for the nomination for the Presidency. Harrison's friends pretended to believe that Blaine would write another letter refusing to permit his name to be used in the National convention, and the President hoped he would but hoped in vain. The storm burst came, and Blaine was swept from the cabinet, while the tears of the friends of the Administration were realized. The fun had now begun, there being no longer any doubt about Blaine being a candidate for the nomination, and his lieutenants expecting a stampede of delegates to him. Why Blaine remained in the President's official household until so late in the day is considered a trick to give his managers a chance to set up the pins for him while those not on the inside supposed that he was loyal to Harrison.

About two months ago Dr. J. W. Hall, of Erlanger, commenced the discussion of the necessities for a bank at that thriving town. The proposition to establish the bank at once met with favor, and the Doctor soon had subscription papers in the hands of proper persons to solicit subscriptions of stock. The capital stock was fixed at fifty thousand dollars and was soon taken. In response to a call for that purpose the stockholders met last Saturday and organized by electing W. H. Baker president; E. H. Blankenbecker, J. W. Kennedy, J. E. Walton, F. A. Utz, J. T. Craven, J. Whitney Hall and Daniel Beiler, directors. The bank is well officered, has a good location, and no doubt, do a paying business from the opening. The name of the new bank is the Erlanger Deposit Bank.

The Courier-Journal's centennial edition was a great stroke of newspaper enterprise, but it is capable of astonishing the natives on any occasion.

The Commissioner of Agriculture has sent out the following report showing the condition of the growing crops in this State June 1: Wheat—The large majority of correspondents report the finest prospects they ever had; some report too much rain and too much growth, which has caused it to fall. It is making fine heads, will be fall to harvest, and if the weather is favorable and it escapes the wind and frost, will make a large yield. The reports from the spring wheat region are unfavorable, the crop will be planted very late. There is nothing that improves the yield of wheat more than a change of seed. Would be glad to have suggestions from correspondents as to some new variety—102 per cent. Corn—Corn is the crop more to be relied on than any other crop in this State, and is generally all planted early; but at least one-third or two-thirds of the crop is planted late. HEBRON.

Last week notices were posted in several prominent places that there would be a meeting in Hebron on the evening of June 25th to consider the organization of a Democratic Club.

In response to this call a large crowd assembled on the above named evening at the hall of the Hebron branch band.

At the suggestion of Dr. Gordon Mr. Israel Warner, Sr., was elected temporary chairman and B. F. Bedinger temporary secretary.

Dr. Gordon in a short and concise speech stated the object of the meeting to be the organization of a Democratic Club to be based upon the platform of the Chicago convention.

A motion was then made and carried that we elect the following named officers—president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. The officers were all elected by acclamation—Dr. Gordon, Pres.; J. A. Rouse, Secy.; B. F. Bedinger, Treas.; and B. C. Whitlock, Secy.

J. O. Clure then read the Democratic Platform, which was received by the crowd with applause.

A call for the names of those wishing to become members of the club was made, and met with a hearty response—ninety-three members being enrolled.

A committee composed of J. D. Clure, Will Clure and Will Stevens, were appointed to arrange for a complete and permanent organization.

J. C. Clure then addressed the club in his usual flowery and pleasing manner, and was loudly applauded.

On motion it was ordered that the proceedings of this meeting be published in the RECORDER.

A motion was made and carried that Mr. Israel Warner, Sr., and J. C. Clure be made honorary members of the club.

It was then suggested that the club be named, and after considerable discussion it was decided to name it the Hebron Democratic Club.

On motion and second the secretary was ordered to invite Hon. P. E. Cason and M. D. Gray to address the club Saturday evening, July 9th. An invitation was also extended to the Union branch to meet with the club at its own pleasure.

A motion was made and carried, to invite all Democrats of Boone county to become members of the club, after the meeting adjourned to meet July 2. B. F. BEDINGER, Secy.

Mrs. Jas. Huey is entertaining three very charming young ladies—Miss Lulu in Crouch and Miss Harbison, of Warsaw, and Miss Haw, of Tont.

Miss Theresa Lassing has just returned from a delightful visit to Covington and Anderson. She was accompanied home by Judge Kincaid, of Danville, Ky., who was the pleasant and entertaining guest of "Elm Tree Place" for a few days. The Judge had a very unexpected pleasure in meeting Dr. Cleveland, of Cincinnati, who had been a graduate at Central College and Harvard with him, and both gentlemen had many pleasant adventures to relate that had occurred in their journeys at home and in European lands.

The "Pink Tint" on last Thursday eve was a success in every respect. There was quite a large crowd present, and every one seemed to have a good time. The hall was beautifully decorated and everything draped in pink.

Behind a tower of flowers and evergreens at the harp, Enoch, the sweet music was quite a feature of the entertainment. The young ladies looked lovely in their pink caps and aprons, and assisted by the young gentlemen were entering in their efforts in serving the guests. The cake and ice cream were delicious and in abundance.

The ladies of the Society feel very grateful to the gentlemen who so kindly assisted and to the ladies outside of their church who donated ice-cream and cake.

CARROLL COUNTY.

Democrat.

One of the most tragic accidents in the history of Ghent occurred there last Friday evening between 7 and 8 o'clock, of which Mrs. C. B. Crawford was the victim. Her cow becoming enraged attacked her in a most vicious manner and gored her fearfully before help could reach her. The wounds inflicted are of a serious character and the patient is in a critical condition yet hope for her recovery is entertained. The cow had a young calf.

Crawford had approached the brute to milk her and in so doing was her victim. The animal had only one horn, but this made many great ugly gashes in various parts of her body. Doctor Brown who attended her and dressed the wounds, stated that even to the best of his skill he never seen a body so badly mutilated.

GRANT COUNTY.

Courier.—Wheat harvest will be up on us by next week.

Some of our Williamson boys went to Linton last week and as they did not think to provide themselves with return tickets they are there yet.

There never was a better outlook for a crop in this section than at the present time. Nearly all the tobacco is set and corn is looking well, what is beginning to turn, reminding us that harvest is upon us.

Seventy-two ear loads of cattle passed through here Tuesday evening for points in the East. They were few fellows, and most of them were stop fed and came from distilleries on the Kentucky river.

DEARBORN CO., IND.

Independent.—The wheat crop is now ready for the reaper.

Last Saturday evening when Mrs. Clay Miller returned home from Aurora she discovered that a large swarm of bees had settled on a cornstalk in the south side of her house.

The column is hollow and a small crevice between it and the house makes it a splendid bee-hive of magnificent proportions. The bees were left to their own sweet will and seem to be happy and permanently located at and in the top of the column.

The notorious "blind desperado," Thomas Acra, drifted past Aurora in a stage last Sunday day last week and shouted his compliments to those on shore and said he would stop when he came back. Less than a half dozen years ago he was given a pension of $14,000 a year for meritorious service in the army. He is to be paid the sum to the sheriff to pay judgments no less than ten different judgments standing against him. Acra is living on a shanty boat, somewhere along the river, having abandoned the farm sometime ago.

OWN COUNTY.

News.—There will probably be three days of racing here this summer.

There was quite a good deal of tobacco put in last week throughout the county, but nothing like what would have been last season because more favorable and general.

As it stands now, the county has out more than three-fifths of a crop and if it is not seasonable within a week, the chances for an average or two thirds of an average crop are slim.

A daring and as bold a robbery as was ever undertaken in Owen county, occurred last Friday night on Owen creek, about 4 miles from Lusk's Mill. It has been receiving letters from all of the prospective candidates wanting father of Dr. J. D. Keightley, of this place. The thief forced open the door of the room in which Capt. Keightley was sleeping and threw out the lamp and grabbed a small stand table, near the old man's bed, and made good his escape. He ran about fifteen feet into the front yard and burst open the drawer, in which was between $500 and $700. Capt. Keightley was awakened, but because of his slight lameness he could not recognize the thief. The family have their suspicions, but do not care to make known whom they suspect. It is evident that it was some one who knew the whereabouts of the money.

We are requested to announce that the managers of the Camp Meeting, which begins at Parlor Grove, August 5th, have made arrangements to carry passengers from Petersburg and from Cincinnati, Covington and other points along the river to the meeting for 25 cents round trip.

Some are doing cutting wheat.

The Farmers' Alliance expects to out a considerable figure in the Presidential contest this fall.

FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS

First Session.

WASHINGTON, JUNE 28.—S. STATE.—The presidential campaign was fairly started in the senate to-day on the basis of Mr. Ha'e's resolution asserting the great benefits resulting to the people of the United States from the republican policy, as enunciated in 1860, of free trade, free coin-

House—Congressman Pattison introduced a bill providing for the creation of a board of tariff commissioners of twelve members to be appointed by the president, with the approval of the senate, each for the term of ten years. The board is to be non-partisan, no one being eligible who is an importer or holds stock in a mill or manufactory. The board is to be in continuous session during the whole year for the purpose of considering all the interests of the country in relation to the duties and values of the people, increasing agriculture, commerce and manufacturing, and is to make an annual recommendation to congress, and is to recommend the adjustment and change of the tariff as it may deem proper, but in no event shall the commission recommend a tariff on any product greater than will cover the difference in the cost of labor between the United States and foreign countries, taking into consideration also the difference in the value of the capital actually employed.

appropriation bill, was agreed to (without remark or question), just as soon as the reading of it was finished by the clerk. Then the legislative appropriation bill, which had been left in an unfinished condition the day before, with several important amendments pending, was taken up, and in about an hour all the amendments had been acted upon and the bill passed. The pension appropriation bill was taken up and passed in still shorter measure, although not until some very important facts as to the rate at which the pension business is growing and as to its probable cost within a few years had been stated.

Senators Stewart, Gorman and Cockrell. Pending the discussion on the pension bill there were two executive sessions held, the features of which was the confirmation of Secretary W. Foster's nomination. The post office appropriation bill was taken up and passed, the amendment striking out the appropriation for the fast mail service and inserting a new section to combine the third and fourth class matter into one class. (The third) having been severely rejected. The bill for the free coinage of silver was taken up, and unanimous consent was given that a vote be taken on bill.

HORSE—For the second time within a week the house today rejected a report of one of its conference committees on a general appropriation bill. The Indian appropriation bill, upon which an agreement had been reached, was again sent to conference—the purpose of the house being (as it was defined by a prominent member of the committee on appropriation) to show the senate that it would not be forced into making appropriations which would equal or exceed the appropriations of the last Congress. A couple of boys were consumed in the WASHINGTON, June 30.—SENATE—The senate committee on the Columbian exposition ordered a favorable report on the Palmer bill in aid of the World's Columbian exposition. The bill is practically the same as that agreed upon by the house committee, and makes an aggregate appropriation of $5,511,193, including an issue of 10,000,000 silver half-dollar coin for pieces. The committee included in the bill an amendment reading: "The exposition to be closed on Sep-

HORSE—Representative Cummings' bill to equalize the pay of letter carriers was favorably reported to the house to-day from the committee on post office and post roads. The bill fixes the pay of letter carriers in all cities where free delivery has been or may be established at $603 for the first year, $650 for the second year, $1,000 for the third year and for the fourth year and thereafter $1,300. The cost of the amendment not less than this amount

WASHINGTON, July 1.—SENATE.—The State bill for the free coinage of silver passed the senate at a late hour this afternoon by the decisive vote of 29 to 23, after one of the hottest parliamentary battles that the senate has ever witnessed. Seven democrats—Brist, Cassin, Gorman, Gray, Palmer, McPherson and White—voted with the republicans against free coinage. Eleven republicans—the representatives of the silver states of the northwest—voted with the democrats in favor of free coinage. Senator Edmund C. Yates, who is the author of the bill, said:

The bill as passed reads as follows: "That the owner of silver bullion may deposit the same at any mint of the United States to be coined for his benefit, and it shall be the duty of the proper officers, upon the terms and conditions which are provided by law for the deposit and coinage of gold, to coin such bullion into the standard dollars authorized by the act of February 3, 1875, and to deliver to the depositor the same."

standard silver dollar and to remove its less tender character; and such coins shall be ~~not used~~ for all debts and public and private. The act of July 14, 1900, entitled "an act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes," is hereby repealed. Provided, That the secretary of the treasury shall proceed to have coined all the silver bullion in the treasury purchased with silver or coin certificates.

HOUSE.—The house to-day got down to business and passed what is known as the coinage bill.

A Knotty Question.

land his wife, whom he but recently married in China. Bot says that he met the girl in Marysville, Cal., five years ago and they became betrothed. Her parents took her to China for a proper education. A few months ago they were wedded. He came back with his wife and her young sister. His own papers were all right, but the custom house records had no mention of the departure of his bride five years ago.

OUR TICKET.

For President:
GROVER CLEVELAND,
of New York.
For Vice-President:
A. E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

Two committees in Kenton county are trying to conduct the affairs of the Democracy in that ballwick.

The Congressional campaign in this district is taking a rest. Nothing has been heard in regard thereto for some time.

The Owen County Democratic Executive Committee has ordered the primary election in that county held by secret ballot.

The Auditor and Treasurer of this State announced last Thursday that until further notice the payment of all claims against the Treasury would be suspended.

The head of each of the national tickets were nominated on the first ballot. First ballot nominations seem to be the rule this season, but it is not apt to prevail in this district in the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Congress.

Gov. CHASE, of Indiana, was nominated last week, by the Republicans of that State for the office which he now holds. There was considerable opposition to the person, but not enough to prevent his nomination on the first ballot.

The State of Indiana will be carried by Mr. Harrison this fall if a distribution of the offices at his command in Indiana can save his political bacon. About all that is necessary for an Indiana man to do now is to name the office he desires.

In 1872 the Prohibition candidate for the Presidency polled 5,608 votes. That party's vote has steadily increased, polling two hundred and forty-nine thousand votes at the election in 1888, and they expect to poll one hundred thousand votes at the November election.

All of that Tammany hostility towards Cleveland, about which so much has been said, and which has been quite comforting to the Republicans, seems to be confined to a very few, and by the time the campaign is fairly under way, that entire organization will be in line for Grover and Adlai.

The Republicans realize they have a very hard fight to make this fall, and are exhorting those heretofore fighting in their ranks to remain true to their colors. They are uneasy about the result this fall, while the Democrats are becoming more confident of success day by day.

THREE national tickets are now in the field, and the fourth is now incubating at Omaha, Nebraska. The ticket that is nominated at Omaha may tangle matters somewhat for the Democratic and Republican demand for free coinage of silver in the South and West.

The cholera is epidemic in Russia, and its ravages are rapidly increasing. The disease is traveling towards this country, and now is the time to commence to head it off. Keep everything about your premises free from a disease-breeding condition, and there is little to fear from such diseases.

THERE is a better prospect for the election of the President to be thrown into the Lower House of Congress than there has been at any time since the war, and in the event such a thing should take place, the country would be given a Democrat President and a Republican Vice-President.

The McKinley bill has been an utter failure in so far as bettering the condition of the laborers employed by the millionaire Carnegie is concerned. Thousands of his men are out of employment. They have submitted to reduction after reduction by the protected millionaire, until forced to go on a strike for bread and principle.

"MORMON preachers," says the Marion Press, "are continuing to make frequent visits to this county, and their doctrine is preached earnestly by their itinerant apostles. The people generally give them a respectful hearing in order to learn something of their teachings, and the preachers themselves are treated with the utmost courtesy, and are hospitably entertained. They are, however, making no converts."

among the people of Crittenden county.

THE Republican National Committee has been reorganized, and Mr. Clarkson given the grand bureau as chairman. He certainly should have expected nothing else after his hard fight against Mr. Harrison's renomination. The President does not propose to hazard any of his political interests with such fellows as Clarkson. He has too much political sagacity for that.

Those who are censuring the Legislature on account of its protracted session at Frankfort should bear in mind that that body is not responsible for the law that controls its deliberations. The new constitution ties the hands of the lawmakers so they are compelled to proceed slowly. Lay the blame for delay in Legislation at the door of those to whom it belongs.

THE Legislature has passed both the election bill and the redistricting bill and they have been signed by the Governor. This judicial district is composed of Boone, Carroll, Gallatin, Grant and Owen counties, while Kentucky and Campbell are a separate district. That arrangement of the counties is certainly very proper, and is entirely satisfactory to the people of Boone.

THE Prohibition party held its national convention in Cincinnati last week and nominated General John Bidwell, of California, for President, and J. B. Cranfill, of Texas, for Vice-President. The head of this ticket is also a Presbyterian. The Third Parties, who they select their candidate for the Presidency, ought to have him of the same religious persuasion as the other three.

WEED before last the RECORDER gave its readers a full report of the proceedings of the Republican National Convention; last week it told them all about the doings of the Democrats at Chicago; this week it contains the proceedings of the Prohibitors at Cincinnati, and next week it will be along with the proceedings of the People's Party. That is doing very well for a county paper, thank you.

THE President has filled the vacancy in his cabinet occasioned by the resignation of Hon. James G. Blaine, by appointing John W. Foster, of Indiana, to be Secretary of State. Foster was not an obscure Indian, but his appointment to such an exalted position was a surprise to many who expected the President to take into his official family the ablest man he could induce to accept the appointment, but his official life having been overshadowed by the towering intellect of his former Secretary of State, Mr. Harrison does not want a continuation of that experience during the next month he will remain in the White House. He claimed that the same political selfishness that alienated Quay, Clarkson and Dudley, and caused Blaine to step down out, prompted the appointment of Foster.

In this issue appears the announcement of Hon. Warren M. Montfort as a candidate for re-nomination for Circuit Judge in this Judicial District. In the selection of a Circuit Judge the people of the district can not be too careful in making their choice. The new constitution will be constantly presenting itself for construction, and they will want a man at the helm on such occasions whose ability has been tried and proven, and for whose judgment his past record is a guarantee. Judge Montfort is an industrious and painstaking official, whose career as Circuit Judge has gained for this Judicial District the distinction of being the most economically handled Judicial District in the State. This shows that he is mindful of the interest of the people whom he serves. The Judge is now asking at the hands of the Democrats of the District an endorsement of an efficient and faithful record as a public servant.

With tears in his eyes, and downy cheeks in the Courier Journal Mr. Watterson pleaded that Kentucky should instruct for her peerless and favorite son, Carlisle, who according to those self-same double leads, was cast in an heroic mold of mind and fitness, and worthy of any honor that his fellow-citizens could, or the Democratic party might, confer on him. And yet, when Mr. Watterson went to Chicago not one vote did he cast for Carlisle. He was for Boies, who was never in the race, first, last and the time, and against Cleveland just the same way. Mr. Watterson is apparently gifted with much better hind-sight than fore-sight.

The Times should not be too rapid. It may yet develop that Mr. Watterson was misrepresented in the Courier Journal after the same manner in which it is claimed he was in regard to certain statements made by him at Chicago during the convention. But about the most ludicrous thing in regard to the efforts of some of Mr. Watterson's friends to appropriate to his use and benefit the honor that justly belongs to Hon. Larry T. Neal, of Ohio, on account of the tariff plank will create considerable discussion.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1892.

The business of Congress has been vigorously pushed the past week, and the House will be ready to adjourn by the last of this month if too much time is not consumed by the Senate doctoring the House bills now awaiting action in that body. Politics will almost likely to cause some delay, as the intention is expressed on the Republican side to inject some campaign speeches into the Record before adjournment, and, of course, these will be replied to from the other side. Senator Hale led off early in the week with an effort in that direction, but it was a feeble one. The feeling here is that we are going to have a hard contest this campaign and the Republicans are far from being easy in their minds. Their end of the pole is a "dumb stile" the shortest as things now appear.

Postmaster General Wanamaker has made a hard fight against the provisions of the postage appropriation bill to provide for the fast mail service now carried out between Tampa, Florida, and Springfield, Massachusetts, and benefiting the people of the entire Atlantic coast States. In this manner he presents the rather unusual spectacle of a cabinet officer laboring to decrease the efficiency of the service rendered by his department. Mr. Wanamaker was at the capital early in the week button-holing the Republican Senators and trying to secure the passage of the bill in a shape acceptable to him. On the other hand several business men from the section affected by the measure were urging upon Senators of both parties the necessity of restoring the provisions of this service which the Senate committee has stricken out. The meat of the whole matter is that the Administration wants to punish a few Democratic States in the South. The friends of the fast mail service did not propose to give up without a determined fight. They succeeded in having the Senate restore the appropriation.

The condition of the national treasury as four years Republican administration are drawing to a close presents a painful contrast with its condition four years ago. Then the Democrats had administered the financial affairs of the country for one Presidential term. The result of that honest and economical administration was the payment of millions of dollars of the national debt before it was due, and the accumulation of a surplus in the treasury of from eighty to a hundred millions of dollars in addition to the sinking funds and the hundred of millions of gold held for the redemption of greenbacks. A reduction of taxes was proposed, but the people voted for high taxes and the billion dollar Congress came in. The result of the work of the billion dollar Congress has been to squander everything except the gold reserve and about fourteen millions of gold in addition to it. The sinking funds have been raided and depleted to the extent of twenty million dollars. The obligations of the government have not been met, and a new fiscal year has begun heavy claims will be pressed for payment which the treasury will be unable to meet without misappropriating funds. The taxpayers are bled to the extent of seven hundred thousand to a million dollars every day, but this is far from sufficient to supply the greed of the taxgatherers. Ship subsidies and sugar bounties and the ever-expanding pension list must be met. The taxpayer finds no mercy.

All the resources and energies of the executive department of the government are now being directed and used wholly to secure the reelection of the President. Nothing else must interfere with this purpose, and the public business is allowed to take care of itself. The President himself is taking personal charge of every move of the campaign, and secretaries Foster and Elkins are fetching and carrying under his direction. Commissioner Carter, of the General Land Office, has been elected secretary of the National Committee, to which he must give his time and efforts, though of course his salary, as Land Commissioner, will go on just the same while some clerk performs the duties. Truly this is a civil service reform administration.

At a Republican pow-wow held the other day at the instance of President Harrison, the notables, Quay, Dudley and Clarkson were conspicuous for their absence.

The Omaha convention nominated, on the first ballot, General J. B. Weaver, of Iowa, for President, and General George J. Fields, of Virginia, for Vice-President. So the People's Party has named its team, and the fun may now begin.

The United States Senate passed a bill, last week, providing for the free coinage of silver. The bill will be reported to the House where it will create considerable discussion.

General News.

Livestock is doing well.

Growing crops, generally, are doing well in this State.

Owen county has the finest oats crop she has grown for years.

A number of horses have died in Marion county, Ohio, from a disease similar to the gripple.

A farmer in Dallas county, Alabama, makes a delicious wine from the juice of watermelons.

Some who had planted their tobacco ground in corn, planted it in tobacco last week after the rain.

The oats crop this year as indicated by government estimates, will be about 650,000,000 bushels against 755,000,000 bushels last year.

The Laurel county Swiss colonists report a larger crop of grapes this year than they have ever known even in their prosperous career.

While blasting rock near Richmond, Indiana, one day last week a man's skeleton was found astride the skeleton of a horse. The skeleton is supposed to be that of an Indian.

It is said that mulberry wood makes the most durable fence post. In Chester county, Pennsylvania, there is a farm which was inclosed with mulberry posts 35 years ago. They are still in good condition and are now supporting the sixteenth set of rails.

A steer which for weight promises to exceed another ever exhibited in this country is now being fed for exhibition at the World's Fair by Col. Singler, of the Philadelphia Record, at his farm near Philadelphia. It is estimated that this animal will weigh in the neighborhood of 5,000 pounds when fed out.

The barley crop in Woodford is nearly all harvested. The acreage is small, but the yield per acre will be large—35 to 45 bushels—and the grain is of good quality. The crop is one of the largest ever raised in this county and is in fine condition. The price offered for the new crop is 75 cents, and no farmers are selling. Old crop quoted at 85c.—Woodford Sun.

Cotton is progressing very well. Reports from the Carolinas and Georgia say that the conditions of the growing crop is excellent, and could hardly be better. Reports from the Gulf States indicate fair prospects. The weather has been on the whole favorable, though there are some complaints of the effect cold nights are having. However, early reports of decreased acreage of these States are confirmed.

The great wheat farms of the West and Northwest are to the small Eastern farmers what the great wholesale jobbing houses are to the small retail stores. The more conservative old-stale farmer opens his eyes with wonder, and perhaps shakes his head with incredulity, when he hears tales told of the immensity of the great "bonanza farms" and their wholesale method of farming. Ten thousand acres of wheat in a single field seems like a fairy tale and thirty or forty well-binding harvesters at work together seem quite beyond belief. "The Dakotas are lands of big things, big distances, big winds, big crops, big 'finjuns,' big farms."

The People's Party desired to nominate Walter G. Gresham, of Indiana, for the Presidency, but he declined the honor, greatly to the pleasure of the President and his friends in Indiana. Had Gresham allowed the People's Party to bring him forward for the Presidency he would have knocked Mr. Harrison into the consummation so far as Indiana would have been concerned. Gresham's nomination would have materially assisted the Democrats on the glorious victory they are going to achieve this fall.

The great wheat farms of the West and Northwest are to the small Eastern farmers what the great wholesale jobbing houses are to the small retail stores. The more conservative old-stale farmer opens his eyes with wonder, and perhaps shakes his head with incredulity, when he hears tales told of the immensity of the great "bonanza farms" and their wholesale method of farming. Ten thousand acres of wheat in a single field seems like a fairy tale and thirty or forty well-binding harvesters at work together seem quite beyond belief. "The Dakotas are lands of big things, big distances, big winds, big crops, big 'finjuns,' big farms."

The People's Party desired to nominate Walter G. Gresham, of Indiana, for the Presidency, but he declined the honor, greatly to the pleasure of the President and his friends in Indiana. Had Gresham allowed the People's Party to bring him forward for the Presidency he would have knocked Mr. Harrison into the consummation so far as Indiana would have been concerned. Gresham's nomination would have materially assisted the Democrats on the glorious victory they are going to achieve this fall.

General News.

Livestock is doing well.

Growing crops, generally, are doing well in this State.

Owen county has the finest oats crop she has grown for years.

A number of horses have died in Marion county, Ohio, from a disease similar to the gripple.

A farmer in Dallas county, Alabama, makes a delicious wine from the juice of watermelons.

Some who had planted their tobacco ground in corn, planted it in tobacco last week after the rain.

The oats crop this year as indicated by government estimates, will be about 650,000,000 bushels against 755,000,000 bushels last year.

The Laurel county Swiss colonists report a larger crop of grapes this year than they have ever known even in their prosperous career.

While blasting rock near Richmond, Indiana, one day last week a man's skeleton was found astride the skeleton of a horse. The skeleton is supposed to be that of an Indian.

It is said that mulberry wood makes the most durable fence post. In Chester county, Pennsylvania, there is a farm which was inclosed with mulberry posts 35 years ago. They are still in good condition and are now supporting the sixteenth set of rails.

A steer which for weight promises to exceed another ever exhibited in this country is now being fed for exhibition at the World's Fair by Col. Singler, of the Philadelphia Record, at his farm near Philadelphia. It is estimated that this animal will weigh in the neighborhood of 5,000 pounds when fed out.

The barley crop in Woodford is nearly all harvested. The acreage is small, but the yield per acre will be large—35 to 45 bushels—and the grain is of good quality. The crop is one of the largest ever raised in this county and is in fine condition. The price offered for the new crop is 75 cents, and no farmers are selling. Old crop quoted at 85c.—Woodford Sun.

Cotton is progressing very well. Reports from the Carolinas and Georgia say that the conditions of the growing crop is excellent, and could hardly be better. Reports from the Gulf States indicate fair prospects. The weather has been on the whole favorable, though there are some complaints of the effect cold nights are having. However, early reports of decreased acreage of these States are confirmed.

TAX NOTICE.

The taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that the taxes for 1902 are now due, and I am ready to collect same.

D. HALL, S. B. Co.

Splendid nights for sleeping.

We salute you, Capt. Beall.

Very small crowd in town Monday.

Nearly cool enough for a fire last Sunday.

The teachers are on the look out for fall schools.

Judge Baker did not open County Court Monday.

This weather is too pleasant to be allowed to go to waste.

Monday was a splendid day for celebrating Uncle Sam's natal day.

This is the time of the year when there is plenty of work for everybody to do.

A big fishing party from the city spent the Fourth at the forks of Gunpowder.

Peaches from the Trimble county district are being shipped to the Cincinnati market.

When you break your machinery and want repairs, call on Crisler Bros., Petersburg, Ky.

From every direction comes the report of a good rain last Saturday afternoon and night.

Without plenty of rain the blackberry crop will be almost an entire failure hereabouts.

The colored folks had a picnic in the woods on the E. A. Hughes farm last Saturday afternoon.

Judge Baker opened his court Tuesday morning for the dispatch of the business on the docket.

The boys are doing very wrong when they go forth with their toy guns and rubber alings to kill the robins.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Rucker's many friends are extremely sorry to hear of the death of their youngest child.

It is the general belief that the yield of the local wheat crop of this year will fall far below the yield of last year's crop.

The Board of Directors of the Farmers Fire Insurance Company did not observe the Fourth. It seemed to be busy all day.

When in need of binder twine or any thing else in that line, Crisler Bros., Petersburg, Ky., furnish it to you as cheap as any body.

The change in the weather was very fine on the harvest home, and gave to both man and beast engaged therein, many pounds of flesh.

The Burlington Fishing Club was contemplating an assignment but it pulled through all right, greatly to the relief of the members.

If the fellow who took the key out of the back door of the Court-house hall will return it, he will confer a favor that will be appreciated.

Two daughters of Harrison Minor, colored, were riding the same horse home from a party last Saturday night, when they fell off and were badly hurt.

In this issue will be found the professional card of Dr. Kyle, a distinguished surgeon of Ansonia. He is well equipped, and very successful in his practice.

Last Friday and Saturday were regular examination days for teachers of the public schools, and there were about fifteen applicants before the board of examiners.

Having rented Mr. Garvey's stable at Erlanger, Harry Kyle is keeping a first-class livery and boarding stable at that place. Persons leaving their horses in his care will find that they are carefully attended to.

Boht, Rice and Elmer Beal can not do the work as rapidly as a cyclone, but when they attack old building for the purpose of demolishing it, the structure soon looks like it had some experience with a cyclone.

Those who have subscribed money for the purpose of aiding in the building of the new Baptist Church will confer a favor by calling at the Boone County Deposit Bank and paying to Mr. J. C. Bevil, as the money is now needed.

We take this method of informing the public that we are now prepared to furnish repairs for all kinds of binders, threshers, mowers, &c. Binder twine constantly in stock. All orders will receive prompt attention. Crisler Bros., Petersburg, Ky.

Several persons from this place attended the ordination of Rev. John Fremmer at Union Saturday. Mr. Fremmer has the reputation of being a young man of deep thought and an entertaining delivery. He will make his mark in the ministry.

Our neighbors across the stream, Lawrenceburg, Aurora and Rising Sun, unhooked their patriotism last Monday, and with roaring cannons, martial music and star-spangled-banner oratory, they made the day one to be remembered as a well celebrated glorious Fourth of July.

Quite a crowd attended the picnic at the Harvest Home grounds last Saturday afternoon. The music was splendid, and the afternoon was spent most pleasantly by the young people who delight in tripping the light fantastic. The storm frightened some of the ladies, but it was soon over and no one was hurt.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Joe Reed is on the sick list.

J. C. Clore, of Cincinnati, was in town Monday.

Wm. Gaines is home from Brooklyn, New York.

Mrs. R. B. Cowen has been quite sick for the past week.

Professor Newkirk and family are visiting in Grant county.

Mrs. G. O. Hughes and children spent the Fourth in Covington.

J. M. Laemling made a business trip to Petersburg last Friday.

George M. Bedinger, of Erlanger, was in town one day last week.

Dr. Ben A. Delaney and wife, of Florence, were in town last Saturday.

Mrs. P. G. Cropper, of Middletown, Ohio, is visiting her relatives in this county.

H. Clay White, of Williamstown, was in town last Wednesday on legal business.

William Rouse, of Oakley, Ohio, was visiting his father near here the first of the week.

Dr. Will Corder, of Florence, has gone to Berlin to take a course of lectures for the summer.

William Star, who was badly poisoned by poison oak, several weeks ago, is still unable to be about.

Miss Mary Moore, of North Bend, and her niece, Miss Lillie Kennedy, were in town last Saturday.

H. W. Smith, proprietor of the Madison House, Cincinnati, came to Burlington to spend his Fourth.

Mrs. Dora Rich, of Anderson, Kenton county, was visiting her sisters at this place several days last week.

Understand that John Furlong, who is doing well in the life insurance business, is in town last Saturday.

Miss Dora Rich, of Kenton county, who was visiting her sisters here the latter part of last week returned home yesterday.

Mrs. Lottie Davallville, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Little Hall, at this place, last week, returned to her home in Newport, Saturday.

Chas. W. Riddell, of Williamstown, came down last Saturday and remained over till Monday morning, when he returned to the city to spend the fourth.

John W. Williams and Courtney Talbot, of Union, were among the spectators in the grand stand at the Croquet grounds one afternoon last week.

Miss Virginia Southgate, of Walton, has completed the collegiate course at Hanover College, an institution of high standing, graduating with great honor. She was a former well known teacher in this county.

Deputy Marshall Murdoch, of Rising Sun, was in town one last week, making some inquiries in regard to the reward the Governor had offered for the capture of John Huey, the murderer, whom he landed in jail here the week before last. Murdoch developed the fact that the reward was not offered by the Governor until after Huey's capture.

The grand stand at the croquet ground was crowded all day Monday. There were some close contests on the ground and then there were some that were not so close. Among those noticed with medals in hand was one of the champion players from the Hebron neighborhood, who was a terror to his adversaries.

W. E. Piper brought a supply of fireworks with him from the city, and Monday evening quite a crowd assembled on the lawn in front of B. S. Kirkpatrick's residence, where Mr. Piper set off the fireworks. The display was very beautiful and very successful in its display the Fourth was decidedly quiet in Burlington.

Diphtheria has again broken out in the family of Mr. Haup Adams, of the Big Bone neighborhood. It will be remembered that Mr. and Mrs. Adams lost two interesting daughters by that dreadful disease last winter. It is thought that the return of the disease was occasioned by the taking up of the carpet in the room where the girls were sick last winter, thus disturbing the germs that were lurking in the carpet. At last account the two children now suffering with the disease were very low.

Miss Minnie, the nineteen year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Roberts, died last Saturday morning after many months illness. She was a member of the Baptist Church at this place, and her funeral was preached by Rev. T. L. Utz Sunday morning after the remains were placed in the vault to await final interment. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts have the sympathy of all in their bereavement. It has been only about six months since they buried their oldest daughter.

One day last week Rev. J. A. Kirkley's oldest daughter was driving a horse and buggy along the Petersburg Pike near Hon. E. A. Walton's, when the horse became frightened and ran off, throwing the young lady out of the vehicle, and seriously injuring her. No one saw the accident, and the horse and buggy were discovered some distance down the road, where the driver was picked up, and she was found lying in the pike in an unconscious condition. She was taken to the residence of Mr. Geo. Walton, where after many hours, she regained consciousness.

When the work of tearing the roof off of the Baptist Church was begun by the men who were engaged in it, so much resembling a hay mow, owing to the very large quantity of grass the English Sparrows had used in building nests between the wall and the roof at the south gable end of the building. It is evident that the old nests were torn out every spring, and the material used in their construction dropped down to the attic, and were the amount of dry grass and feathers that accumulated stated, the roof would, no doubt, make a charge of prevarication, against this column.

Fruit growers report an abundant crop of peaches in Southern Indiana. River is getting low rapidly and the larger boats for the first time in many months have to hunt the channel. Old river men predict a season of low water. Dealers in feed are shipping corn from Cincinnati, as it can be purchased cheaply and shipped here for less than our farmers who have old corn on hand are willing to sell for. Late planting has made the farmers beat on a short crop.

Bloodhounds are doing good service at Seymour in finding thieves. The latest one was a Frenchman, when a strange negro who had entered a house and stolen some pie, not finding anything more valuable, was tracked about a mile and caught by the bloodhounds for the purpose would be remunerative business for some in almost every county.

Forfeit of a keg of beer agreed to be made Sunday night at the residence of Martin by Frank Baker in the event of Cleveland's nomination was made last Thursday. Frank ordered the keg and sent it up decorated with the latest Cleveland campaign banner, and although a red hot Republican he had to put off the first banner in a Democratic house.

New wheat is being received at the mill. Seventy-two cents is the market price.

The farmers in this county are busy harvesting, and there will be an average wheat crop. The growing corn is looking up in good condition. The Coroner of Hamilton county has at last announced his verdict in the Big Four railroad collision at Cleves on the 15th of May. He says the accident was caused by the negligence of the engineer and conductor of the freight train, both of whom were killed in the wreck.

CARROLL COUNTY.

On Monday evening last Mrs. Josiah Gividen, an aged widow, who resides on the Ben Wright farm near English, was run over by the 6 o'clock express train and died from the injuries sustained a few hours later. It seems that she had crossed the railroad track to her garden and was returning with a basket of vegetables, and had to ascend a steep bank, which is covered with high weeds, and obstructed a view of the track. As she emerged from the weeds by the side of the track the train was so close to her that she was drawn under the wheels and mangled in a horrible manner. She was picked up, still conscious, and carried to a home where she was relieved of her suffering a few hours later by death.

OWEN COUNTY.

(Owen News.)

The rain Friday evening was the heaviest that has fallen in Owen county for a long time. The streets were flooded and raw water like a mill-race. The rain seemed to be pretty general throughout the county, and what to happen land that had not been put out of the water was wet in places.

There came near being a very serious affair last Monday in front of the Court-house, during the time that Master Commissioner Martin was making sales. Lindsay was situated talking to a gentleman, and sharpening a pencil at the time, when Alexander, who was standing near, asked Lindsay if he had seen the sheriff about an execution, Lindsay said, "No," and Alexander said, "Why don't you let it" at the same time striking Lindsay a severe blow on the side of the head, knocking him down. Lindsay got up and struck Alexander with open knife, striking a severe gash, beginning near the eye and running down across the face into the collar bone.

On the fourth morning at Brown's Park Monday afternoon there was a trifling accident occurred to the favorite, Stonewall Jackson, a shot that was considered a moral clutch for the Jockey Club Cup, but on account of the accident, the backers of the horse were considerably losers on the day. The noted Jockey, Heady Ford, was up on him and the boys who know something didn't think he could possibly lose. The race was a half mile dash and they were given a good start. Stonewall in the lead; he beat at the quarter by five horse lengths and on to the stretch. It looked like a runaway race but at the sixteenth pole Jock Ford applied the battery a little strong, as Stonewall was being hard pressed by Joe Perrix, a horse owned by Mr. Amos Kelo, and ridden by stumpy Green, when he jumped the fence and landed on his head, causing instant death.

GRANT COUNTY.

Courier—Home grown garden truck is not very plentiful in Williamstown. Under the new town survey Williamstown will rise to the dignity of 1300 people.

Southern watermelons have been on the Williamstown market for the past week.

Plenty of rain the past week has made the farmers happy and crops of all kinds look very promising.

The severe storm of last Friday evening damaged several buildings in the neighborhood of Lawrenceville, L. C. and caused considerable loss. In the damage of two barns on his farm, Wheat, corn and grasses were laid flat.

The Campbell-Furst Fishing Club, of Cincinnati, came down last Friday and spent the night down on Gunpowder with pole and line and other amusements. Saturday morning series were called into use, and an effort was made to clean the creek of fish, but it was unsuccessful further than to stir up the huge mass that delighted themselves in skipping over the sedes. The crowd laid a large amount of fun but caught few fish.

The rain last Saturday afternoon and at night. It was the one on the growing crops, and especially the early planted corn, the crop of which will now be a success.

Miss Lizzie Dunne, of Erlanger, was calling on friends in Burlington one day last week.

Advice to the Engaged.

If you are extremely fond of dancing, you would do well to marry a dancing master.

If you are marrying for money only, you must expect to get only what money can buy.

If you don't feel that you are qualified to be a poor man's wife, don't marry a rich one.

If you are going to marry a man for his looks, you must not be surprised when he loses them.

If you are marrying a man to reform him, it behooves you to exercise all the zeal and patience of the reformer.

If you are going into the thing blindly, don't hold up your hands in holy horror when you get your eyes opened.

If you only contemplate taking a husband in order to gain greater freedom, don't be surprised if he should profit by your example.

If you have an idea that a cook book and an allowance can make a happy home, you should get yourself to a university with all convenient speed.

If you expect that God will bless your home because you put that sentiment in yellow worsted and an oak frame, you are doomed to disappointment.—Young Ladies' Bazar.

KENTUCKY STATE NEWS.
Legislative Proceedings.
FRANKFORT, July 14.—SENATE.—The senate receded from its adjournment to the 15th bill, giving the counties authority to issue bonds for the construction and improvement of county buildings. The amendment also gave authority for the purchase of land for county poor-houses.

The enrollment committee reported house bill 282 and house bill 284. The committee on religion and morals reported adversely senate bill 17, to prohibit the Swiss or any others from selling wine or beer in Laurel county. House bill 288, introduced by Mr. Baas, was taken from the orders of the day. On motion of Senator Clark the bill, which repeals the local option law in Todd county, was made a special order for next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, and from day to day until disposed of.

HOUSE.—There were no motions or resolutions, and the call of committees was barren of results. The local option bill, which has already passed the senate, was the first thing in the orders of the day, and was considered section by section. A fight was made over the first section of the bill, which, as it came from the senate, required that before an election should be ordered for a county or town, a petition must be presented signed by 25 per cent. of the voters of the county.

of each precinct. In case the proposition was defeated in the entire county those precincts where prohibition carried should have an amendment offered by Mr. Hyatt substituting 30 per cent. was adopted. An amendment to the substitute inserting 25 for 15 per cent. was adopted.

FRANKFORT, July 19.—The Kentucky house of representatives held a heated session this afternoon in more ways than one: members took to their coats in a vain endeavor to keep cool.

at the discussion waxed hot, particularly between Representative Gay, of Clark, and Hanks, of Anderson. The principal amendments to the revenue bill adopted by the senate, were rejected, forty of fifty of them. The house will pass on the remainder to-morrow, and a conference be commenced. There is but little likelihood of an agreement for a week or two, as the two houses are far and wide apart. The amendment providing for the assessment and

FRANKFORT, July 20.—SENATE—The senate committee on railroads to-day agreed to report with a favorable expression of opinion the bill introduced and passed in the house by Representative Melnerney, of Kenton, requiring railroads to employ experienced conductors and engineers, and providing that no engineer shall employed who has not served four years as reman. The senate defeated the house bill entitled "An act to prevent and punish the counterfeiting and sale of baking powders." The resolution introduced by Mr. Pettit, of Davison, and adopted by the house, expressing sympathy with the Homestead strikers, and deprecating

the employment of Pinkertons, was adopted.
The bill empowering cities of third class to levy taxes and issue bonds not exceeding $50, for the improvement of streets, was passed.

Horse—Gov. John Young Brown sent to the base of representatives to-day his most important veto, and it was sustained by the overwhelming vote of sixty to one. The principles involved in the seemingly insignificant bill are far-reaching in their effects, and apply to charters, contracts and vested rights of every description, as embodied in the greatest material interests in the state, and these have been the frequent cause of expensive litigation for the FRANKFORD, July 21.—The senate refused to act in the house amendment to the local option bill, which precludes towns of 100 inhabitants or less to vote on the question of local option separate from the precinct or district in which it is located. The vote by which the bill better regulate the management of turnpike and companies, and to punish violations of such regulations, was defeated: was recon-

House—The House refused to concur in the amendment to the revenue bill striking out the $300 license tax for the sale of cigarettes and cigarette material, and in the amendment requiring the trustees of the jury fund the first cent. fee allowed for the collection of license fees, instead of the county, as at present. The House passed the extension bill.

The house refused to concur in the remainder of the senate amendments to the revenue bill. The house had, in the bill it sent to Senate, placed the appointment of these officers in the hands of the governor. The conference committee on the corporation bill this afternoon agreed and settled the difference between the two houses. The principal amendment reconciled was that allowing railroads until 1900 to reorganize their charters in conformity to the new constitution; the house limited the time run until 1900.

FRANKFORT, July 22.—SENATE.—All differences on the

On the corporation bill have been removed, and this morning the conference committee reported in both houses the argument, which was accepted without dissent, and the bill finally goes to the enrolling clerk. The rumor this morning sent to the senate his approval of senate bill 166, which regulates practice in the circuit courts of the country. The revenue bill, with its rejected amendments, came in from the house. There is a motion to recede from any of these amendments in which the house would not consented, but the quorum failed to vote, so it went to orders of the day.

NOTES.—Mr. Myers introduced a bill to enlarge the collections of tolls on traction carriages, and Mr. Henstey put in a bill to make applies free to everybody on Sunday. The logistical survey bill came before the house and was finally passed with a slight amendment, which provides that the salaries of the employees of the bureau shall be paid up to the time of the expiration of the bureau and to July 1 as was proposed by the committee. Gough introduced a new salary bill. It raises the chief and assistant clerks $10 per day a, the enrolling clerks, sergeant-at-arms doorkeepers $5 per day, pages and cloak-keepers $3 per day all day.

SOME excitement was caused at the ball park, Owensboro, the other afternoon, by Flora J. Fleck dropping dead. He had been complaining for several days, but went down to see the game, when a sudden hemorrhage caused him to fall, and he expired almost instantly.

J. R. KEENE, sheriff of Cumberland county, is the first sheriff in the state to make a full settlement with the aud-

for all the revenue charged to him 1892. His county was assessed at

For Vice-President:
A. E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

The Teachers' Institute for this county will be held from August 15 to 19 inclusive, and the school trustees should bear in mind that the law makes it their duty to attend the Institute and to inform all the teachers in their respective districts of the time and place of holding the Institute. The teachers have long since learned that they have to attend the Institute or forfeit their right to teach in this county. The Institute is not popular with teachers, but they should get all out of it they can. The educational field is an extensive one, and is one where the work is abundant and progressive, and from year to year the professional teachers engaged therein make many discoveries of value to the profession. The teacher who has failed, after one or two years' experience, to make any improvement in his methods of instruction, has missed his calling and should turn his attention to some other vocation. It is the purpose of the Institute to call the teachers together annually that each may profit by the experience of the others, thereby increasing the efficiency of the teachers, but to what extent this purpose is accomplished is left to the teachers to say. Those who have been chosen by their neighbors to employ teachers for the public schools are particularly interested in the proceedings of the Institute and should be on hand during the entire session. They would be interested and benefited by the proceedings. With a hearty cooperation of teachers and trustees with the County Superintendent, the Institute can be made profitable in many ways.

The trial of Dr. J. L. Massie for the murder of Jesse Honaker, was concluded in the Owen Circuit Court last Thursday. The jury was out only about half an hour, when it returned a verdict fixing Massie's punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for life. Both the defense and the prosecution were represented by a long array of very able counsel, and the fight on each side was noted for the legal ability displayed by the attorneys. Those counties were represented on the jury, Owen, Henry and Gallatin. The murder of which Massie stands convicted was a cold blooded affair. On the afternoon of the killing, Massie went to Honaker's house, carrying with him a shot gun. He called and was answered by Mrs. Honaker, who told him that her husband was not at home, when he informed her that she should never again see her husband alive—that he intended to kill him before night. Despite the wife's entreaties Massie started to hunt his victim whom he met on the road where he made good the threats recited to the wife, by shooting him through the body, from the effects of which he died in a few minutes. Massie claimed that Honaker had him and a couple of young ladies who resided at his house. The first jury that tried the case could not agree upon a verdict.

The last issue of the Owen News says: "There seems to be an impression that the Judicial District Committee will not call a primary or convention for the selection of Circuit Judge and a Commonwealth Attorney, but will turn the candidates loose and let them run on all November. It is understood that Judge Montfort and Commonwealth Attorney Gault have no objections, and in fact, favor it. It is not supposed that Judge Orr, Judge Greene, or M. D. Gray are particular about it, and, unless there are some objections the bridge is off. The News wishes to say that this is the impression and talk on the streets, from whence it originated or the reason for such talk, it has no idea, but as several persons have stated in an authoritative manner, it presumes there is some foundation for it. At the same time Chairman Cunningham, of this county, is presumed to favor the idea of not calling a district meeting."

The Legislature has passed a law requiring the County Courts of the several counties to lay out voting precincts for the magisterial districts of the counties on or before the first county court day in August, which is the first Monday in August. After the passage of the law above mentioned, the law under which the magisterial districts are laid out into magisterial districts, was passed, and provides that on the first Monday in August the County Judge shall appoint three commissioners who shall divide the county into magisterial districts within twenty days after their appointment. Now the question arises, how is the County Court of this county to lay off the magisterial districts into voting precincts on or before the first Monday in August, when it is impossible to have the magisterial districts out of which they are to be carved, designated by the commissioners before that time? It seems that the two laws as they now exist conspire to disfranchise this county, unless the County Court proceeds to lay off the present magisterial districts into voting precincts, and that action stand the test of the higher courts. In the language of a distinguished statesman of this county, the whole thing is "in a jungle."

The assassination of Mr. Frick Carnegie's "mar" is not to be charged to the Homeleaders who have been locked out. The assassin was in no wise connected with the workman, who do not sanction any such action. The young man who attempted Frick's life is an anarchist, and of that class who take advantage of such occasions as the Homestead lock-out to display their bloodthirsty proclivities. The Homeleaders were not willing to submit to a reduction of wages, but were not disposed to destroy life nor property so long as they were not forced into a collision with an armed band of "hoodlums," by whom they were confronted for the purpose of intimidating them, by their presence, if possible, or by force if necessary. While the working men were suffering from the inconveniences of a lock-out they were not cultivating any of the leading inclinations of the anarchists.

According to the Rising Sun Recorder while winged peace does not hover over the entire Republican party in Indiana. It says: "The National administration continues its mistakes, to cite by no number name, at Fort Wayne, Ind. It would seem that the condition of affairs there, as represented and presented at the Minneapolis convention, was sufficient to induce the exercise of good judgment afterwards towards the Republicans there; but such does not seem to be the case, and the course pursued seems to be one of irritation, and not of peace, harmony and unity. The result has been that the members of the State Republican committee from the Congressional district has resigned, and the chairman of the county committee at Fort Wayne has also resigned."

The Sanders correspondent of the Warsaw Independent says in his last week's communication to that paper: "Hon. Harry Baker, of Florence, Boone county, was a visitor here Wednesday. He seems to be one of the foremost men seeking Congressional honors in this district, and if being a clever, upright, square and sociable gentleman is any power in winning the honor he aspires to there are none possessing more fully these characteristics than does Mr. Baker. Being a man of deep resources, a sound legal opinion, and an able statesman, he is deserving of the high position he seeks the people to bestow upon him. We could not be better pleased than to see him become the nominee and his election follow."

It matters not what kind of an election is on in Covington, the participants make it lively and interesting. At the election of the officers for the Covington Light Infantry one night last week the embryo soldiers became so enthusiastic in their efforts to elect their particular friends that a riot was averted by the mustering-in officer threatening to muster the company out unless the deportment of the members was improved at once.

Persons should be very careful not to take too much violent exercise while the weather is so excessively hot. Man nor beast can endure long temperature such as experienced during the past week unless under very favorable circumstances. When the thermometer has marked one hundred or more for several days, everything becomes thoroughly heated and the danger of sunstroke increases as the period of such high temperature is prolonged. This is the hottest weather since 1881.

TURNING OUR EYES to the plain people of the land we see them burdened as consumers with a tariff system that unjustly and relentlessly demands from them, in the purchase of the necessities and comforts of life, an amount scarcely met by the wages of hard steady toil, while exactions thus wrung from them build up and increase the fortunes of those for whose benefit the injustice is perpetuated—Grover Cleveland.

To our Republican friends: Te Salutamus, which being liberally interpreted, signifies we've got you right where Hensley had the pullet. If the tariff issue doesn't down you, the Force Bill will upset you; if the Force Bill doesn't slaughter you, the Third Party has you in its grip. If the Third Party can't stop you, Grover Cleveland can. In such deep water, where can you go but to the devil?—Glasgow Times.

THAT was an immense crowd that assembled in New York the other night to give ear to words of wisdom uttered by Cleveland and Stevenson upon their being officially notified of their nomination at Chicago. The enthusiasm was unbounded, and was an index to that which prevails in the Democratic party throughout the great State of New York.

THE first two years of Cleveland's administration cost the country $173,400,074 less than the first two years of Mr. Harrison's administration cost. That is a very snug sum in favor of economy, and worthy the consideration of the voter who believes in economy in the administration of the government.

THE proposed new waterworks for Cincinnati were defeated at the polls one day last week by an overwhelming majority, considering the vote cast. The people concluded that it was a job and they proceeded to get rid of it at the first opportunity.

The Lawrenceburg Press is out in a new dress, which makes it the handsomest of our exchanges. Outside of politics the Press is an excellent paper and it deserves the success which has attended it under its present management.

Col. W. O. BRADLEY, the head of the Republican party in this State, sends out the word that the Republicans will carry Kentucky by five thousand majority this fall. Wonder upon what he bases his belief.

THE lawmakers at Frankfort are very much interested in their work else they would knock off during this scorching weather.

THE thermometer made a second story with a couple.

The Democratic platform might have been embodied in briefer form and more forcible language, but defines with sufficient clearness the issues upon which the campaign will be fought.

It pledges the Democratic party against:

Centralization, force-billism, plutocratic domination.

Extravagance in the expenditure of the people's money.

Robber protection and all discriminating legislation.

Trusts and combinations to gouge the people.

Land and corporate monopoly.

Dishonest money.

Pernicious activity of officeholders in politics.

Pension frauds and abuses.

Sumptuary legislation.

Criminal and pauper immigration.

Jingoism.

It pledges the Democratic party for:

Tariff for revenue only, and the immediate revision of the iniquitous McKinley law in the interest of the people.

Honest money and bimetallic coinage, without discrimination to favor either gold or silver.

AUGUST 30th and 31st,
SEPT. 1st and 2d, '92.

FAIR! FAIR!

Large out-put. It is thought by some that most of the tobacco on old ground has become diseased. On new land it is growing nicely. The tobacco crop, from reports, will be short at least one-third.

The first delivery of the present wheat crop began here the latter part of last week. From Monday of this week up to today there has been a steady increase of delivery each day. The farmers who have threshed are highly pleased with the yield. Nearly the whole of the present delivery has been sold at 70 cents.—Jesseman Journal.

The honey crop, says the Louisville Post, threatens to be almost a total failure this year. There will hardly be one-twentieth as much honey this year as last. In Southern Indiana the rich clover fields have been for years noted as the paradise of the busy little bees, and a good deal of the supply comes from that section of the country. This year the weather retarded the clover bloom and it is now followed by a drought, which withers the little that is left. With nothing to feed open the bees are in as bad a fix as Carnegie's striking steel workers. One man in Clark county gathered 3,000 pounds of honey last year from his hives, but this year he says it is doubtful if he succeeds in getting one hundred pounds. It is also difficult to keep the bees from seeking fresher fields.

The House will likely pass the bill fixing the salary of Circuit Judges in this State at $2,400 per year.

Special Receiver's SALE.

By virtue of an order of the Judge of the Boone County Court in the action of J. M. Lanning vs. Wm. R. Kirtley, etc., and M. E. Lanning & Co., vs. Wm. R. Kirtley, now pending in the Boone Circuit Court, I will sell on the Harriet Kirtley farm in Boone county, Ky., just opposite Lawrenceburg, Ind.,

SATURDAY, JULY 30th, 1892.

The thermometer has been on the rampage for several days.

The local merchants supply blackberries at 50 cents a bucket.

What is called the horn fly is very annoying to the cattle this summer.

The farmers caught some very fine fish down on Gunpowder last week.

The apple crop will be very short hereabout, and of a very poor quality.

This part of the country has experienced considerable heat this summer.

The wheat of the team (thresher) is now heard early in the morning and late at night.

We learn from our exchanges that the wheat is turning out well throughout Kentucky.

Four Boone county men are now being treated at the Madisonville, Ohio, Keeley Institute.

Sunday was a scorcher, and the hot breeze that was stirring was very injurious to vegetation.

No cases of aneurysm were reported among the harvesters, who worked in the excessive heat.

The supply of water for domestic purposes will begin to get short in a few days unless it rains.

Noth County has a large, stray cow that will weigh near 200 pounds at his house—has been there since the 9th of July.

Don't forget the picnic at the Harvest Home Grounds next Saturday. You will have a very pleasant day if you attend.

B. F. Zimmer's force of berry pickers have been in camp on John Berkshire's farm for several days. Berkshire and Zimmer have had a big fruit deal every season for several years.

The question in dispute in Burlington is, who, of the many excellent gardeners in town has the finest potatoes? Some of the gardeners are saving seed and saying nothing.

Mrs. Agnes Ryan, of Aurora, Ind., sister of Uncle John Beall, died last Friday. The remains were interred at Sand Run Sunday, after a funeral sermon by Rev. R. E. Kirtley.

Courtney Vassler is hauling brick for building the obelisk and flue for his new residence near Udgner.

The Katie Dids have commenced their 1902 season, and therefore it will be six weeks till frost, although the temperature will have to take a great tumble before such an event is possible.

Atty. Lassing was engaged last week preparing articles of incorporation for the Citizens' Insurance Company of Northern Kentucky, which is incorporated under the new insurance law of this State.

The Bellevue ball club expected to meet the Petersburg team last Saturday afternoon, but the latter did not put in its appearance, so the Bellevue's gave a picked nice the decent walloping they had laid up for Petersburg.

The bank which was organized at Erlanger, a few weeks since, was not a given after it was organized. Capt. W. H. Baker, of Florence, took the bank in hand and at last accounts he had about enough stock subscribed for another bank, which will be organized. It will be a go this time.

Dame Rumor says that the Junior member of the Boone county bar, in shortly to be wedded to one of the most accomplished and handsome young ladies of this county, the young barrister says that the Duke has not information sufficient upon which to found any such a belief, as it is all news to him.

Just at the conclusion of the services at the Methodist Church last Sunday Rev. Penn's horse that was hitched near the church, became frightened and sprang forward, and in the excitement threw it back, causing it to break both the buggy shafts and almost destroy the harness. The action on the part of the horse created quite a commotion among the congregation which was leaving the church.

Joe Reed has become very uneasy about his friend Walcott, who has been taking such an active interest in the disappearing horse. He fears Walcott may have a severe aneurysm or a stroke of apoplexy, either of which he is liable to be superinduced by excessive eating followed by violent exercise either on the croquet ground, in the harvest field or at the threshing yard.

Personal Relations

J. C. Revell went to the city last Friday.

H. C. McNeal, of Constance, was in town Saturday.

Marshall Hedges, of Union, was in town Monday morning.

Ess, O. W. Gaines, of Bullittville, was in town yesterday forenoon.

G. C. Hume, of the Mud Lake neighborhood, was in town last Friday.

Miss Dode McFarley, of Cincinnati, is a guest of her relatives at this place.

Sherrill Beall was circulating among his constituents at Petersburg Friday.

Mrs. and Mrs. Benjamin Snyder, of Florence, were in town Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Virginia Campbell, of Florida, was visiting her father, Dr. J. F. Smith, of this place.

A Cincinnati drummer named Stan was interviewing our merchants last Thursday.

Miss Lulu Cooney, of Cincinnati, was the guest of Miss Lizzie and Corda Ryle last Sunday.

John W. Davis, one of the proprietors of the Normansville flouring mill, was in town Saturday.

Robert R. Rice, of Waterloo, was in town Monday morning and called on one of the Rappahannock army of subscribers.

M. T. Garnett and Elbert Ryle visited Oakley, Ohio, yesterday. Mr. Garnett has a young animal in training out there.

J. W. West from the lower end of the county, was in town Monday, and reported no rain in his neighborhood for two months.

E. M. Gaines, of Utzinger, was in town last Saturday for a few hours on business pertaining to some of his trusts as administrator.

Mr. A. O. Hall, Mrs. Wene and son, Joe, and Mrs. Kverest Hall, left Monday morning for a visit to relatives at Loveland, Ohio.

Col. Elijah Howard, of the Bullittville neighborhood, and one of the best posted horse men in the county was in town last Saturday.

Nathaniel Carpenter, formerly of this county but now a citizen of Gallatin was on the jury that tried Dr. Massie at Oventon last week.

Rev. Duval, of Waterloo, passed through town last Thursday on his way to Petersburg to attend the Sunday-School Convention at that place.

W. B. Adams, of Hamilton, was in town last Thursday. He reported the growing tobacco in the lower end of the county as looking very badly.

County Superintendent H. C. Lassing was arranging for the Teachers' Institute which he desires making one of the most profitable meetings in his history.

S. S. Cole, of Cincinnati and a friend Mr. Boman, passed through town last Friday morning enroute to Petersburg to look at some horses they desired to purchase.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Brady, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Palmer, visited Big Bone Springs last Wednesday.

George Piper and family came out from the city last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Piper returned Monday morning, but his wife and children remained with her mother.

Miss Kennedy, quite a distinguished young lady of Boone county, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Virginia Lee Dorman, for a few weeks, returned home Monday—Owen News.

M. T. Graves, of the Bullittville neighborhood, was in town Saturday morning. He has rented his farm to the Cincinnati Bros., and will retire from active farm life for a while at least.

County Surveyor, W. E. Vest, was engaged last week in dividing the Joel B. Frazer tract of land in the Union precinct. Mr. Frazer owned 330 acres of very fine land, which he kept in a high state of cultivation.

Mrs. J. C. Tanner, of Erlanger, left on the last train for the city last week, for a visit with her son, Bert, at Richmond, Va., accompanied by Miss Kate Criger, of Ludlow. They will visit Old Point Comfort and other places of interest during their short stay with the "F. F. V's."

Jake Morris, an old Burlington boy who is now a citizen of Louisville, was the guest of John and Robert Sandford last week. His boyhood was spent in Burlington during the town's palmy days. He met very few persons here who were residents of Burlington when he left the town.

James Clore and William Corvise were doing some lively hustling last week, in the interest of the Kewley Institute at Madisonville, Ohio, and they met with very flattering success. They are both earnest workers, and no doubt they will accomplish much good.

County Judge R. H. Baker has his studying cap on. Under the new election law it devolves upon the County Court to lay off the new voting precincts for the county, neither of which is permitted to have to exceed 500 voters. The work has to be completed before the regular August term of the County Court, and it will require considerable care and the exercise of good judgment on the Judge's part, and it will be impossible for him to study the subject.

Mrs. and Mrs. James A. Smith, of the Quincannon neighborhood, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Crider, last Sunday. Mr. Smith tells the following good joke on himself: One day last week he went down on the creek fishing, and succeeded in catching two small fish, when he became discouraged and went to a neighbor's pond near where he caught sixteen other small fish, when he sent word to his neighbor, Thornton Haman, to say that he went to the creek that day, took home with him a string of 21 fish, knowing that Mr. B. would spend the next day on the creek with pole and line, without any luck as he anticipated, and when he would have the laugh on him: Here enough Mr. Haman, he went fishing early next morning, but contrary to the expectations of Mr. Smith he caught a seven pound fish, it being the big fish Mr. Smith hoped to land the day before. The next morning Mr. B. sent the head of the monster over to Mr. B. who acknowledged that the joke was on him, and declared that he was in the habit of talking too much, otherwise Haman would have been captured the fish at which he desired another chance.

We are requested to announce that there will be a call meeting of the Gunpowder Church held in the Baptist Church at Florence, on Saturday, August 13th and 14th. Elder Levi Davis, of Ohio, will preach.

Monday a negro woman, at Erlanger, undertook to explode a cannon firecracker. She lighted the wrong end, holding the stick by the other end, and when it exploded it mutilated her hand so badly as to render amputation necessary.

There will be a meeting of the Dem. Ex. Committee of Boone county, at my office in Burlington, Ky., at 1 o'clock p. m., on Monday, August 11th, 1902. This is the third and last after that will be made to convene the committee, and if no quorum is present, no action can be had for Boone county at the approaching election.

J. G. FURNISH, Chairman.

A party of Cincinnati men, headed by M. Campbell, went into camp down the Gunpowder last week, and remained over till Sunday. They were well equipped for an outing and had a grand time. Several Burlington-tonites visited the camp during the day, and partook of the hospitality of the campers, whose principal amusement was chasing the fish that stounded in the creek.

Sberry Kite, of the Big Bone neighborhood, died one day last week. The remains were interred at Big Bone Church last Wednesday. Mr. Kite was one of the oldest citizens of the lower part of the county and will be greatly missed. He was a man who took great interest in the politics of the day and was a staunch disciple of Andrew Jackson.

Mr. Benjamin Alphin, who lives down on Mud Lake, and has an extensive acquaintance in the county, is in poor health. He is 78 years old and has been a very successful business man. He served his district many years as a Justice of the Peace, and took part in the adjustment, during his term of office, of many financial problems of much importance to the county.

Camp Meeting, Pastor Grove, August 6th, to 15th. The Steamer Levi Workman will leave Rising Sun Saturday, Aug. 6th at 6 a. m.; Bellevue 6:30; Aurora 7:30; Petersburg 8:30; Lawrenceburg 9:30; arriving at Camp Grounds 10:30 a. m.; Monday, Aug. 6th, at 10:30 a. m. The boat will leave at same time. Returning leave Camp Grounds at 5 p. m. Eloquent divines will be in attendance. Singing by selected choir.

No election on the first Monday in August this year. This will make the turn-out for a failure, as it is to be under the old constitution, that a fellow could vote his turn-out early in the morning of the first Monday in August and then go to the polls and cast his vote for the Democratic ticket, and a beautiful crop of turnips he would have. Under the new constitution we will have to do without turnips and wait until the chilly days of November before we get a chance to vote.

The following preachers will be on the grounds at Fair Grove Camp Meeting, which begins August 5th: Howard M. Henderson, Cincinnati; Rev. Lathrop, Aurora, Ind.; W. F. Vaughn, Covington; O. F. Duval, Walton; Wm. M. Shoemith, Milton; J. A. Sawyer, New Castle; J. W. Hughes, Free, Asbury College, Wilmore. Others will be present and will probably preach. Members of all denominations are cordially invited. The grandest meeting that was ever held in Boone county is expected. Preparations for entertainment-day or night, on the grounds.

Prof. Henry Newton, of this place, has been principal of the graded school at Butler, Pendleton county, to which place he and his family will move in a few days. Prof. Newton has had charge of the Academy at this place for the last four years, and has done most creditable work. He is a well equipped educator and a most industrious laborer in the school room where he has had a long experience. His instruction is thorough, which constitutes the most essential attribute of a teacher, and the school of which he will take charge will afford a splendid field for the work for which he is especially qualified. Besides being a good teacher Mr. Newton is a valuable citizen in his community, and the people are sorry to lose him and his family, but what is Burlington's loss is Butler's gain.

Phil. Aheran, of Florence, Boone county, representing a Cincinnati grocery house, was here Tuesday on business.

Tobacco still looks lively. Can not make more than fifty percent of a crop, and the same reports come from the White River district. It looks like a high price will prevail this fall, and holders of old tobacco ought to wait until the market for new opens. It will pay them well to do so.

Mrs. F. J. Hogan, who has been visiting her husband's parents here in Napoleon, arrived here Thursday on a visit to relatives. Her mother, Mrs. Eugene Landrum is also visiting here. They will leave for New Mexico, where Mrs. Hogan's husband is employed as Indian Agent, in a couple of weeks.

The heavy rain storm of Wednesday evening caused considerable damage in the lower part of the county. The storm was accompanied by hail, and it ruined several fields of corn and tobacco. Five acres of corn on John Orr's farm was destroyed so that it will be of little value. A field of tobacco on Wm. Grady's farm cultivated by Eph. Bailey, was torn to pieces and will be of little value. The tobacco was about a week in the field when it was about ready to top.

Sunday afternoon, Cliff Hughes, the youngest son of Wm. Hughes, the ferryman at Steele's Creek, was drowned while swimming, with a companion named Kennedy at the mouth of Steele's Creek. He was assisting his father at the ferry and while Mr. Hughes stepped up to Ross' store to get a cigar, the boy concluded to take a swim. He got beyond his depth and was evidently seized with a cramp, and before assistance could reach him he sunk beneath the water for the last time. Search was made once for the body but it was not discovered until Monday when it was found near where he was drowned. A cannon being fired over the place below where he was last seen and his body rose to the water's surface. The deceased was about sixteen years old, and a good boy in every respect.

Having rented Mr. Garvey's stable at Erlanger, Harry Ryle is keeping a first-class livery and boarding stable at that place. Persons leaving their horses in his care will find that they are carefully attended to.

The marriage of Mr. Ben H. Berkshire and Miss Ethel Norris at the Christian Church, Tuesday of last week, was one of the most pleasant affairs of the season. The church was filled to its utmost capacity by the friends of the bride and groom. Mr. Dave Stryder, residing over the organ. The bride party entered promptly on the true and constant of the duties of the Ten, of which the bride is a prominent member, followed by the bride accompanied by Miss Lou Berkshire, next came the little maids of honor, Lora Buchanan and Ethel Carter, then came the groom accompanied by Mr. W. T. Crider.

Immediately after the ceremony the party left for Lawrenceburg, where they took the Steamer for Louisville, returning on Thursday morning.

Begonia were quite numerous and lovely. They will make their home with the groom's parents for the present. Here's congratulations, Ben, to you and your bonnie bride.

Miss Hattie Stephenson and Mrs. Anna Type, of Cincinnati, Ind., are guests of J. D. Norris' family.

Miss Clara Grant has gone for a few weeks stay at Chataqua Lake. Phineas Alden and wife of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. T. C. Riggs, of Cincinnati, are visiting relatives here a few days only.

Chas. McWelly, of Pittsburgh, arrived in town a few days ago, looking hale and hearty.

Why would it not be a good idea for Capt. Baker to change the time of the Mayflower so as to make better connection with afternoon trains from Cincinnati? He ought by all means to make a trip from Lawrenceburg after a p. m. train.

Last Monday morning, while assisting her father in the tobacco "pick" the ten year old daughter of John Workman was bitten by a copperhead snake. The child raised a leaf on a tobacco plant, looking for worms, when the snake struck her. She exclaimed: "Papa, something bit me." Mr. Workman found the snake and killed it, and then carried his daughter in a semi-conscious condition to the house and gave her one pinch of whisky. During the afternoon she grew worse and Dr. Clark was called in. The child is better and will live.

HAD an election been held last Monday there is no doubt but what there would have been a good rain.

Mr. HILL and Mr. Blaine have both been politically quiet for several days. But that is their indisputable privilege.

This office has not received a copy of either of the orders under which the primary elections are to be held on the eighth of October.

Upon the adjournment of Congress the campaign for the Democratic nomination for that office in this district will become more animated. It has been in statu quo for some time.

It seems that Mr. Blaine has entirely disappeared from politics. It is understood that his health is so badly impaired that it will not permit of his taking part in the campaign this fall.

Last Monday Messrs. Reuben Conner and N. S. Walton were both in town, meeting their constituents. They were glad to see it so the legislature could finally adjourn at once.

By some means some persons have acquired the impression that Judge Montfort is now serving his second term as Judge of the Circuit Court in this district. This is erroneous, as he is now holding his first term.

THERE appears to be a break from the o. p. in every direction in Indiana. By the time each of the other parties gets the slice that is going its way, Grand Pa's hat will no longer lay any claim to the electoral vote of the Hoosier State.

THE County Democratic Executive Committee met last Monday and called a primary election for the eighth day of next October for the nomination of Democratic candidates for the offices of Clerk of the Circuit Court and Sheriff. The election will be by secret ballot.

THE crop of Democratic candidates for Congressional honors in this State is abundant. Occasionally one is nominated without opposition, but the very great majority of the candidates are having a hard campaign, trying to convince the dear people of their peculiar fitness for the office to which they aspire.

THE present Democratic House in Congress passed an Appropriation Bill that aggregated $364,000,000. The bill went to the Republican Senate, where it was amended until the aggregate amounted to over $500,000,000. In this one bill is a very clearly illustrated difference between the Democratic and Republican parties in the matter of economy.

THE Democratic nominee for the Vice-Presidency, Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, will visit Louisville on the fourth of this month, to-morrow, when he will be given a reception, which, for enthusiasm and cordiality will not be surpassed during the campaign, and will put Col. Bradley to doubting his own statement wherein he proclaimed that the Republicans will carry Kentucky this fall by five thousand majority.

THE Homestead lockout is a little more than a month old, and has cost over a million dollars, besides the sacrifice of human life. The military has cost the State of Pennsylvania nearly four hundred thousand dollars. It is difficult to estimate a lockout or strike of the magnitude of that at Homestead. The effects reach far beyond those who are directly interested at Homestead and many branches of business come in for their share of loss.

THE attempt to pass the Force Bill will perpetuate solid South. That section will never render any assistance towards continuing in power a party that favors legislation calculated to put the South again under the rule of vice and ignorance. The carpetbaggers' reign in the South will, for all time to come, cause that section to fight shy of the party that subjected it to the indignities of carpetbag rule, and now endorses in its national platform a measure the trend of which is to revive the misrule that followed upon the heels of the rebellion.

THE Legislature finally succeeded in passing the Revenue Bill. As it was finally passed the office of County Treasurer was defeated and the collection of taxes left in the hands of the Sheriff. Those members who advocated the creation of the new office claim that it was the best feature of the bill, and had it been allowed to stand it would have saved to the State, annually, the sum of over $164,000. The advocates of the County Treasurer's office, and the wonder is that a body of economists like the Kentucky Legislature, failed to adopt a measure that would save to the State such large sums of money.

THE Democratic Committee of this Judicial District met in Walton last Thursday, and called a primary election for the eighth day of next October for the nomination of candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney. The vote will be by secret ballot and the election held in conformity to the new election law, which is a good idea. It will be good instruction for the approaching November election, at which time the new election law will go into effect. The primary will be the first new departure in the election in this county, and it will be watched with much interest to see how the voters take to the new order of things.

THE fight over the Act of the Legislature providing for the appointment of Auditor's agents was construed by some to have constituted a break in the next election of United States Senator in this State; that the Governor's friends wanted to invest him with the appointment of the agents, thereby giving him greatly increased strength throughout the State should he desire to become a candidate for the United States Senate. That such was the desire of those advocating the placing of the appointment of those agents in the hands of the Governor, is vehemently denied by some of them, who publicly announce that they are for the reelection of Mr. Carlisle.

THE Droge-Myers trouble has given Covington an unusual stirring up. The charge by Droge that Myers offered to bribe him, as a congressman, to vote for a street railway ordinance in which he, Myers, was interested and desired passed by the Covington City Council. Should the charges brought against Myers by Droge be sustained Myers will be politically extinguished, while, on the other hand, if Droge fails to sustain the accusation he makes against Myers he will no longer be worthy the public confidence. It is a very ugly kettle of fish, and should be submitted to a rigid investigation, and the truth regarding the transaction given the public.

GOV. MCKINLEY, of Ohio, has been in the Northwest making his tariff speech, but in no instance did he explain to his hearers how the McKinley tariff law increased the wages of Carnegie's workmen who are now out of employment rather than submit to a cut of their wages under the existence of a law which Republican orators had most eloquently declared to them would result in an increase of their earnings. The Governor could very well have told his audiences how the tariff operates on Mr. Carnegie's income from the Homestead plant, and with the contemplated plan in the wages of his men, how he would be enabled to contribute his hundreds of thousands of dollars to the Republican national campaign fund.

THERE is nothing easier than the election of a President on paper, and the following from the Chicago News is given as an example: "There will be 444 votes in the electoral college this year, so that the successful candidate must secure at least 223." The South counts 150, and, despite the talk about two or three of these States being quite doubtful, nobody whose judgment was anything other than the force bill issue will carry every one for the Democratic candidate. New Jersey's 10 may be counted with equal confidence on the same side. The Detroit Tribune, the leading Republican organ of Michigan, admits that the Democrats will get at least four votes from that State. This makes 173 which may be called "sure." Connecticut and Indiana will add 6 and 15 respectively, making 194, New York's 36 would carry the total up to 230, or seven more than a majority. The Republicans are relatively better off than they were four years ago by reason of the admission of the new States and the changes in the older States caused by the reapportionment, but the combinations of 1876 and 1884 would carry the day again in 1892. There are chances for Cleveland this year in other States, which no other Democratic candidate has had in previous years, and it is possible that he might lose New York and still carry the country; but in all probability New York will be again, as so often before, the "pivot State."

THE aspect of legislators engaged in law making and law breaking at the same time may be regular under the new constitution.

THE County Court appointed M. T. Garnett, W. A. Price and J. S. Huey commissioners to lay off the new districts in this county under the new law, after which the County Court will proceed to divide each of these districts into two voting precincts. The commissioners have decided to lay off six Magisterial Districts, and they will meet to-day to commence locating the lines and boundaries thereof.

At the Democratic primary election in Kenton county Monday Judge Perkins was nominated for Circuit Judge and H. C. Hallam, for Circuit Clerk. It is likely that the afternoon paper that fought the two successful candidates so bitterly will encourage a bolt at the regular election, but as it made such poor headway in its opposition before the primary, very little attention will be accorded it.

MR. GORREL and Mr. Newman, Senators from Kenton and Campbell counties, have been on the verge of a pugilistic encounter for several days. The actions on the part of these two members is humiliating to Senate, and is pronounced, not only a disgrace to their constituency, but to the entire State. A gentleman can not be surrounded by such circumstances that under which he can not be a gentleman still.

Judicial Primary.

At a meeting of the Democratic committee representing the judicial district, called for the purpose of determining whether or not any party action should be taken regarding the race for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, the following proceedings were had:

Present: Dr. J. G. Furnish, chairman; J. T. Willis, Jr. B. Brown; J. A. Cunningham and M. L. Dwyer.

Resolved, That a primary election be called on Saturday, Oct. 8th, 1892, to be held in accordance, and in all respects as required by the present primary election law, passed by the present Assembly with the exception hereafter made by this committee.

Resolved, That the officers of the election shall consist of two Judges, Clerk and Sheriff. Said officers shall count the vote after the polls close and place the ballots back in the box, seal the same and return it to the Chairman of the County Committee, and the clerk shall certify the number of votes each candidate receives to the Chairman of the County Committee for their respective county, and each county committee shall meet on the first Tuesday after said primary and recount the votes cast at said primary, and the clerk shall certify the number of votes cast for each candidate to the Chairman of the District Committee, and the chairman of the District Committee shall publish the result and declare the candidates receiving the highest number of votes, the nominees of the Democratic party for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, respectively.

WHO SHALL BE ENTITLED TO VOTE.

All Democrats who have heretofore identified themselves with the Democratic party and who are now residing with the Democratic party, and all voters who now desire to identify themselves with the Democratic party, by the County Committee and Sheriff, shall be entitled to vote in the Democratic primary.

Resolved, That the chairman of each county committee appoint the officers of the election named herein, for their respective counties and divide the said officers among the friends of the different candidates as near as possible.

Resolved, That the polls be opened at 6 a. m. and closed at 7 p. m.

J. G. FURNISH, Chairman.

County Primary.

At a meeting of the Dem. Ex. Com. of Boone County, it is ordered that a primary election, to nominate candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, be held on Saturday, Oct. 8th, 1892, under the following call:

1. It is ordered that said election shall be held at the same time and at the same voting places as under the same call of the Dem. Judicial District Committee published herewith.

2. It is ordered that the officers of the said election shall be selected, for Boone county for both the district and county offices, by each county committee for their respective precinct, and each committee shall be present at the opening of the polls, and any officer failing to serve, the vacancy shall be filled by a selection of some other good Democrat by said committee.

3. It is ordered that officers shall be selected and their names sent to the chairman for publication, at least two weeks before the election.

4. It is ordered that the expense of holding this election shall be met by taxing each candidate his proportional part, and any candidate failing to pay said assessment, his name shall not appear upon the ballots, nor be voted for in this election.

5. It is ordered that the committee shall convene again on the first Tuesday after the election, Oct. 11th, 1892, and count the vote for the county offices, the same, as ordered to be for the district offices, and the person receiving the largest number of votes shall be declared the Democratic nominee for the office for which they were candidates, by the committee. In case of a tie, the committee shall select the nominee, he shall have authority to appoint some good Democrat to act for him and perform his duties as committee man.

J. G. FURNISH, Chairman.

GROVER CLEVELAND,
of New York.

For Vice-President:
A. E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

The Legislature has cost the State $231,000.

The Walton Democrats expect to give a big barbecue in a few weeks. J. G. WARWICK, who defeated John McKinley for Congress, in 1890, died in Washington City last Sunday night.

As the report goes Mr. Cleveland weighs two hundred pounds and is still taking on flesh. Won't he crush grandpa's hat when he sits down on it this fall.

The Covington Sunday Record says that Gallatin county had two votes in the Congressional Committee meeting at Sparta last Wednesday. In that case Gallatin was a power in the meeting.

The Illinois Democrats will open the campaign in their State on the 27th inst. The demonstration, which will be a monster, will be at Bloomington, the home of the Democratic nominee for the Vice Presidency.

Gov. Brown vetoed the Revenue Bill on constitutional grounds. He is pretty handy with his veto axe, and wields it without fear. The Revenue Bill is a most important bill, and its veto creates considerable comment.

The fall campaign will open about the first of next month, and from that time on things will be kept moving, and this will become a country swarming with orators. And there will not be stumps sufficient to accommodate the orators.

The Governor is watching both the Legislature and the Constitution closely, and on several occasions he has indicated to the lawmakers where their acts have disagreed from the straight and narrow way pointed out by the Constitution.

The date of the primary elections the calls for which are published elsewhere, has been changed to the first Saturday in October. This change was made because the Owen county fair will be in progress on the second Saturday in October, and a conflict was not desirable.

The Republicans are growing uneasy about the political outlook in the Northwest, and they are going to have Mr. Harrison make a tour of that section, and try to stir up some enthusiasm among the Republicans out there, where the rank and file of the G. O. P. has become so thoroughly indifferent as to the result this fall.

Some of the Republican papers are prating about the very large number of private pension bills Mr. Cleveland vetoed while he was President. They forget to tell the people that no effort has been made to pass those fifteen hundred bills since they were vetoed. In vetoing these bills Mr. Cleveland gave the best of reasons therefor, and he is not afraid to go before the country on that part of his record.

SENATOR CARLISLE has written a letter to a friend at Henderson, in which he says he is opposed to the free coinage of either gold or silver, but is in favor of unlimited coinage of both metals on exact equality. No discrimination should be made in favor of one metal against the other, nor should any discrimination be made in favor of the holders of either gold or silver bullion and against the great body of the people who own other kinds of property. Gold and silver bullion should be treated exactly alike in the mints of the United States—that is, that a dollar's worth of gold, and if no charges are made for coining the one, then no charges should be made for coining the other.

We spent a few days last week in the Verona neighborhood. The crops in that section were not suffering for rain as badly as they were in this part of the county, and the corn looked like it would make a fair crop, but the tobacco crop is not promising. While there a general rain visited the county and the crops moved up another notch. Verona is one of the best business centers of the county, and in the merchandising branch also claims to be several lengths ahead of any other Boone county town, and judging from the number of people that are constantly trading at the counters in her several stores she is certainly getting her share of business in this line.

Our return into the Verona neighborhood was made particularly pleasant by the hospitality always met with at the homes of Robert Powers and Charles Waller.

On our return we spent a few hours in Walton, a town in which there has been a marked improvement. New industries have sprung up, new residences are to be seen in every direction, and the citizens are on the jump. Walton certainly has a future, and her people appear to be determined that she shall get there, and with her present rate of progress it will be only a few years before she is entitled to put on metropolitan airs.

RICHARD CROKER, leader of Tammany Hall says: "New York is all right for Cleveland and Stevenson. We will take care of that and nobody outside need worry about it. I think that Mr. Cleveland will also carry Pennsylvania, which is at heart a Democratic State, although it has long been humbugged by Republican trickery. Homestead will open the eyes of the masses of the people. Tammany has solemnly pledged its cordial, earnest and unflinching support to the Democratic candidates, and this pledge will be kept faithfully. We expect to give them a larger majority than any other Presidential candidates for a generation. Tammany worked hard to nominate Hill, but that is now ancient history. Hill is not a candidate for anything; and, after looking over the whole field carefully, I am convinced that Cleveland is a stronger man with the people than Hill would have been. Certainly, he will bring us many votes that Hill would have antagonized. There are no divisions, no dissatisfactions in the Democratic ranks concerning the Presidential ticket. We shall begin to hold meetings in every district the latter part of this month, and then you will see that Tammany is more united, more enthusiastic, more powerful than ever."

With a united Democracy in New York there is no question as to which party will get her electoral vote this fall, and as all the leaders agree that there is no discord in Democratic ranks there, the public knows in which column to place her.

Our election law provides that the County Court on or before August 1892, divide the justices' districts of the county into election precincts and establish the name of precincts and boundaries of same, and the place of voting in each. This provision is found in Section 1, Article 2 of the election law approved June 30, 1892, and would seem plain, but now when we find out what justices' districts are referred to trouble begins to arise.

The new justices districts authorized by the new constitution are those meant. Therefore, in order to enable the County Court to establish election precincts, the county must be first laid off into justices' districts. When this act of June 30, 1892, was approved there was no law providing for redistricting the county into justices' districts. The Court could do nothing in the way of establishing election precincts in justices' districts, who no such districts existed. To remedy this to some extent, at least, an act to establish justices' districts was passed and approved July 20, 1892. By this act the County Court on the first Monday in August, 1892, is commanded to appoint three commissioners to divide the county into justices' districts—the commissioners are allowed twenty days to do the work and report, and the County Court at its next regular term, commencing not later than ten days after the commissioners file their report, shall proceed to hear exceptions and establish the districts as provided by the act. Up to this point in the matter there had been no districts in which the Court could establish precincts, yet it is ordered to do so by the election law on or before the August term, which in this county was the first Monday. Hence we find a duty imposed on our County Court entirely impossible of performing as commanded.

Again, the act of July 20, that is the act to establish justices' districts, provides, section 4: That the boundary line of no justice district shall cross the boundary line of an election precinct, as no election precinct could then possibly exist, this provision would have been one of extreme caution, viewed most carefully. But then, see 7 comes to the rescue and acknowledges the Court, pleads guilty and declares that no election precincts can be established properly until the justices' districts are made. Therefore, an emergency exists and this act shall take effect at once. A broad and very liberal construction is the only remedy for these matters, and the only path through the jungle, as the legislature will adjourn without helping us out.

It looked like Democracy was on a boom.

The chief of police of Burlington was there.

The editor of the B. C. R. did not refuse a man served for supper. Capt. Beall saw that his men were fed first, and then ate himself. Joe Childers was here, there and everywhere, looking after the wants of the crowd.

Joe Wilson enjoyed Judge Green's speech. The Judge made many friends.

Dr. Gordon said that with one week's notice they could have turned out 100 strong.

The club discipline is good, and Capt. Beall has no trouble in controlling the boys.

A large crowd was on the street and gave the Hebron boys a hearty and cordial welcome.

The speaking was given the best attention, and the speeches were often heartily cheered.

Leonard Criger and Robert W. Rouse enjoyed the trip equal to any of the younger men.

Col. Bedinger reminds your reporter at Cleveland—he weighs 200 pounds and upward, ye know.

C. C. Roberts, candidate for sheriff, was on hand mailing his candidate cards to his friends at Verona.

That speech of welcome by Hon. L. W. Lassing, was brief, but was

as neat an effort as one could wish to hear.

A brass band is a great "enthusiast," and helps out wonderfully on an occasion like that at Union last Saturday night.

The cannon was fired but twice, owing to the serious illness of Mr. George Riley's little child in a residence near by.

The old and the young, the middle-aged and—in fact all the people were out to see the procession enter the town.

One of the torches exploded on the road and came near creating a panic among the occupants of the buggy carrying it.

Dr. Gordon takes great interest in the club, and looks after the comfort of the members with a personal interest in each.

Ham, lamb and other edibles gave zest to the occasion, and the boys did ample justice to this testimonial of hospitality.

The meeting between Bruce Thornton and Thomas Baker was most cordial, not to say affecting—wish we could give a diagram.

When a hundred or more throats are hurrahing for Cleveland, and one voice sounds mighty lonesome. The procession was nearly half a mile long when the vehicles were arranged in proper marching order, and with torches burning it made an imposing scene.

About half the members of the club were not on hand, owing to the fact that the trip was arranged for in such a short time that some did not get notice.

The Democratic enthusiasm that prevails in the Hebron neighborhood, gave birth to the liveliest and most earnest Democratic club the county has ever had.

It there is any member of the Hebron Democratic Club who thinks he can hold his own with Ben Bedinger as a mutton eater, he will please hold up his hand.

It was a pleasant sight, and Lurker kept her hair hidden until the order, "put out torches," was given, that the effect of the torches would not be interfered with.

Col. R. H. Ingram and family were given a few melodious strains as his residence was passed. The Colonel was sitting on his front porch and smoke a great big Democratic smile.

The boys were delighted with the reception they were given. The fact is these Union people have a way of making everybody who comes among them feel very much like he is at home.

James A. Smith was among the early arrivals and he was greatly refreshed by the music and oratory, and said if he had not thought it would have had a swinish sound he would have called for more.

The club arrived at Gunpowder just at dusk, and the band gave the citizens of that hamlet the benefit of a tune, after which the torches were lighted, and from there to its destination the procession showed up splendidly.

When the club reached Union many of the members were very dry, and in anticipation of just that thing the committee had prepared a large quantity of ice water the refreshing effects of which was enjoyed by the boys.

The hand made good music. The boys deserve much credit for the advancement they have made in their study of music. They have a good leader, and while each member is making satisfactory progress, several of them are especially apt.

Dr. J. W. Kennedy, Burl Comer, Dr. Crouch, Lan Norman, and two or three others whose names we can not now recall, made it their special business to see that each and every visitor was supplied with something to eat, and their kind attention was duly appreciated, and will be remembered.

President Voshell, of the Union Democratic Club was sorry they were not able to have more speakers present. That should not annoy him, as Judge Green and Hon. L. W. Lassing covered the most important points embodied in the Democratic platform, and the crowd was not detained until it grew restless.

The rain last week visited every part of the county, but some neighborhoods were much more blessed in that respect than others. The corn crop will be necessarily short, but had the rain been delayed a few days longer that crop would have been an entire failure in some parts of the county.

Tobacco has improved some in the last few days, but the crop will not be an average one. Much of this crop was planted late and the dry weather caught it at the most inopportune time.

The crop outlook in this county is not what the people are used to, but, nevertheless, it is yet a county of plenty.

This street railway fever is raging at Frankfort, and work on the road is expected to begin now in a few days.

A BIG TIME AT UNION.

To see a quiet Kentucky town booming with enthusiasm and cannon—its streets paraded by a torch-light procession, while the sidewalks were crowded from one end of the town to the other with enthusiastic Democrats and hand some ladies, is a sight you are glad to see, I know.

Just such a state of affairs as is mentioned above existed in our town last Saturday evening, and if your reporter's eyes deceived him not, the RECORDER was "in it to stay."

Having been informed that the Hebron Democratic Club would visit Union last Saturday evening, at its meeting last Wednesday evening the Union Democratic Club made arrangements to entertain its neighbor.

A committee of arrangements, composed of L. H. Voshell, J. W. Kennedy and J. W. Conner, was appointed, and right well the committee performed its duty, and when the time arrived it was found that an ample amount of well cooked ham, mutton, bread, with an abundant supply of ice water with which to wash it down.

James A. Huey, Lan Norman, Dr. Crouch, R. A. Riley and Philip Fall were appointed a reception committee.

A number of prominent speakers were invited and were expected, but the only one who came was the Hon. Judge Green, of Owen county.

When Saturday night came the stars never shown brighter, while the atmosphere was cool, making the night just such a good, honest Democrat likes to see. The streets of the town were lighted up at an early hour, and all made ready for receiving the visitors.

It was just seven o'clock p. m. when a message was received from Gunpowder, stating that the Hebron Democratic Club, with about 75 men in line, the brass band playing, and banners flying, was passing through that town headed for Union. Just an hour from that time the procession was met some distance out of town by the above named reception committee, who delivered to Capt. Beall the keys of the town. The Captain dismounted his men, formed them in line, and with banners flying and keeping step to martial music, the club paraded the principal streets, after which a halt was made in front of the Democratic Club of Union by Hon. L. W. Lassing, a neat and well timed speech. He told the club that its fame as a well drilled, high-toned band of Democratic workers had preceded them, and in his usually happy manner, made the boys feel welcome and at home. When the welcome had been tendered, and received by the visitors with expressions of appreciation, the half doors were thrown open and the club marched up stairs, guns were stacked and refreshments served. It did our old, Democratic soul good to see so many handsome, earnest and loyal young men in line, with strong appetites and ready to fight for Cleveland and tariff reform.

After supper Judge Green was introduced, and he addressed the club and large crowd of spectators for forty minutes on the leading issues of the day. He spoke words of encouragement to the young Democrats and told how the old Democrats of Boone had always been in line. Dr. Gordon in behalf of the club told us how much they had enjoyed the visit and how they would be pleased to have the Union Democratic Club visit Hebron, after which a line was formed, and while the band began to play, with joyful hearts they marched away.

NOTES:

It looked like Democracy was on a boom.

The chief of police of Burlington was there.

The editor of the B. C. R. did not refuse a man served for supper. Capt. Beall saw that his men were fed first, and then ate himself. Joe Childers was here, there and everywhere, looking after the wants of the crowd.

Joe Wilson enjoyed Judge Green's speech. The Judge made many friends.

Dr. Gordon said that with one week's notice they could have turned out 100 strong.

The club discipline is good, and Capt. Beall has no trouble in controlling the boys.

A large crowd was on the street and gave the Hebron boys a hearty and cordial welcome.

The speaking was given the best attention, and the speeches were often heartily cheered.

Leonard Criger and Robert W. Rouse enjoyed the trip equal to any of the younger men.

as neat an effort as one could wish to hear.

A brass band is a great "enthusiast," and helps out wonderfully on an occasion like that at Union last Saturday night.

The cannon was fired but twice, owing to the serious illness of Mr. George Riley's little child in a residence near by.

The old and the young, the middle-aged and—in fact all the people were out to see the procession enter the town.

One of the torches exploded on the road and came near creating a panic among the occupants of the buggy carrying it.

Dr. Gordon takes great interest in the club, and looks after the comfort of the members with a personal interest in each.

Ham, lamb and other edibles gave zest to the occasion, and the boys did ample justice to this testimonial of hospitality.

The meeting between Bruce Thornton and Thomas Baker was most cordial, not to say affecting—wish we could give a diagram.

When a hundred or more throats are hurrahing for Cleveland, and one voice sounds mighty lonesome. The procession was nearly half a mile long when the vehicles were arranged in proper marching order, and with torches burning it made an imposing scene.

About half the members of the club were not on hand, owing to the fact that the trip was arranged for in such a short time that some did not get notice.

The Democratic enthusiasm that prevails in the Hebron neighborhood, gave birth to the liveliest and most earnest Democratic club the county has ever had.

It there is any member of the Hebron Democratic Club who thinks he can hold his own with Ben Bedinger as a mutton eater, he will please hold up his hand.

It was a pleasant sight, and Lurker kept her hair hidden until the order, "put out torches," was given, that the effect of the torches would not be interfered with.

Col. R. H. Ingram and family were given a few melodious strains as his residence was passed. The Colonel was sitting on his front porch and smoke a great big Democratic smile.

The boys were delighted with the reception they were given. The fact is these Union people have a way of making everybody who comes among them feel very much like he is at home.

James A. Smith was among the early arrivals and he was greatly refreshed by the music and oratory, and said if he had not thought it would have had a swinish sound he would have called for more.

The club arrived at Gunpowder just at dusk, and the band gave the citizens of that hamlet the benefit of a tune, after which the torches were lighted, and from there to its destination the procession showed up splendidly.

When the club reached Union many of the members were very dry, and in anticipation of just that thing the committee had prepared a large quantity of ice water the refreshing effects of which was enjoyed by the boys.

The hand made good music. The boys deserve much credit for the advancement they have made in their study of music. They have a good leader, and while each member is making satisfactory progress, several of them are especially apt.

Dr. J. W. Kennedy, Burl Comer, Dr. Crouch, Lan Norman, and two or three others whose names we can not now recall, made it their special business to see that each and every visitor was supplied with something to eat, and their kind attention was duly appreciated, and will be remembered.

POOR BRER BEAR.

Endorsements of the first meeting with a bear on the coast.

A party of hunters on the Florida coast came suddenly upon a bear prowling about a beach and gravely inspecting such articles as were brought up by the waves, which were richer than usual in plunder from the fact that there had recently been a severe storm. The author of "Wild Sports in the South" thus describes the bear's treatment of such wreckage:

He would first look at an article, then smell it, touch it with his paw, and finally, after carefully examining himself with his hind legs projecting in front, turn his head on one side and try to crack his new acquisition with his teeth. The burlesque gravity of his manner was indescribable.

He threw away a cocoon as being too hard to chew, ate an orange with great satisfaction, and presently discovered a small cask, which he endeavored to open. By dint of much biting he enlarged the bung hole so that he could insert a paw, then he held the cask on one arm and "trot the other paw in rapid journeys thence to his mouth."

But this method of getting at the contents did not satisfy him, and presently he stood on his hind feet, he inserted his nose in the barrel and there he lay. Now, a bear's nose is so sharp that it goes through a small place very easily, but owing to the heavy folds of skin about the neck, and the fact that the bear and ears are set back, it does not possess the same facility for coming out.

He was not fast. He began to pull back, but as he pulled the barrel came with him, and as he rolled on his back, pawing ineffectually at its convex sides, it merely revolved about his head as if it were on a pivot. Then, startled by the sound of our laughter, he took fright and ran, leaving the cask on his head like a helmet.

"If he had rushed, lost all sense of direction and rolled head over heels among us, he might have been killed, and he was speedily released by one of the negroes, who broke the barrel by a blow from his club and scattered the mackerel with which it had been filled. The bear rewarded him for this service with a blow of the paw which laid the negro on the sand, and in another second he was himself stretched there by the edge of a two fives.

LOCAL NEWS

For several years the Lawrenceburg merchants have been longing for a steam ferry at that place, and it now looks very much like they intend to have it. In the last issue of the Register we found the following:

"James Walker and others are actively engaged in working up a movement looking to the establishment of a steam ferry between this city and Boone county. Petitions are being circulated and will be presented to the City Council asking the city to purchase the present ferry privileges of Capt. Terrill and others and place a steam ferry on the route. The petitions have been signed by all the leading business men, and the object seems to meet with universal approval. The steers stand ready to put a steam ferry on the route and operate the same. Leading citizens of Boone county promise to raise the funds necessary to the amount of $100,000, and to contribute from the river to the Burlington pike. Improved roads from the river connecting the pike and rapid ferry facilities will undoubtedly greatly benefit this city. There is a large number of Boone county traders usually tributary to this city, but on account of poor roads and slow ferry facilities the trade is driven in other directions. Every movement looking to the opening of new avenues of trade to this city should be liberally encouraged."

THE INSTITUTE.

The Teachers' Institute commenced business in the Circuit Court room Monday morning, with a very fair attendance. The only business done before noon was the organization of the Institute.

After a short prayer by Rev. George D. Harrison, and a song by the teachers, Superintendent delivered a brief but very learned opening address of welcome, at the close of which the teachers were informed that Prof. Voshell was the secretary, and that he was to read the matriculation fee, to-wit: $1.00 and thirty-five teachers came forward, dropped the dollar in the slot, made the handsome secretary smile, and had their names "written."

There are quite a number of experienced teachers present, in fact all those enrolled have had considerable experience in the school room, and they have long since established a reputation for proficiency in their profession. The present institute has made this week one of very great profit—to them it will be a pleasure for them to receive the diploma of success, and to receive the Superintendent's certificate that there is a lack of interest on the part of the teachers, he becomes—and naturally, too—discouraged, and from that time on the exercises on the program are a dead drag and the institute a failure.

The teachers can and should make their annual meeting interesting, at least to some extent. Let every teacher come to the front for one day and do what an interesting time they will have.

The following named teachers were enrolled Monday morning:

D. M. Snyder, Eliza Moody, J. W. McKee, E. T. Roberts and J. T. Marshall, Grant, Ky.

Virginia Southgate, Susie Hudson and Siellie Yonell, Walton.

Lillian Corbin, Mattie Whitson, Ella Norman, S. W. Adams, J. L. Adams and Nannie Riddell and Z. K. Pettit, Burlington.

CAMP MEETING CLOSED.

The ten days Camp-meeting at Parlor Grove closed last Sunday evening. At some times during the meeting the attendance was very small, and last Sunday was a crowd of one thousand or twelve hundred people, whose liberal contributions, added to the revenue arising from other sources, raised a debt which was owing by the meeting. Sunday morning, and the managers were in much better spirits at the close of the meeting than they would otherwise have been.

Quite a number of preachers attended the meeting and many of the sermons were pronounced very able.

The preaching last Sunday was by Revs. Shoemith, of Owenton, and Simpson, of Newport, they occupied the morning and afternoon respectively, and the large auditorium was crowded throughout each session by persons deeply interested in the discourse.

NOTES.

The watermelon wagon was among the absent.

The best of order prevailed throughout the meeting.

Parlor Grove is a very good place for holding a camp meeting.

Hon. J. A. Wilson and wife, of Rabbit Hash, came up on the boat.

AMONG THE CROWD.

Among the crowd in attendance last Sunday were people from every part of the county.

The picture gallery was doing a good business Sunday, and many of the belles and beaux sat.

MR. JOHNSON GRIVES.

Mr. Johnson Grives, one of the oldest citizens of the county was meeting many of his old friends Sunday.

Everybody was glad when they learned that the meeting would be able to meet all its financial obligations.

FIFTY CENTS WAS THE PRICE.

Fifty cents was the price of dinner last Sunday, but you got a good square meal with ice cream and cake as trifling.

Quite a number of the young men and their best girls preferred seats in the buggies "neath the shade, to those in the auditorium."

THE DINING ROOM.

The dining room was under the supervision of a force of ladies who looked closely after everything pertaining to that department.

Capt. Mathews, J. Frank Grant, Ira Wingate and Chas. Schmitt, of Petersburg, visited the meeting Sunday and seemed a most delightful day to them.

THE STEAMER WORKMEN.

The steamer Workmen went to Rabbit Hash Sunday morning, to bring those along the river who desired to go to the grove, and she brought a large crowd.

Mrs. Powell, of Lexington, and Mrs. W. A. Penn, president at the meeting, were visiting from the city, and Mr. Sherman, of Owenton, manipulated the cornet, and the music was charming.

KNOWING THAT THE MEETING WAS CONSIDERABLY IN DEBT.

Knowing that the meeting was considerably in debt, the owners of the steamer Workmen donated the use of the boat Sunday, while the crew made no charge for their services, the only charge being the cost of the fuel necessary for the trip.

PERSONAL MENTIONS.

Mrs. R. S. Crider is sick.

Mrs. David Blythe is very sick with the flux.

MRS. LAURA MARTIN.

Mrs. Laura Martin and Mrs. S. A. Palmer returned home Sunday after a ten days sojourn at Parlor Grove camp meeting, where they had charge of the dining room.

The lightning and thunder storm Sunday night was very severe in various parts of this section, and several houses and barns were struck and burned. The barn of Larkie Lyle above town was struck but not badly injured. Marshall Slett's residence was struck and the gurel room, a barn on the farm of Mrs. Wm. Brown was struck and considerably damaged. A great deal of corn and tobacco was blown to the ground by the wind. A home belonging to Mrs. Timothy Hixson was struck by lightning and instantly killed.—Warsaw Independent.

C. L. CRIDER REPRESENTED BOONE.

C. L. Crider represented Boone in the Committee meeting at Sparks last Wednesday and Sunday, and visited this place of holding the Convention and for Covington second.

The Committee decided to hold a District Convention at Warsaw, Gallatin county, on the 27th of September. The delegates to the convention should be selected, Kanton, Campbell, Trimble and Pendleton counties voted against county mass conventions but they were defeated.

Kanton county was divided, and its delegates by three mass meetings, one held in each legislative district, which did not accord with the wishes of her candidate nor her committee.

The representation of each county in the district convention is as follows: Boone, S. Campbell, 15; Carroll, 4; Gallatin, 3; Grant, 7; Kanton, 25; Pendleton, 7; Trimble, 4. Total 71.

Necessary to be chosen.

W. M. Baily, Salesman for the C. S. Looker Co., Distillers and Wholesale Dealers, requests his friends to call at 67 W. Park Street, Cincinnati, and see him. Will fill small or large orders for cigars or liquor at wholesale prices.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

WALTON.

A large and enthusiastic meeting occurred on Monday evening, the 8th inst., at the office of the L. & N. railroad at this place. The great untolded were out in force, and as a result of the meeting, the club got down to business. Balloting for president resulted in Mr. Botin being declared president; T. F. Curley and R. C. PRECAUTION.

Ship-Loads of Emigrants Coming From Cholera Districts.

FIVE THOUSAND TON TUG FROM HAMBURG, WHICH HAS BEEN VISITED BY CHOLERA, IS ALONE IN THE WAY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The quarantine officials at this port are busy preparing to prevent any importation of cholera from the infected European ports.

Orders have been given by the customs to have the fever ship, Samuel Carter, ready for hospital use on the lower bay as soon as required.

There are five vessels due this week from Hamburg, where cholera is now raging.

These ships have about 4,000 immigrants aboard. They will be detained at quarantine and thoroughly examined.

The French liner steamship La Touraine, which left Havre last Sunday, is due here on Saturday.

As cholera is also reported at Havre, the vessel will be duly subjected to quarantine regulations on her arrival.

The British liner, the "Humburg," which arrived yesterday, is also reported to have been visited by cholera.

Disinfectants were received at the state department today from the British government.

"Hamburg" emigrants must be regarded as coming from cholera-infected ports at a meeting of the board of health.

Consul Williams at Havre telegraphed that the Paris and Havre medical officers had met to discuss the situation.

A full examination, admit the presence of local cholera. They deny, however, any spreading and the alarm is now subsiding.

Great precautions have been taken in the matter.

The board of health is following the precaution heretofore adopted, and will use all means at hand to keep the city free of cholera.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—Having been officially notified of the prevalence of cholera in foreign ports, the board of health at this port has decided to take stringent measures to prevent the disease from being introduced.

The board of health has decided to inspect all vessels arriving from cholera infected ports to be detained at quarantine.

Inspection of the baggage, bedding, etc., of the immigrants has been discontinued.

The steamship "Switzerland," from Antwerp, was the first vessel to arrive from the infected port.

The quarantine officials found no sickness on board and her 700 passengers are being allowed to disembark.

A "string of pearls" of cholera cases entered the station, where they were examined by the immigration inspectors.

VENEZUELA.

Of Destruction Invaded by Russian Soldiers. A Terrible Machine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—After years of labor the Russian revolutionaries have at last succeeded in inventing a perfect automatic infernal machine. The model was finished in London a few days ago, and a report which has reached this country says that those who examined it pronounced it a perfect death-dealing machine.

The machine is sixteen centimeters in height and four in width. It is rectangular in shape, portable and looks somewhat like a small box.

When charged it can be carried with the utmost safety in the breast pocket of its coat, and no one but the initiated would imagine that it was anything but a bag of tricks.

But when the time for action comes the machine takes its place in its pocket, places where the explosion is to occur, and then calmly waits for the signal.

At the appointed moment the machine will explode without the aid of clock-work or even of a lighted match. Instead of dynamite, it is filled with a powerful explosive, and with this the bottom of the machine is filled.

Over the explosive is placed a detonator, which consists of a chemical compound, and is set on fire by coming in contact with a drop of some secret liquid.

When the liquid is dropped, the explosion is set off, and the machine will explode without the aid of clock-work or even of a lighted match.

Instead of dynamite, it is filled with a powerful explosive, and with this the bottom of the machine is filled.

AROUSED.

British Columbian Excited Over the Release of One of Their Sealing Vessels from the Russian Warship.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 5.—When the complete story of an American and Canadian schooner being seized off the Russian coast was read Wednesday, the excitement throughout the city became intense. A meeting of the British Columbia Sealing Association was hurriedly called, and the case was discussed in all its phases.

The meeting was held with closed doors, and the only fact reported was that the schooner for the association had been instructed to prepare a full statement of the details of the case to be telegraphed to Sir John Abbott, premier of the Dominion of Canada.

Theodore Davis, president of the association, also took the matter up and had affidavits embodying the main facts prepared for the use of the department at Ottawa.

FOUR ROBBERS.

Maltreat a Farmer and Set His House on Fire.

After Hacking the Building From Top to Bottom, the Gang of Four Robbers Menaced His Life and Took Him to a Neighbor.

PERKINS, O., Sept. 4.—Thursday evening about 9 o'clock occurred a crime which among many bloody deeds in the history of Adams county stands without a parallel.

John Crothers, a well known farmer who lives near Louisville, little hamlet four miles northwest of this place, was about to retire, when someone called him to the window, saying his brother was hurt, and asked him to come at once.

Before he could reply with a rail, door was burst open with a rail, and he was seized by three masked men. Crothers is a large, muscular man, and struggled fiercely.

He was bound by his hands but he could use it. The men threw him on the floor, and he was bound by his hands but he could use it.

THE VETERANS.

Problems Made For Fifty Thousand at Washington—Free Quarters Will Be Furnished to Hundreds Made of Wood.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Chairman John Jay Edson, of the executive committee of the veterans, today arranged for the reception and entertainment of the veterans of the war.

Mr. Edson says that the Washington executive committee arranged for the summer to provide free quarters for 50,000 men, a total ranging from two to five times in excess of the number provided with similar accommodations at other cities at previous encampments.

Believing that the extraordinary limits thus fixed would be entirely ample, and anxious to quarter all who applied, the committee in the early part of last month, notified every G. A. R. post in the United States to communicate by September 1, if it desired free accommodations for its members.

It is estimated that 50,000 members of the G. A. R. but even at this late date, the committee is making applications.

The barracks which have been erected at the various encampments are comfortable, but the committee finds that it will be absolutely impossible to erect barracks for the veterans of the war.

Miss Mary Delph, daughter of Jonas Delph, who lives about two miles out on the Union road, died last Wednesday afternoon. She had been ill for some time, but not seriously.

Death was not expected. Her funeral took place last Thursday in the presence of a large number of friends of the family. Her father and brother and sisters have the sympathy of an extensive circle of friends in their grief.

Capt. W. W. Abbott, who has long been with Messrs. Perival & Hutton, East and Main, in Boone, Brokers, Des Moines, Iowa, and one of the best known and most respected business men in that city, says: "I can testify to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past eight years. I have used it for colds, coughs or croup." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. M. Acra.

A very large crowd—between 500 and 700 people—attended the picnic at Parlor Grove last Saturday. It was a delightful day, and with the elegant food and the merry dance was enjoyed at noon only long enough for the large crowd to return to the picnic grounds for the beautiful feast which the good cooks for miles around had contributed for that day. The picnic was a success beyond the fondest anticipation.

Tim Westby and the writer visited Hebron last Wednesday afternoon, to give Dr. Gordon a few instructions in croquet. The fourth game was a little better, and the fun again.

At the end of the fourth game the Hebron team had scored four straight games, while the Burlington fellows had none. This was decidedly discouraging to the team, but they continued the contest, and the fifth game, reached the home stake for the first, last and only time. We "toss up" acknowledge the Waterloo, but say they can't do it "again." The victorious Burlingtonians made the game more interesting, and that was why they returned in not going to the court-house, ringing the bell, calling the citizens together en masse and announcing the result of the Hebron game.

It was suggested by the doctor that his opponents by means of the lemonade he had made for them, should be made to feel that such a thing was not necessary.

We are living well, and it came into my way: Last Sunday Miss Corn Conner sent us a portion of her layer-cake which the day before was awarded the premium over 11 worthy competitors at the Harvest Home, and Monday things came our way in abundance. Mrs. Emma Carpenter sent to the office a portion of the premium at the Harvest Home on Saturday over the production of 5 other good cooks, and then our autumns friend John G. Cox, from Aurora, ferry mailed us a fine watermelon, which we shipped on the beam at 50 pounds. Hardly had we found a place to store this mammoth, till it stepped our friend James Rogers, from Bellevue, with a 40 pound watermelon for the reason that we had Mr. S. G. Bots, of Petersburg, was the generous donor of a box of handsome and elegantly flavored grapes as can be produced in this climate. To each of the above named friends we extend our grateful thanks.

THE HARVEST HOME.

The weather last Friday was delightful for our day of doing good, and the 1,000 to 1,500 people took advantage of the beautiful sunshine and pleasant and pure atmosphere and attended the Harvest Home, where many old acquaintances met to enjoy each other's company.

Early noon and while the articles for exhibition were being entered and arranged for the show. Simon entertained a large portion of the audience with a short talk. He was followed by the Rev. Mr. Dickerson who discussed the financial question for a short time.

At the close of Mr. Dickerson's address, it was announced that there would be an hour's adjournment for dinner. This announcement was followed by an unusual stir among the many good cooks present, each of whom had prepared a basket especially for the occasion, and in a few minutes the great hall was filled with the fragrance of the dinner.

The excellent dinner put everybody in the best of spirits, and when it was over, the Rev. Mr. Dickerson addressed the assembly, and the Rev. Mr. Dickerson addressed the assembly, and the Rev. Mr. Dickerson addressed the assembly.

OUR TICKET.

For President:
GROVER CLEVELAND,
of New York.

For Vice-President:
A. E. STEVENSON,
of Illinois.

The cholera scare does not abate.
Come to the mass meeting next Saturday.

The Corbett men got the money,
and John Sullivan, the thumping.

That big Democratic rally comes off at Wallon to-morrow. The multitudes will be there.

SOME of the Hoosier Democrats listened to the stirring eloquence of Adlai Stephenson last week.

The Presidential campaign was side-tracked for the Sullivan-Corbett fight, but it now has a clear track. Throw open the throttle.

On the face of the returns it appears that John L. Sullivan went down under Corbett's science, but some say that his defeat was for a consideration.

MR. BLAINE is for the Republican party but for Benjamin Harrison, or he would not have forgotten to mention his name in his recent political letter.

The Democratic nominee for the Vice-Presidency was on a speech making tour last week. At every place he spoke great crowds assembled to hear him.

GREAT multitudes of the inter-fined will assemble in Burlington next Saturday for the purpose of taking the initial step towards making a Democratic candidate for Congress in this district.

The Republicans claim that the Third Party puts Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and the two Virginias in the doubtful column. They even go so far as to wink one eye at Texas.

The World's Fair will be greatly the least should the cholera get a hold in this country next year. On account of the probability of the cholera breaking loose here in 1893, it has been suggested that the Fair should be postponed.

The Florida Republicans and the People's party in that State have been trying to combine, but they failed to agree on terms, and are now in a row of considerable proportions, while the Democrats down there are looking on with complacence.

It will be discovered next Saturday that the Democrats of Boone are considerably interested in the fight for the nomination for Congress, and propose placing a candidate before the Warsaw convention, backed by a ringing endorsement-mark that.

CARTER HARRISON believes somewhat in rainbow chasing, and is of the opinion that the Democrats can carry Illinois this fall, if they will give the State more attention than they have been in the habit of doing. The Democrats will have no money to waste in that quarter.

It is claimed that several of the States in the Northwest will be carried by Weaver, the Third Party candidate for President, owing to the dissatisfaction in that quarter on account of the position of the two old parties on the silver question. This same claim was made immediately after the Chicago convention, but it now begins to look like the claim is well founded.

In this issue will be found the announcement of Mr. J. W. Duncan as a candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court of this county. He served the county in that capacity from September 1874 to September 1880, and if elected he will take charge of the office on the first day of next January. Mr. Duncan has extensive acquaintance in the county, and if elected he will discharge the duties of the office with fidelity.

In this issue will be found the boundaries of both the new Magisterial Districts and the new Voting Precincts as laid out under the new law. It will be a good idea for everybody to read them closely, and learn the location of the lines so as to avoid any trouble when it comes to voting, or the services of a Justice of the Peace are needed; but it should be borne in mind that the present Jurors hold their office to the original districts until their successors are elected as provided in the new constitution.

HOW TO VOTE.

1st. Any person desiring to vote must enter the voting room, and give his name and residence to the clerk, if requested. If he is entitled to vote, the clerk shall then give him one ballot, to be endorsed by the clerk's name in writing, and shall give explanation of the manner of voting on request of the voter.

2d. After receiving the ballot the voter must forthwith retire alone to one of the voting booths and prepare his ballot by making a cross-mark in the square opposite the name of the candidate of his choice. A lens with a X (cross) thereon will be provided in each voting booth for the voter. In case of a question submitted to a vote of the people, the cross-mark should be marked against the answer which the voter desires to give. Should the voter desire to vote for more than one candidate of one party he shall stamp the cross-mark in the large square at the top of the ballot containing the device or emblem under which the names of all candidates of the said party are printed, and the vote so marked shall be counted for all the candidates under that title. Except that when so marked the voter may make the cross-mark after the name of one or more candidates of any other parties, and this vote shall be counted for the candidates so marked, and shall not be counted for the candidates for the same office on the ticket first marked.

If the voter marks more names than there are persons to be elected to an office, his vote shall not be counted for that office. The voter may vote for any qualified person for the office to be filled. A blank line is provided under the name of every candidate printed on the ballot. The voter can write, in black pencil mark, on this blank line the name of the person for whom he desires to vote, and shall stamp the cross-mark in the square opposite on the right, but no printed name shall be marked out.

3. A voter who declares on oath that he is blind or can not read the English language, or who, from physical disability, is unable to make his ballot, may apply to the clerk of the election to assist him in marking the same.

4th. The voter, before leaving the booth, shall fold his ballot so that the endorsements and the facsimile of the signature of the county and the signature of the election clerk shall be exposed, while the cross-marks showing how he voted must be concealed.

5th. The voter must not occupy the voting booth more than three minutes in marking his ballot. He will then hand his ballot, properly folded, to one of the judges of the election, who, after detaching the secondary stub which bears the vot-er's name, will deposit the ballot in the ballot-box.

6th. The voter must then promptly leave the voting-room, and shall not be allowed to re-enter it again during said election.

7th. Should a voter spoil or deface a ballot by mistake, so that it can not be used, he may return it to the clerk of election, and in the place thereof receive one other ballot. If he does not use a ballot delivered to him by the clerk, he shall return it to the clerk before leaving the voting-room. Any voter who shall attempt to leave the room with a ballot in his possession, or shall at once be arrested on demand of either of the judges, and shall be fined therefor not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars.

8th. Voters and officers of election should especially heed the following provisions of the election law:

ARTICLE III, SECTION 37.
"When the polls are closed, the officers of election shall, in the voting-room, immediately count the votes, and certify the same as hereinafter provided; and no adjournment shall be had until the same is completed. When the result of the ballot is ascertained, it shall be immediately announced by one of the judges in front of the voting room, and thereupon the judges shall, in the presence of the clerk, sheriff and the inspectors provided for in the preceding section, detach the ballots voted, mutilated or spoiled, and the ballots remaining unvoted: Provided, That if there are any ballots cast and counted, or left uncounted, concerning the legality or regularity of which there is any doubt or difference of opinion in the minds of the judges of election, said ballots shall not be destroyed, but sealed up and returned to the clerk of the county court with the returns of the election, for such judicial or other investigation as may be necessary, with a true statement as to whether they have or have not been counted, and if counted, what part and for whom."

ARTICLE XIII, SECTION 1.
"Any person who shall knowingly and willfully remove from the election room, or have in his possession outside the election room any ballot, either genuine or counterfeit, during the election, shall be guilty of felony, and, on conviction, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than two years nor more than five years."

9. If any person shall take or remove in any manner, feloniously or with the consent or permission of the custodian of the time, any official ballot or ballots, from an election place where they may lawfully be under this law, shall knowingly and willfully have in his custody or possession such ballots, except as an official or custodian under the law, or while within the polling place for the purpose of voting; or if any such custodian or official shall consent to, or permit any of such ballots to be removed or carried away from the place where they may lawfully be, by any person except such official or custodian whose duty it is to receive the same, such person, custodian or official shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, on conviction, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than three nor more than ten years.

10. Any person who shall, during the election, knowingly and willfully remove or destroy any of the supplies or other conveniences placed in the booths for the purpose of enabling the voter to prepare his ballot, or shall, during an election, remove, tear down or deface the cards printed for the instruction of the voters, or shall, during an election, destroy or remove any booth, or other convenience provided for such election, or shall induce or attempt to induce any person to commit any of such acts, whether or not any of such acts are committed or attempted to be committed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than six months nor more than one year."

This issue will be found a call addressed to the Democratic voters of this Congressional District. The call is signed by the Chairman and Secretary of the District Committee and totally ignores, in every particular, the order published last week, wherein a primary election was provided for Kenton county. It is presumed that Chairman Perry was aware of the supplemental order issued by the members of the District Committee from the several counties, and it is further presumed the Chairman intends to hold the Committee to its action at Sparta. The question now suggests itself, "under whose order will the Kenton county Democrats act?"
Some say that as Perry is Chairman of the District Committee, and has never held a meeting at which the Kenton county primary was called, he has the under holds. That the changing of the original order which provided for district meetings in Kenton county, was irregular. Be that as it may, a conflict of authority has bobbed up.

LATER—Since the above was put in type, Dr. Furnish, the District Committee for this county, was notified that the committee would meet at Sparta, yesterday, for the purpose of reconciling the trouble which is threatened in Kenton county. It will take very nice work on the part of Chairman Perry and the Committee, to avoid an unpleasant and tedious quarrel which would be a disgrace to the pointing to a sultry time at the capital of Gallatin county on the 27th inst.

The Kenton county Democratic Executive Committee met one evening last week, and took action under the order signed by the committee from each of the counties composing this Congressional District, providing for a primary election in that county instead of district mass meetings. The committee adopted the following order and then appointed delegates for the county:

ORDERED: That there being no other name than that of T. F. Hal-lam presented as a candidate before the primary election to be held Sept. 17, 1892, for delegates to the Congressional convention at Warsaw, Sept. 27th, it is resolved that there is no necessity for holding such primary, and the following named delegates are appointed to cast the vote of their respective legislative districts in this county:

The Sunday Record says:
"Mr. Egan moved that the vote of the Kenton county delegation be cast for Mr. Theodore F. Hallam for no further change, and that the delegates be instructed to vote for that candidate. The motion was

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 23, 1892.

The steady tramp of troops and roll of drums and bugle-blasts wakened Washington as it has not been aroused since the army review of 1865. Great battalions of soldiers marched into the city under every available corner was packed with people.

It was an opportunity not to be lost by the shrewd, "still-hunt" Republican politicians, and they made good use of political machinery during the Encampment.

In 1884 the goddess of justice opened the portals of the White House and the great Cleveland entered. There has come over the horizon of Republicanism a threatening storm cloud and the captain and crew caught to the immemorial army line with the hope of casting anchor in every State in the Union. However, there are Cleveland men everywhere among the old soldiers, and there appeared on the wide streets of Washington that "tiger" that slays forever at the door of the Presidency and says who shall and who shall not enter the White House.

Around the street windows where Mrs. Cleveland's pictures hang the veterans stand in almost solid rank, and gazed in affectionate respect at the lovely face so pure and lofty in expression.

It was not a bad thing after all for the Encampment to have been in the Capital; to the foremost of the country will be carried the first-hand feeling of Washingtonians in regard to the ex-and-the next President.

In the grand military marches only the men were in file, but on all other parades the women outnumbered the soldiers and their medals were more conspicuous.

It was exceedingly interesting to have the ladies, and seeing them when they were carried back to the days when they, as young maidens, pined for the soldier boys, who, after a lapse of thirty years, walked beside them, each bearing the proud name of "veteran," and each seeming to say to the stranger, "this is the girl who married you."

Magisterial Districts.

To the Hon. E. H. Baker, Judge of

the Boone County Court:

We, the undersigned Commissioners,

appointed by the Boone County

Court on the 1st Monday in August,

1892, by an order entered of record in said court on said first Monday in August for the purpose of dividing said county into Justices' Districts,

do hereby provide by an act of the Legislature approved July 20th, 1890, entitled "an act to establish Justices'

Districts in each county of the State,"

submit the following report: We met on the day of our appointment, but not having time to complete the work on that day adjourned until August

3rd, on which day we again met and completed the work of dividing said county into Justices' Districts.

We divided said county into six magisterial districts, and the same are —making six magisterial districts with an estimated population of 2000 in each district. Said districts are bound as follows, viz:

Beginning at the Ohio river near the mouth of Garrison Creek, thence following the road leading up said creek to Bullittville Church;

thence along the dirt road leading by

C. A. Gaines to Asby's Fork creek;

thence down said creek to Woolper;

thence up said creek to the fork of a bridge over a cooler pike; thence with said turnpike to the fork of the Burlington & Bellevue turnpike road; thence along the old dirt road leading past the Rock Springs school house to the fork of the road near Frank Border's residence; thence following the road leading to the bridge on the Florence and Union turnpike road near Gunpowder postoffice; thence up the creek to Frogtown; thence following the dirt road passing the residences of Geo.

Lipp, Sam Dobbin and James Rogers to the Hicks turnpike; thence with the pike to the dirt road near the toll gate on said pike; thence with said road to Richmond church on Mud Lick creek; thence down said creek, passing through the lamps of Dan Bedinger, Wm. Riley and the Platt place to the Beaver and Richmond church; thence with road to where it forks on top of the hill near David Houston's residence;

thence a straight line to Jim Hume's residence but not including it in this district; thence following said straight line to the Gallatin county line; thence with said Gallatin county line to the place of beginning.

District No. 2. Beginning in the Kenton county line and District No.

5, near Richmond station; thence with the line of said District No. 5 to Frogtown; thence with lines of District No. 1 to Gunpowder creek at A. S. Crider's including him; thence with the lines of District No.

1 to the mouth of Elijah's creek on the Ohio river near Taylorport;

thence up said river to the mouth of said river; thence with the Kenton county line; thence with the Kenton county line to the place of beginning.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

M. T. GARRETT, Com'r.

W. A. PRICE, Com'r.

J. S. HUEY, Com'r.

Voting Districts.

The Commissioners appointed to divide the county into Justices' districts having made their report, and said report having laid over for the time required by law, and no exceptions or objections having been made thereby, it is now ordered that the Justices' Districts into which the county is divided be and they are hereby established as the Justices'

Districts of this county, and to be

A MAJORITY OF 70,555 for the Democratic State ticket in Georgia last week, once more proves that the claims of the People's party in the South are wild exaggerations.

Only three weeks from next Tuesday until the Presidential election, and let every Democrat in the county prepare to go to the polls and vote. It is a duty you owe your country.

Let every Democrat in Boone county make himself a committee of one to insist upon his neighbor coming out to the polls in November and voting for Cleveland and Stevenson and Berry.

We suggest that an organization be effected at an early date in each precinct in the county, and able advocates of the ticket be invited to discuss the principles of the party from now until the November election.

This notorious Dalton gang were wiped off the face of the earth last Wednesday while trying to rob a couple of banks at Coffeyville, Kas. They were caught by the citizens of that place and shot down, but not until four citizens yielded up their lives in the extermination.

The Republicans have got another scheme by which they expect to carry Indiana next month for Harrison, and the Lawrenceburg Register says it is to be worked this way: "One Republican will bet with a number of Democrats, then challenge the vote of each at the polls. Of course he loses his own vote, but at the same time he is knocking out all the Democrats with whom he bet."

The Republican newspapers of the State, willing to injure the commercial standing of the Commonwealth to make a point against the Democratic party, have repeatedly stated of late that the Treasury is empty. The attention of these editors is called to the fact that on last Saturday there were paid out for school teachers alone $608,000, and that on the first days of November, December and January, still other sums will be paid there as required by law; and, further, that there is many a good dollar yet in the Treasury, subject to any legal demands that may be made upon it.—Capital.

In speaking of the nomination made at the Warsaw convention, the Newport State Journal says:

"There should be an especial pride in seeing to it that Campbell county gives a rousing majority for Albert S. Berry. A better equipped representative never sat in the House from the Sixth Congressional District. Active, energetic, pushing, determined, proud of his State, devoted to his home, Campbell co., and the city of Newport will see their interests advanced, and so will each and every county in the District."

Boone has always been the banner county in the district, and she should try and retain her "rep." If the people will go to the polls, and not stay at home and say, "there is enough without me," Col. Berry's majority in old Boone will be 2,000.

The Falmouth Democrat waged a vigorous opposition to Col. A. S. Berry previous to the Warsaw Convention, but now takes the position that all true Democrats should, after their party has named their standard bearer. It says:

"Some of our good friends have been trying to poke fun at us, and say we have to 'eat crow' in supporting Col. Berry for Congress. They can call it 'crow' or 'turkey' as best suits them, but we have never yet had any trouble in giving any Democratic nominee a hearty and cordial support. We are not one of that class of individuals who set themselves up as being bigger than the party. Three times we supported Congressman Dickerson, and Col. Berry was one of his opponents each time and he was successful in two out of the three races. And Col. Berry's friends, to a man, would be the first to tell you that they would be the first to support any of Mr. Dickerson's supporters who should their vote from

Col. Berry after he has succeeded in obtaining the nomination. All pretensions and differences were settled at the Warsaw convention, and we should all be for Col. Berry."

The New York Sun says: "There are already meteorological signs of a mild winter. Snipes, the tellers in the Congress of weather souls, have been seen to fly south. Swallows stayed north three weeks after their regular time to leave, and that is regarded as a sign of an open winter. Robins are still lingering north of the Potomac, and should have flown south ten days ago, the weather sharp declares, if they hadn't felt it in such bones as they are possessed of that we are going to have a late fall and a warm winter. A woodcock shot in Pennsylvania last week had only a few feathers on it, and that's another sure sign of mild weather. So much for the birds. A coon trapped in a cornfield the other night was as poor as a crow, and that is held to mean that the weather will be so mild that he will be able to be out every day, instead of having to hibernate, as was the case last winter. Moreover, rationalists are crawling in the huckleberry patches as lively as they were in midsummer, and that is another sure sign of mild winter mildness."

With this term of Circuit Court that closes this week, Hons. Warren Montfort and John S. Gaunt make their last official appearance here. They have been efficient, conscientious and painstaking public servants, and are worthy of the esteem and confidence of any constituency. They have a host of friends here who are sorry to part with them, and this is especially true of those who have been associated with them in their capacity of court officials.

Judge Montfort's career on the bench has been one of exceptional diligence in his duties as well as in courtesy toward all those who have had business in his court. Always courteous but ever firm in his rulings he has, from the beginning of his term as Judge, enjoyed the esteem and the entire confidence of the attorneys at this bar as well as of those who came here from a distance.

When called upon to deliver a written opinion in any case tried before him, Judge Montfort has always responded with alacrity, and the result was a clear, comprehensive legal opinion expressed in the best of English, and an unmistakable testimonial as to the splendid judicial mind with which he is endowed.

Messrs. Montfort and Gaunt, each being a skillful lawyer, will not lack for clients, and their legal services will be in demand throughout the district.

JUDGE WALTER Q. GREHAM candidate for the Republican nomination for President in 1888, has declared himself for Cleveland, Stevenson and Tariff Reform. Judge Greham is one of the ablest men of the country and his connection with the Democratic party has created a tremendous sensation among his former political associates, and has discredited the managers of the Republican campaign. He has a large following among the better class of Republicans in Indiana, of which State he is a native, and in Illinois, where he has lived since his removal to Chicago on his appointment as U. S. Circuit Judge some years ago. He is also held in high esteem among the workingmen, with whom he has always sympathized.

Everywhere known as one of the purest and ablest men in the country, there is no man whose reputation of his lifelong party affiliation would produce a profounder impression upon the people. Occupying a high position in the judicial department of the government, by Republican appointment, he might well have held himself aloof from the political campaign. But he has the courage of his convictions, and having long been disgusted with the policy of the party, and foreseeing the evil outcome of its manipulation of national affairs, his patriotism and judgment rose in strong revolt, and he uttered his condemnation briefly but emphatically, shall vote for Mr. Cleveland, and that is all there is about it," said he.

There is no use of any one suffering with the cholera when Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can be procured. It will give relief in a few minutes and cure in a short time. I have tried it and know—W. H. Clinton, Helmetta, N. J. The epidemic at Helmetta was first believed to be cholera, but subsequent investigation proved it to be a violent form of dysentery, almost as dangerous as cholera. This remedy was used there with great success. For sale by A. M. Acra.

The town of Williamstown was visited again last Saturday night by a very disastrous fire. A school house and a number of other buildings were consumed. The fire was caused by a lantern left burning unattended. The citizens think they have at last got the one who has been doing the dirty work.

Magisterial Districts.

To the Hon. E. H. Baker, Judge of the Boone County Court:

We, the undersigned Commissioners, appointed by the Boone County Court on the 1st Monday in August, 1889, by an order entered of record in said court on said first Monday in August for the purpose of dividing said county into Justices' Districts, as provided by an act of the Legislature approved July 29, 1888, entitled "an act to establish Justices' Districts in each county of the State," submit the following report: We met on the day of our appointment, but not having time to complete the work on that day adjourned until August 3rd, on which day we again met and completed the work of dividing said county into Justices' Districts, making six magisterial districts with an estimated population of 2000 in each district. Said districts are bounded as follows, viz:

District No. 1. Beginning at the Ohio river near the mouth of Garrison Creek, thence following the road leading up to the creek to Bullittsville Church; thence along the dirt road leading to C. A. Gainer to Ashby's Creek; thence down said creek to Woolper; thence up said creek to the iron bridge on the Waterbury road; thence with said turnpike to its intersection with the Burlington & Bellevue turnpike road; thence along the old dirt road leading past the Rock Springs to Bruce's mill on Middle Creek; thence with the Garnett Mill & Big Bone road to Locust Grove school house; thence a straight line to Gunpowder Creek where it enters the Mill and Big Bone road crosses it; thence up said creek to the mouth of a branch near the old Sam Weidner residence (now J. C. Mitchell's); thence a straight line including the residence of George Popham, W. B. Adams and Abel Beeson, to the forks of Gunpowder Creek; thence up the north prong of said creek to point where Wash Lee, Will Smith and P. B. Cloud's lands corner; thence a straight line to the mouth of a branch on Elijah's Creek corner of Geo. O. Halsey and Dan Manning; thence down Elijah's Creek to the Ohio river; thence down the river to the beginning.

District No. 2. Beginning near the mouth of Garrison Creek, corner of said District No. 1; thence with the line of said District No. 1 to the East Bend road; thence with the East Bend road to the old Gideon Cook house; thence a straight line to the mouth of Middle Creek at the Ohio river; thence up the river to the place of beginning.

District No. 3. Beginning at the mouth of Middle Creek at the Ohio river; thence with the line of District No. 2 to Garnett's Mill and Big Bone road; thence with a line of District No. 1 to Gunpowder Creek; thence down said creek to the place where the turnpike crosses it; thence a straight line to the forks of the road opposite T. A. Hays's residence; thence along the turnpike to the tollgate on the Union Baker turnpike road; thence with the said turnpike to the bridge on Big Bone creek; thence down said creek to the mouth of Middle Creek at the Ohio river; thence a straight line to a point on the Beaver and South Fork turnpike opposite Hume's post office; thence with said T. A. Road to South Fork Creek in Gallatin County line and line of District No. 1; thence with the line of said District No. 1 to the point where the line of District No. 1 crosses Gunpowder creek; thence with a line of District No. 1 to the Burlington and Union dirt road; thence along said road but not including the farm of said Crisler, to the common school house at the fork's of the road near Frank Hume's residence; thence following the road leading to the bridge on the Florence and Union turnpike road near Gunpowder postoffice; thence up the creek to Froggton; thence following the road passing the residences of Geo. Lipp, Sam Dobbins and James Rogers to the Hicks turnpike; thence with the turnpike to the dirt road near the toll gate on said turnpike; thence with said road to Richmond church on Mud Lick creek; thence down said creek, passing through the farms of John Bengert, Wm. R. Roy and the Platt place to the Beaver and Verona road; thence with said road to where it forks on top of the hill near David Houston's residence; thence a straight line to Jim Crisler's residence but not including it in this district; thence continuing said straight line to the Gallatin county line; thence with said Gallatin county line to the place of beginning.

District No. 4. Beginning at the South Fork creek in the Gallatin county line and line of District No. 1; thence with the line of said District No. 1 to the point where the line of District No. 1 crosses Gunpowder creek; thence with a line of District No. 1 to the Burlington and Union dirt road; thence along said road but not including the farm of said Crisler, to the common school house at the fork's of the road near Frank Hume's residence; thence following the road leading to the bridge on the Florence and Union turnpike road near Gunpowder postoffice; thence up the creek to Froggton; thence following the road passing the residences of Geo. Lipp, Sam Dobbins and James Rogers to the Hicks turnpike; thence with the turnpike to the dirt road near the toll gate on said turnpike; thence with said road to Richmond church on Mud Lick creek; thence down said creek, passing through the farms of John Bengert, Wm. R. Roy and the Platt place to the Beaver and Verona road; thence with said road to where it forks on top of the hill near David Houston's residence; thence a straight line to Jim Crisler's residence but not including it in this district; thence continuing said straight line to the Gallatin county line; thence with said Gallatin county line to the place of beginning.

District No. 5. Beginning in the Gallatin county line and line of District No. 4; thence with the line of District No. 4 to the Froggton road, including James M. Hume's residence; thence with the Froggton road to the Lexington turnpike road; thence continuing a straight line to the Kenton county line; thence with the said Kenton county line to the Grant county line; thence with the Grant county line to the Gallatin county line; thence with the Gallatin county line to the place of beginning.

District No. 6. Beginning in the Kenton county line and District No. 5, near Richmond station; thence with the line of said District No. 5 to Froggton; thence with the line of District No. 4 to Gunpowder creek at A. S. Crisler's including him; thence with the line of District No. 1 to the mouth of Elijah's creek on the Ohio river near Taylorport; thence up said river to the Kenton county line; thence with the Kenton county line to the place of beginning.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS CELEBRATING

At nine o'clock on Friday, Oct. 31, the schools will assemble. At past nine a detail of veterans reach the school building in Maine in California in Dakota as in I

ana. A color guard of pupils will escort the old soldiers at the entrance to escort them into the building. At a given signal the pupils will gather in the large hall or in the yard where exercises are to take place, and the master of ceremonies will begin reading of the president's proclamation declaring the day a national holiday. As the reader finishes he announces the exercises with this recommendation:

As the flag reaches the top of the staff the veterans will lead the salute in "three cheers for 'Old Glory'." Then, at a signal from the principal, the pupils face the flag and give it a military salute, saying: "I pledge glance to my flag and the republic which it stands; one nation individual with liberty and justice for all."

In unison will sing "America."

A prayer and an acknowledgment
God follows, and the song of Columbia will have its first rendition in public. The first stanza is given in accompanying cut. The other stanzas follow:

A musical score for the song 'The Rose Tree'. It features three staves of music. The lyrics are written below the staves: 'I have a tree, my tree, all full of gold', 'When June is by around things green at the', and 'That tree the rose tree, that tree the rose tree'.

Dear country, the star of the vallant an Thy exilia afar are dreaming of thee.
No fields of the earth so enchantingly sh
No air breathes such incense, such m thine.

Humanity's some; thy smothering arms Gives welcome and room to strange pressed.
Pale children of hunger and hatred and Find life in thy freedom and joy in thy Thy fairest estate the lowly may hold,
Thy poor may grow great, thy feeble bold:
For worth is the watchword to noble deeds
And manhood is mighty where man free.
O union of states, and union of souls!

They promise awaits, thy future unfolds,
And earth from her twilight is halting:
That rises where people and rulers are

An address follows in which the story of the four centuries is told, give it in condensed form as follows:

We, who are here met together, are not only in company with 13,000,000 pupils of American public schools. That is the story of this day, which stirs our hearts.

Though our eyes do not see all these, we see them with our minds—an army of 13,000,000.

boys and girls gathered in schoolhouses and schoolhouses little, throughout the land and all with the flag of our country over them. All are assembled at the residence of the president of the United States for a purpose. That purpose is to celebrate the birth of America by Columbus, whose ship sailed 400 years ago this morning, to sign the first step toward the new world.

Yes—the New World. For that day added more than a new continent to the world. It changed the prospects of the world. It opened broad lands to their

Have those hopes been disappointed? That there are 13,000,000 American children free school rooms this morning is the evidence that those hopes have been more than fulfilled.

Behind him, in old Europe, Columbus saw his own ancestors—men, women, girls and boys—without any better prospect than that of living and fighting for kings and nobles. Behind him a world where the masses of people were common people and where common people were treated as having freedom.

He saw before him a new world, where common people, set free to do their own work were happy and by so establishing the nation for everybody, free education for all children and a government for the people people.

He saw before him a new world where common people, set free to do their own work were happy and by so establishing the nation for everybody, free education for all children and a government for the people people.

100,000 of us pupils of the common school this day dream in thankfulness to God who made Columbus this, and who moved Columbus to make this a land of freedom.

school. All that our forefathers did we receive done for us: it is given to us freely. So is laid a mighty trust. Upon us is laid to be patriots, like those who made the glad place it is. The people to do made the school children all over the leaders in this Columbus day celebration to give to us a lesson in patriotism we never shall forget.

We can begin to be patriots now. patriots as soon as we love our country. One. When we try to make our school school, when we try to make our games, we begin to be patriotic citizens. And then, we, the boys and girls of to-day, are going to be the men and women of America before long. Very soon we will be to govern the towns and cities, build the roads and make the laws. Whatever we shall do, makes all the people happier will make our country's flag brighter. But if we shall do anything that will make our country less happy when we grow up for things that are wrong, we would stain the flag.

So, let us promise that the flag of our country shall be a land, which, so proud and bright, flies over a people that are free.

heads-to-day, shall never be stained

The United States government has decided to sell the National Forest land under the homestead law, the unroamed lands of the Marquette & Little Bay Du Sable National Forest, in the State of Michigan, in Northern Michigan. At the same time the rights of the Ontonagon & Huron National Forests have been sold to the tract of land in the upper Peninsula of Michigan. This gives an unprecedented opportunity to obtain valuable mineral lands, which are among the best in the upper Peninsula, and are sold only once in a lifetime. The lands are situated on the Northern Railroad between Chicago and Lake Superior.

This Is Short but Sweet.
 Tuesday's victory is the biggest thing the Democrats have had on tap for some time. Why not rejoice for a season? It was an educational campaign, and the education was all our side, and as a result Cleveland has 264 electoral votes. Get ready turn the fire works loose—let the guns boom and the orators orate, for the land and the fullness thereof is the Democrats. Read the first page for particulars.

And there stood old Kentucky. The Populists made a strong fight in the West.

The big chrysanthemum show is in progress in Cincinnati this week.

Tuesday was a beautiful day for the election in this neck o' woods.

Wednesday was a regular winter day, snow falling throughout the day.

The secret ballot did not lift old Kentucky out of the Democratic column.

The occupant of the White House for the next four years has been named again.

The colored voters turned out well here Monday. They were on the scene of action early.

The war of the ballots is now over, and the big political guns on both sides will be allowed to cool off.

It is strange how differently the leading politicians sum up the results of an election previous to the casting of the ballots.

ALTHOUGH our Republican friends are declaring that Kentucky's Treasury is empty it is nevertheless a fact that the claims against the State are being paid with promptness.

For a long back there is nothing better than to saturate a flannel cloth with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on the affected parts. Try it and you will be surprised at the prompt relief it affords. The same treatment will cure rheumatism. For sale by A. M. Acm.

There is yet a vast amount of work for the Legislature to do before it adjourns sine die. The road law, school law, fence law, and the town charters have to be attended to yet, besides a multiplicity of other small matters which will be none the less perplexing and annoying to the law makers.

The fore bill was not an issue in the campaign just closed, declared the Republicans. Nevertheless they called to their assistance an army of deputy United States Marshals last Tuesday. They are committed to the force bill and are determined to force it upon the country at the first opportunity.

The suit to mandamus the Auditor in the matter of the appropriation for the World's Fair, was filed in the Franklin Circuit Court last Saturday morning, and was soon disposed of by Judge Montfort, the following being the order entered therein:

"This day came the parties here to, and by counsel filed a petition for mandamus, and notice thereof having been waived before, the plaintiff moved the court that on this day it issue a mandamus against the defendant in accordance with the prayer herein and the defendant filed his answer herein and the plaintiff filed their demurrer to said answer.

"And this case having been heard and submitted upon the demurrer to the answer herein, and the court being advised, is considered by the court the said answer is insufficient and the said demurrer is sustained. The defendant had leave to amend his answer, and he declined to plead further, and thereupon the court being advised, it is ordered that the defendant be and he is hereby commanded to draw his warrant on the Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Kentucky for the sum of $25,000 in favor of the plaintiff upon the requisition filed with the petition herein, and is further ordered that the plaintiff recover of the defendant L. C. Stephens their costs herein expended."

"From which judgment the defendant prays an appeal to the Court of Appeals which is granted."

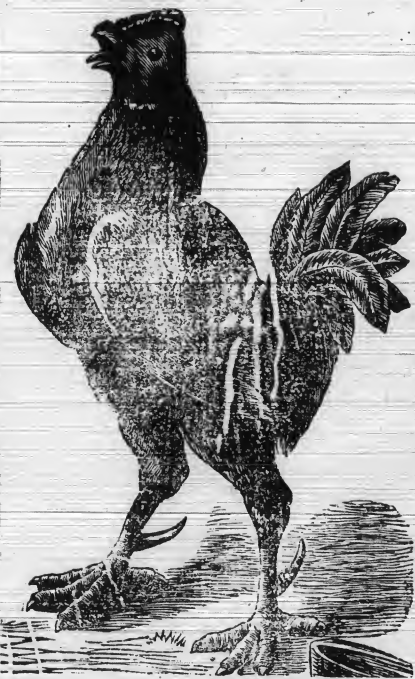

The case has been set for hearing in the Court of Appeals on the 15th of this month, shortly after which the matter will be finally disposed of, and the question as to what constitutes the "final passage" of a bill by the General Assembly, settled.

A homestead of 20 acres of the above described tract has been set apart to Mrs. Eliza Senour—said homestead is bounded as follows:

Beginning at a stone in the Vinalia road corner of R. D. Hedger; thence a 2 1-2 poles to a stone, corner of another corner of said Hedger; thence with his line a 80 1-2 poles to a stone; thence a 34 1-2 poles to a stone; thence a 80 1-2 poles to a stone, corner of a 100 1-2 poles to a stone, corner of a 100 1-2 poles to the beginning. Sale of the above land will be as follows: I will first sell all the land outside of the above described homestead, and the sum bid for the parcel will be applied to the discharge of the defendant J. M. Loring's first mortgage debt, interest and costs, viz: $1,145 64, and the residue, if any, to the discharge of the plaintiff Wren's debt, interest and cost, viz: $52 23, and if there still be a residue, it will be applied to the discharge of the defendant Loring's second mortgage debt, interest and costs, viz: $254 33.
 I will then sell the homestead or so much thereof as is necessary to satisfy any residue on said defendant Loring's second mortgage debt, interest and costs, but, if the sale of all of the land outside of the homestead should satisfy said Loring's first mortgage debt, interest and costs, I will then ignore the first sale and sell

THE POOR POSTMAN.
 His Relations Some of the Trials He Has to Undergo.
 "It may be wrong," remarked a weary looking mail-carrier, who was discussing a slab of pie and a cup of mystery in a rapid lunch, says the New Advertiser, "but it's my opinion that we postmen are asked more foolish questions than anybody else in this town."
 "Here's a few that I just struck on the block of my route."
 "What's the best way to make a kick to Wamsutter?"
 "When does the next mail go to Alaska?" and "Don't you ever get tired mailing?"
 "These are samples of the odd hundred or so of queries that every letter-carrier gets fired at him in the course of a day. When a man's liver tries to be polite and answer, but I got over it long ago. It's too wearing."

At the instance of a man at the next town, the learned one and asked the complaining one to stop at his office when he went out and get a package of one hundred thousand circulars that couldn't be left in the mailbox.
A Subterranean Lake.
 An underground lake has been discovered three miles from Genese, Idaho. It was found by a well digger. At a depth of sixteen feet clear, pure lake water ran out over the surface for a time, then settled back to the earth's level. The most curious part of it is that the water was brought to the surface by the overflow. They have a peculiar appearance and are light blue, indicating that they are underground. The spring has attracted much attention, and many farmers in the vicinity fear that their farms will drop into the lake.

"German Syrup"

I am a farmer at Edom, Texas. I have used German Syrup for six years successfully for Sore Throat, Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Pain in Chest and Lungs and Spitting-up of blood. I have tried many kinds of Cough Syrups in my time, but I feel easy to anyone wanting such a medicine—German Syrup is the best. We are subject to so many sudden changes from cold to hot, damp weather here, but in June when German Syrup is used there is little trouble from colds. John F. Jones.

Public Opinion.

Many of us have not the courage to express our own convictions and opinions, but follow blindly in the wake of others who set the pace for us. We always admire the outspoken sentiment, but are afraid to venture ourselves. This is true, not only of our manners but of our health. Many of us will suffer from indigestion and constipation for years and go blindly along, hoping that next week we will be better or that change of climate will restore our health, when in fact, we are growing worse continually. It is a well known fact that constipation is a factor in developing rheumatism. This malady can be cured and cured definitely and effectually by getting a box of the Laxative Gum Drops, and taking them every night on retiring. Begin with from three to five until the result is obtained and then gradually lessen the number until finally they will produce the desired result. They will cure any form of dyspepsia, indigestion or stomach trouble. Get them of any dealer. Small size for cents, large size 25 cents.

IRRESPONSIBLE CARPERS.

There is already the same warning being of republicans who declare that their business will be ruined on the day they must abandon projected new tax surcharges as followed the election results. The warning is not a word to say to those who may be tempted to adopt this form of expression. Their partnership after it has ceased to have any weight.

This class of men is made up of two species: First, those who are financially ruined by the sale, and are looking about for some one else upon whom to charge the probable consequences of their own incapacity or shiftlessness. Many of this kind declared years ago that if Cleveland was elected their business would be ruined. Now that Cleveland has been elected, they became bankrupt just the same. They sought to saddle on the

HATCHING DEMOCRATIC ROOSTERS FOR —St. Louis Rep.

PARAGRAPHIC POINTER

—You can buy some of the sometimes, but you cannot buy a states all the time.—Charleston Courier.

—When James O. Blaine announced his hat in the senate finance committee rooms over the McKinley tariff, he smashed the republican party with—Albany Argus.

—To teach the farmer vote of an almost prohibitive tariff was on wool, but even the farmers have come tired of having protection pulled over their eyes.—N. Y. Her.

—The statement that Mr. land has refused to pledge himself made with such flourish, is so new to the country. It nominates selected him because it knew he was a pledging man—St. Louis Globe.

—Thomas C. Platt was a success as a prophet than he was a boss. He lost eight state campaigns in succession to the democrats. He said that Harrison could not carry New York and hit the bull's eye every time. —World.

—The latest advices confirm Mr. Cleveland's cabinet make it probably certain that it will contain a Wampanaker or an Elkine. It ought to satisfy the republican makers for a little while. —Indian Sentinel.

—One of the president's organs

—This is a democratic virtue to go wild over, but to seriously joyously contemplate as putting to prostitution of the powers federal government, the republicans and end of building up a large and "protective" classocracy, upon the backs of the leg and consuming millions—monocracy.—Rochester Union.

—Renewed confidence in the new tact and sound judgment of Cleveland is given as a reason for the sudden and wonderful advance in price of grain. The farmers of the Great West, Cleveland and his people, are glad to see the advance in the price of stocks and cereals gives them the calamity howlers who predicted eternal ruin under the new regime. Toledo Bee.

—Out of the general wreck, a good piece of fragment is saved. The Legislature has passed a bill, approved by a majority of eighty-four yeas, and thirty nays, for a ballot, and Quay will be re-elected to the United States senate. This is appropriate and significant. It is the ripe fruit of republicanism. It ought to be saved if all else is lost. It was only for the sake of preserving the principle of the ballot that we should use the democratic, this republic.

—Stuffed or unstuffed, Maryland is a prophet who has led the people out of the land of bondage who promises to guide them so that they shall have entered a land in which the good things of this life shall be more equitably distributed than as they equitably depend upon present administration and present conditions. He now promises nothing to wise men as the impostors, impostures, and through rain, and shine he may be relied upon to give full duty of a man—just, wise, and true.—Baltimore News.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 25, 1892.

To the Editors of the Recorder:

A few changes in the White House will be noticed by Mrs. Cleveland on her return to Wash- ington. She will find the mansion illuminated throughout with electric lights, which were substituted for gas two years ago. In the blue room she will find new silk tap- eteria on the walls, a ceiling fresh- ly hand-painted with designs rep- resenting the clouds of morning and evening, and furniture goro- gously recovered. She will observe that the green room has been paper- ed in a light shade of green, and that the great vestibule has been much improved by redecoration.

Apart from these features, how- ever, all will be just the same as it was when she left the establishment four years ago. Everything in it will be in perfect order, just as it had only gone away the day before. Mr. Harrison, before his departure, will follow the usual custom by having a thorough house- cleaning, so that the residence may be in proper shape for the reception of Uncle Sam's new tenant. Thus the most popular woman in Amer- ica, returning as a visitor to the house where she formerly reigned as a bride, will find it swept and garnished to receive her.

On the 4th of March, 1893, the White House will be a vacant dwelling. Mr. Harrison will have sent his family away and will have made all preparations for his own departure. Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland will come to Washington a short time in advance of the inaugura- tion and will take apartments at one of the hotels. When the Har- rison came here four years ago the Cleveland invited them to stay at the Executive Mansion until inaugu- ration day, but the offer of hos- pitality was declined. Owing to his recent bereavement, Mr. Har- rison will hardly return the com- plement by extending a similar in- vitation to Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland.

A little before noon on March 4, Mr. Cleveland will proceed alone to the White House, where he will be welcomed by Mr. Harrison. The outgoing President will have his private carriage at the door, in which his coachman will drive Mr. Cleveland and himself down Penn- sylvania Avenue to the Capitol, where the incoming President will deliver his inaugural address. The new President and the ex-President will then return to the White House, where Mr. Harrison will bid Mr. Cleveland good-bye and will be driven away, leaving his suc- cessor in possession. Mrs. Cleve- land and Baby Ruth will soon after go to the White House, in time for the President and his wife to view the parade from the stand in front of the Executive Mansion.

President-elect Cleveland and his charming wife are said to be fairly overwhelmed with social attention in New York. Their great popu- larity—especially in the case of Mrs. Cleveland—seems to be still further augmented by the magni- ficent endorsement and vindication at the hands of his countrymen. At all social functions at which she appears Mrs. Cleveland is always surrounded, and to a person not as well accustomed as herself to the attention of the public, the notice she receives would be very embar- rassing. It is not surprising, there- fore, that Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland are looking forward to escaping a little while from the homage of the masses by spending a few weeks, and perhaps the most of the com- ing three months, at some quiet re- sort than New York city.

Here at the capital active prepa- rations for the inauguration have already begun. The inaugural Executive Committee recently ap- pointed, has created an auxiliary citizens' committee of 150 promi- nent citizens of Washingtonians— 100 Democrats and 50 Republicans—to aid in arranging and manag- ing the details of the inauguration, and both committees will at once get down to work. The prospects are that the inauguration will be the greatest in the point of enthu- siasm and numbers in attendance in the history of the government. Already hotel accommodations for thousands have been engaged, and the crowd promises to tax the ca- pacity of the city. Tammany Hall, New York city's great political or- ganization which gave Mr. Cleve- land such a magnificent majority in Gotham, will send 3,000 Braves, and no body of Democrats in the country have a better right to take part in the happy occasion. Every section of the country will be well represented, and altogether it will be a great low-cost of Democracy.

In a short time the last session of the Fifty-second Congress will convene, and already the capital is beginning to fill up with those who will spend the winter here. It is probable that not a great deal of legislation, outside the passage of the appropriation bills, will be attempted, as this is the short season, terminating on the 4th of March next.

There continues considerable dis- cussion of the calling by Mr. Cleve- land, shortly after his inauguration of a special session of the newly elected Congress. The necessity which may bring this about will not be the urgent need of early tariff legislation, as it is felt that that obligation can be better met through the appointment by the coming Congress of a tariff commission to formulate and report to the new Congress a tariff bill or bills at the regular session in December next. A condition demanding prompt attention, however, is the prospect that the outgoing Republi- can administration will turn over to Mr. Cleveland and his party not only an empty treasury, but an actual deficit between the estimated receipts and expenditures of the government for the current fiscal year of about $87,000,000. These are the figures given out by the Republican treasury officials them- selves, and they tell their own story and point their own moral.

When Mr. Cleveland retired from the Presidency, he turned over to Mr. Harrison a surplus of $100,000,000. Mr. Harrison will turn back to him an empty treasury and a deficit of $80,000,000 or to that effect. It is this alarming prospective con- dition which may necessitate an ex- tra session of Congress.

Whitelaw Reid has an eye to busi- ness. He contributed $75,000 to the Republican campaign fund, but the sequel proved that it had a large-sized string tied to it. The seventy-five thousand dollars had hardly got settled in the contribu- tion box, when Mr. Reid's paper, the New York Tribune, sent a bill to the national committee for seventy thousand dollars for adver- tising. Whitelaw will be seen in only one five thousand dollars on the campaign and Whitelaw is a millionaire. President Harrison is a poor man, comparatively speak- ing, and when he ruminates on his personal contribution of forty thousand dollars and then thinks of Reid's skinflint transaction he must feel rather bitter against his late running mate. The Republi- cans made a great big mistake when they dropped Levi P. Morton to pick up Whitelaw Reid—Paduch News.

The following from the Vevay Times, is a history of the cannon used at the jollification at this place last Wednesday night: "As I woke you from your slum- bers Tuesday morning, I was so happy myself that I thought may be some one would like to hear the cause of my happiness. So I shall give you some of my many experi- ences in which you will bear in mind that being buried and soaked does not have a tendency to help one's memory.

"I was cast at Pittsburgh and was brought to Rising Sun by Gen. Keene in 1820. Then the old Swiss Co., of Vevay, brought me to Cin- cinnati, in 1824, to greet Lafayette, imagine how proud I was when after firing ten rounds a minute, La- fayette himself congratulated the company and me.

"I was used occasionally in those times for political purposes by the Democrats and Whigs, but I was always a Democrat, always was against the grain to be used by the enemy, but happily that occurred very seldom.

"There, too, I was used at celebra- tions, but that is the sad part of my history. At a celebration in honor of the marriage of Uncle Ned Patton I was the unfortunate cause of the death of Rudolph Morcor, a brother of Uncle Amie Morcor. At another time (4th of July celebra- tion) Flem Jones had an arm blown off.

BATTLING WITH SHARKS.

Young Cuban's Brave Defense of a Purser's Child.

The prehistoric battle I witnessed ended between a young Cuban and two sharks," said an American scientist. "The Cuban was a fisherman, and was only a mile from the docks, awaiting the signal to go on. Several fishermen had boarded us, among them a thirty-year-old young fellow who was a fisherman. He picked up a shark, was guided by the rail, holding his fireproof gun in his arms, watching a couple of monster sharks that were hanging about the vessel, when the shark appeared. The fisherman fell off the board and the shark grabbed him by the water. The fisherman plunged overboard and seized him, and the sharks at once made for the pair. The thirty-year-old young buccaner dropped the fish and the shark grabbed the fish. As the first shark turned ing back, the Invariable prelude to slugging the Cuban rose, and with a long, snarling cry, fairly dismembered it. The shark, however, was not hurt. The Cuban, though, the parser and his child were holed up on deck, and the combatants had a fair field. The Cuban, then, the shark did not wait for him to come up and attack him. Finally, the shark advanced straight on his antagonist, his ugly fin cutting through the water like a knife, striking quickly upon his back, and the two jaws came together with a tremendous crash. The Cuban was not between them. He had swam just in time to avoid the shark, and, as the latter passed, shot the steel into it. The old Cuban wolf made the shark's back bleed, and the shark, with his eyes ist with his tail, but the latter kept all friendships and literally cut him in pieces.—Golden Days.

THE SEX OF THE MOON.

Curious Ideas Entertained in Hegnaded It By Different Nations.

In archaic times the moon was regarded as a male god. "Primitive man," says a well-known writer, "saw the moon as a distinct conspicuous object, and those poets, at periods, had the semblance of a man's face. Its waxing and waning increased their wonder, its smiling and frowning among the stars, its coming and going, and the mystery, still from being viewed as a man it was seated, especially when apparently angry, in a rust or eclipse, and so

"Another reason," says Sir Gardner Wilkinson, "that the moon in Egyptian mythology could not be regarded as a female deity personified in the god Thoth."

When I was a child in some religious in the West the Romans recognized the god Lulus, and the Germans, the god Wotan, the god of the masculine and not feminine as were the Selene and Luna of the Greeks and Romans. In Slavonic, as in "Teutonic mythology, the moon is male."—Pearson's Weekly.

Legislative Proceedings.

FRANKFORT, Dec. 2.—SENATE.—The session did practically nothing. In an attempt to change the time of Christmas adjournment, a quorum was broken, and the senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The house passed the bill, in terms of the circuit court in all the judicial districts of Kentucky. The bill provides that our sessions for Kenton and Campbell counties and the judges of these courts shall hold courts at Independence and Alexandria, county seats, not less than two weeks. If also require it, in February, June and October of each year. Judges of said courts shall be not less than four grand juries to be summoned and impaneled each year, one of which shall meet at the county seat, not at a city or second class.

FRANKFORD, Dec. 4.—SENATE—No business of importance transacted.

HOURS—in the house to-day the bill for the salary of the state's treasurer was passed. The clerk will now receive $1,300, instead of $1,000. It has been announced that Wm. Orider, of Warren county, will be the state's mine inspector.

FRANKFORD, Dec. 4.—SENATE—No business of importance transacted.

HOUSE—The house to-day passed a bill which prohibits cattle and other live stock from being at large upon the highways of the commonwealth, and also prohibits the giving of any county the right to dispose of unappropriated lands to actual settlers in compliance with the provisions of the act.

FRANKFORD, Dec. 7.—SENATE—No business of importance was transacted to-day.

HOUSE—The geographical survey bill, which the senate some days ago over the speaker's veto, was reported adversely in house to-day by the judiciary committee and was debated and put upon its passage.

them, to be correct out had were in pay the laid York. Pope's and, and ered. The first fire-brand was the amendment increasing the salary of the assistant adjutant general from $1,800 to $1,900. A considerable acrimonious debate, the speaker refused to concur in the amendment; increase the pay of the adjutant general; also refused to concur in house amendment decreasing the pay of the adjutant general to $1,800, and voted to $2,000, where it has always been. An amendment was adopted giving the adjutant general a custodian of the arsenal from 1897 to 1900 annum. The bill was then passed. The speaker filibustered the bill providing for a fourth verdict in jury trials into the order of the day. The bill has passed the house.

HOFER—There was another "rumple" in the house today. The Kriger substitute called from the orders of the day, and at every member was alert and most of the day was defeated. After an hour's sharp-shooting opposition, forces of 30 to 35, and 30 to 35, were necessary to carry it. This ends the sting fight of all the long session unless a timely new bill is introduced. The house rejected the senate substitute increasing the pay of the employees of the general assembly by a large majority. The bill providing for working of delinquent tax payers on the grounds was defeated.

HOUSE, Dec. 5.—SENATE. The assembly passed the bill over which it was worrying for a week, providing that the jury in all civil cases shall be twelve in all civil cases, but not in criminal cases. The bill has passed both houses, approved by the governor goes into effect by days after the adjournment of the general assembly.

HOUSE.—The house passed the bill introduced by Mr. Bailey, of Carroll, providing for the crumens, management and discipline of Kentucky penitentiary. The bill provides the appointment of a clerk by the committee of the sinking fund, whose duty it shall be to

FROM December 15, 1891, up to October 3, 1892, 173 fourth-class post offices have been established in Kentucky. The post office department it is said is an excellent record, and shows the Bluegrass state continues to grow at a lively rate.

Although President Harrison's party has recently been trying to back out from the Force Bill issue, the message he sent to Congress last week brings the skeleton out of the closet and gives it another instalment of admiration. No doubt Mr. Harrison was very much chagrined at the efforts of his party to get away from the Force Bill issue during a recent national campaign which brought to the polls only a few other than Democrats.

The Courier-Journal says, "Pork will be high this winter. Beef likely to be much cheaper. The pork-packing season this winter will be short. Only two firms in Louisville are now killing. The hogs are not in the country the packers say. The low price of hogs for the past two years has caused farmers to neglect them. And in this section the corn crop was short, too. The shortage all over the United States is about 10 per cent. No packing company in the country will run at its full capacity this winter."

In fact nearly all, of the in the State were very severe criticisms of Auditor Nor-wood's of his position in regard to the appropriation for the Court Fair, but since the Court Fair has sustained him these criticisms are as idle as lawyers that advise themselves to be. They are not an apology, after all, for the Court Fair, but a good reason for its success.

The recent visit to this city of Chairman Harrity of the Democratic National Committee, to consult with the local party leaders in regard to the arrangements for the inauguration ceremonies, revived somewhat, the Cabinet gossip, and Mr. Harrity's name was brought prominently into the discussion.
That gentleman, while here, however, took occasion to state that he would not accept a position under the new administration, even if one were offered him. In this regard he and ex-Secretary of the Navy, Whitney, of New York, seem to stand together, as neither appears to expect any reward for his valuable services in the late campaign. Mr. Cleveland is, of course, remaining discreetly silent as regard his cabinet, his plans and his prospective policy; but there is a unanimity of opinion that his advice will be among the subject in the party, and that he will give the country a clean, pure and unimpaired administration.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9, 1892.

To the Editors of the Recorder:

In view of the coming change of administration, it is of some interest to know that the First Assistant Postmaster-General probably has more appointments at his command than any other official. He disposes, as he chooses, of nearly all of the 200,000 offices in the Postoffice Department, which has ten times the patronage of all the other departments of the Government put together. All of these, except probably 600 clerks in the classified service and 3,200 Presidential Postmasters, he controls, chopping off heads and filling places according to his own will. He holds in the hollow of his hand 60,000 postoffices. However, 25,000 of these yield less than $100 salary annually, and the incumbents, in the most cases, will not find the loss of their positions a great misfortune. Already the Postoffice Department is receiving scores of letters daily from such fourth-class postmasters who are anxious to resign and thus escape
the probability of removal.

Heads of departments and chiefs of divisions declare that women are harder to get rid of than any other class of people who apply for positions under the Government. If informed there is no vacancy they usually reply: "The Secretary can always make one more position."

Many of them make most humble and pathetic appeals for any kind of mental employment at which they can earn a livelihood, yet these same appointees, after securing situations and occupying them for two or three days, are pretty sure to demand three things—promotion, leave of absence or light work. Women can never be convinced that there is any sincerity in the Civil Service law. They most always think that they can get around it and secure places in the classified service through influence.

There is a popular impression that the newspaper correspondents of Washington have more influence in securing Government appointments at the capital than in Cincinnati, but how long it will hold its own when it meets one of its neighbors, time only will tell.

The fifty-second Congress has convened in its closing session and will rapidly get down to active work. Through the attendance of both Senators and Representatives was small during the week, there was a quorum of both bodies present on the opening day. The annual message of President Harrison, which was not transmitted to Congress until Tuesday, the second day, was rather a long and tiresome document, with evidences of some venation at the decisive results of the recent election at which he met his defeat. It is not probable that many of his suggestions will meet adoption at the hands of this Congress, as it is generally conceded that no general legislation of importance, other than the passage of appropriation bills, will be attempted in advance of Mr. Cleveland's inauguration. The tariff and the currency questions will certainly be delegated entirely to the attention of the Fifty Third Congress, just elected.

The total valuation of railroad property in the State, as assessed by the Railroad Commissioners, is $52,316,308. This is $20,000,000 more than the valuation given by the railroad and $2,000,000 in excess of the valuation of 1891. The total revenue from this assessment will amount to $312,345. The report shows that there has been practically no railroad building in the State during the two years past.

gressman elect Berry that all places

dent before, purchased shortly after his inauguration, a suburban summer residence, there is much speculation as to whether he will make another such investment, and there are a number of real estate dealers in Washington, who would gladly give several thousand dollars to secure definite information on that point. Oak View, his former country resort, a few miles out in the suburbs, passed into other hands when Mr. Cleveland left the White House, and it was said that he made about $100,000 on the property. It was due to Mr. Cleveland, Secretary Whitney and Col. Lamont, then Mr. Cleveland's private secretary, that Mount Pleasant is now one of the most prosperous and progressive of the suburban villages around the capital.

his Journal, "that while 262,740 voters voted for the first elector on the Democratic ticket, the elector representing the thirteenth district received only 200,133, of 2,207 votes less than the head of ticket, while less than the first name. That is, 4,055 citizens who intended to vote

through ignorance or carelessness to vote for one or two names. And yet, week after week, hundreds of [Boston's Woman Journal.]

The statement going the rounds of the papers that this year in Wyoming women voted for a President of the United States for the first time is a mistake. Women voted at the first three Presidential elections in New Jersey. The Quaker element was strong in old New Jersey, and through the influence of a Quaker preacher the convention that framed the constitution under which New Jersey came into the Union substituted for the words
"male freeholders," in the provincial charter, the words, "all inhabitants twenty years of age." Under this constitution taxpaying women and taxpaying negroes voted. But the taxpaying women were not of them Federalists, and at the Presidential election of 1800 they voted for Adams against Jefferson, and were said to have carried the State in his favor.

Consequently, as soon as an opposition legislature came into power it abolished the property qualification, and, at the same time excluded from suffrage the taxpaying women and taxpaying negroes, decreasing that suffrage should be limited to "white male" citizens.

It is worth remembering now, while so many pleasant things are being said in the papers about the voting of the Wyoming women, that the first President of the United States who was elected in part by women's votes was not Grover Cleveland, but George Washington.

It is generally understood, however, that in the event of an appointment of any kind being tendered him under the coming administration Col. Lamont will not accept the honor, as he declares that for the next few years he means to keep out of political life and devote his energies to financial enterprises, at which he has been signally successful since he left Washington, not quite four years ago.

The city is quite full of visitors, many of whom will spend the entire winter here and wait the inauguration of Mr. Cleveland in the spring. The latter event promises to be the most brilliant of its kind the capital has ever seen, and the crowd in attendance will be the largest ever gathered in Washington.

Congress, since its recent meeting, has made all possible progress towards legislation, and the appropriation bills are being gotten in shape. Their passage will probably be the only important work attempted at this session, as the term expires with the incoming of the new administration.

Dr. J. C. TERRILL, of Covington, is an applicant for the Collectorship, and he will make the other applicants hostile if they beat him. The Doctor would make a good officer.

The popular vote for President in November was about as follows:

Cleveland 7,750,000
Harrison 6,500,000
Weaver 2,500,000
Bisbee 250,000
This leaves Cleveland in a minority of about 550,000 votes. True, and it also leaves Harrison in a minority of 1,350,000 votes.

The indictment against Harvey Myers, of Covington, for offering a bribe was based on evidence that was n. g. and the prosecution died a born. If Myers wanted to indulge in the bribing business he has too much sense to approach a person for that purpose who is as hostile towards him as Drowge, who preferred the charge.

A son of Mr. M. D. Pusey, a merchant of Gibraltar, N. C., was so badly afflicted with rheumatism for a year or more as to be unable to work or go to school. His father concluded to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm on the boy. It soon cured him and he has since walked one and a half miles to school and back every school day. 50 cent bottles for sale by A. M. Acra.

The Glasgow Times is raising a serious question in the following: Is the election law a law? Was the November election legally held? Are the nominees then elected by the people?

At first the Republicans were congratulating themselves because of the tail going with the hide in the recent national election—rejoicing because the Democrats would be entirely responsible for the manner in which national affairs will be conducted for the next four years, commencing on the 4th of March next. But they have recently changed their notion, and have resorted to some of the tricks for which they are noted, to prevent the Democrats from gaining control of the United States Senate.

I have been asked one question at least two hundred times in the last few months, and as it is a wholesale question I will answer it in a wholesale way. The question is, "How much longer are you following to stay at Frankfurt?" I answer by saying that when the spring comes again and the voice of the turtle is heard in the land, not look for us for we are not coming; and when the bloom gets on the eye, we will still be far away; and when you are gathering in the golden grain it is the fellow who wants to buy your mules and calves whom you see coming, and not us; and when you gather your apples, don't save the best ones for us, unless they are good keepers for they will spoil; but when the last days of the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four are drawing nigh; and the ice is hanging over your doors; the small boys are saving their pennies to buy Christmas Jim cracker; the little folks are hanging up their stockings in anticipation of a visit from Santa, then look out for us, and be ready to take us lovingly into your arms and ask us how it happened that we got back so soon. Senator Huff in Flemingsburg Gazette.

The Senate agrees with the House, courts will be allowed a credit of 90 days instead of 60 in this year's good behavior.

OUR NEIGHBORS.
DEARBORN CO., IND.

Mrs. Levia Babb, of Dilshoro, was married to Mr. John Babb, of Boone county, Ky., on Thursday evening. The wedding took place in the pleasant home of Mr. Babb in Dilshoro, Rev. Alexander Dunn, of Moore's Hill, officiating. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a bountiful supper.
In 1890 Miss Anna Deffen, of Yorkville, visited her sister at Shelbyville, Ind., while riding in the freight there was a runaway accident in which she was badly injured. She brought suit against Frank Jones, the liveryman, alleging that he knew the team was runaway horses. The case was tried at Greensburg last week and the plaintiff was awarded $500 damages.
A young gentleman named Willard guilty to the charge of carrying concealed weapons on Monday. Judge Downey stated that the habit of carrying concealed weapons was a danger to one and all, and to the minor, and every effort should be made to discourage the practice. He fined the young man $250, but upon a statement made by the defendant's attorney and the prosecuting attorney that they were mitigating circumstances in the case, the Judge entered up judgment for $50 and costs. Judge Downey will look up the pernicious practice if he is given an opportunity to make a few shining examples.

THE TEMPLE OF BAAL.
A Whole Village Now Inclosed Within a Huge Wall.
There rises a huge wall, seventy feet high, inclosing a square court, of which the side is four hundred and seventy feet long. Part of the wall, having fallen into ruin, has been rebuilt from the ancient materials, but the whole of the north side, with its beautiful pilasters, remains perfect.
At the visitors enter the court they stand still in astonishment at the extraordinary sight which meets their eyes. For here, crowded within those four walls, is the native village of Tadmor. It was natural enough for the Arabs to build their huts within these vast-made fortifications, amidst Blackwood's Magazine, but the impression produced by such a village in the temple, so to speak, is calculated to excite and little but the shell remains. But here and there a fluted Corinthian column or group of columns, with a tabernacle still perfect, rises in stately grace far over the wretched huts, the rich, creamy color of the limestone and the beautiful moldings of the capitals contrasting with the clear blue of the cloudless sky. The best view of the whole is to be obtained from the roof of the naos, which, once beautiful and adorned with sculpture, is now all battered and defaced and has been metamorphosed into a squallid little mosque. To describe the view from that roof were to state a hopeless task. High into the clear blue air and the golden sunshine rise the stately columns; crowded and jumbled and heaped together below, untouched by the gladdening sunbeams, unrefreshed by the pure, fresh air, lies all the squalor and wretchedness of an Arab mud hut village.

James Rogers and Robert Huey have bought the Ben F. Garrett farm on the river just above Bellevue. They will divide the tract, Mr. Rogers taking his share the upper end of the farm, which will make a considerable addition to his already large bottom land. Mr. Huey gets the improvements and the lower end of the farm.

A few days ago George Blythe, looking after his stock on the Hughes farm, right on top of a ridge came across an excavation which looked so much like a grave as to make him quite nervous. He commenced an investigation and learned that a nest of skunks had been exhumed there and that the hole was not intended for the last abode of a fellow mortal.

It is said that this actually happened at the dedication last Sunday. A gentleman was amusing a little child by nodding at it, the child being between him and the pulpit.

During the 10 contributions, and had called out, "Who will give $5," and just then the gentleman in the congregation nodded at the child again, and the minister observing the nod, called out there is a brother who will give $5, and the child, and the clerk recorded the name with a V. P. P. and the gentleman was too much embarrassed to explain matters, but he did not stop to be the subject of the child.

REPORT

One of our brave fellows made a crash at 12 o'clock Saturday night and the boys saw Dr. Just got up and flew.

The recent glorious rain has brought peace and joy to the hearts of many people in this section. Water was getting very scarce.

While drifting around the circle last Thursday I pulled up at the Pleasant Valley school house and hearing the musical voice of Jim Crier going on at the gate of $400, on the subject of "Woman's Suffrage" I entered.

The house was full of over-flowing and the most careful attention was given the speakers. He was followed by John Rogers, James Smith, John Vaughn, Norman Jackson, Albert Thompson, and Geo. W. Allen. The subject was fully discussed in all of its peculiar phases, and each speaker showed that he had given much thought to it.

Three ladies were the judges and they decided in favor of having the right to vote. One speaker said that a man at home taking care of seven kids while his wife was out electioneering would be a lovely sight to behold.

R. T. Clements has put a new anthracite stove in the town hall. Next thing, Mr. Clem, is to paper and paint up.

Boys 18 or 20 couple tripped the hours nearly away in the hall one night recently. Everything passed off all right, the men were about young, and the women were very handsome.

The subject, "History" was then introduced by J. McAttee and discussed by Messrs. Bondurant, Craig, Marshall and O. Snyder.

Last on the program—Relation of parents to teachers—was introduced by O. Snyder in an animated and interesting talk. The subject was also discussed by Messrs. Bondurant, Craig, Marshall and O. Snyder.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Wiloughby school house on the second Saturday in January, 1903, and a committee was appointed to arrange the program for that date.

It was also moved and seconded that this association meet in joint association with the other sections the third Saturday in February, 1903, at Burlington, Ky.

Adjusted.

one daughter and three sons, and all married.

The aggregate ages of the company was 1,405 years—average age, 37 years.

There was a pleasant gathering at the home of James S. Mason and wife, near Big Bone church on Friday, the 16th inst., it being the 68th birthday anniversary of Mr. Mason, and also the 17th anniversary of his wedding. There were 25 persons, relatives and friends of Mr. Mason, present, who gave him a pleasant surprise by bringing well filled baskets of bread, meat, beautiful cakes, and many other delicacies. When 12 m. arrived such a feast was spread upon the table as to gratify the most fastidious. At the first table 11 of the oldest persons were seated as follows: B. M. Allen, at the head; Rev. S. M. Adams, at the other end of the table; James T. Mason and wife, George W. Smith and wife, (these two ladies being twin sisters) John H. Mason and wife, David Clements and wife, J. H. Aylor and wife, W. E. Hance and wife.

After dinner the bride and groom retired to the parlor, where they received the congratulations of the company. Mrs. Fannie Buford Adams presided at the organ, and all joined in singing a few songs, after which Rev. S. M. Adams read the 91st Psalm, and made some appropriate remarks, followed by a few more songs, closing with the Doxology.

At the close of the exercises Mr. Mason made a few remarks in which he said it was one of his happiest days.

Mr. Mason was born in this county, on the farm where he now lives and has lived most of his life. He lived in Missouri a few years just before our last war. He is one of the few survivors.

The following is a list of those present: B. M. Allen, Thomas O. Jack, Charles M. Allen, John H. Mason, David Clements, James H. Aylor, Geo. W. Smith, John H. Mason, Allen, Robert W. Allen, Everett F. Franks, R. Lee Huey, Charles B. Mason, Dr. W. W. Smith, R. R. Aylor, J. E. Hance, Mrs. Charles B. Smith, Mrs. Aylor, Mrs. F. Allen, Mrs. J. Hance, James M. Stephens, Florence Jackson, Frances E. Allen, Nancy B. McElroy, Emeline Mason, Fannie Buford Adams, Sallie P. Smith, Elizabeth E. Allen, Josephine Allen, Sarah M. Allen, Nannie D. Frank, Miss N. M. Stephens, Annie J. Johnson, Sarah E. Jack, Mary J. Jack, Cynthia Smith, Edna McElroy, Conna A. Stephens.

The aggregate ages of the company was 1,903 years—average age, 39 years.

It is rumored that Gov. Buchanan, at Tennessee, will pardon H. Clay King, who is confined in the penitentiary for the murder of David Poston, in Memphis.
On account of the scarcity of hogs the present packing season will be short. Taking the country over, the shortage is placed at forty per cent, and the average price of hogs has been 6 cts., a much better price than has prevailed for several years.
SENATOR BLACKBURN says he has over two thousand applications for appointments under Mr. Cleveland's administration, and Mr. Carlisle has such a large number that he is compelled to keep a register of the names and the offices the applicants desire.
One of the first victims of the matrimonial epidemic that is now sweeping the State, was J. H. Herron, editor of the Owensboro Opinion. It took him a long time to get his own consent to enlist with the beneficiaries, but it is better late than never. Accept congratulations, Bro. Herron.
BEFORE another issue of the Recorder 1892 will have taken its place in the past with its joys and its sorrows, and while some will look back upon it as affording the most joyful events of their lives, others will remember it as productive of happenings that bowed them down with grief. And thus the world will continue to wag.
THAT Mr. Cleveland's popularity has continued to increase among the masses from the time he was first nominated for the Presidency down to the present is shown by the plurality he received at each election. In 1884 his plurality was 26,941; in 1888 it was 38,544, and in 1892, it is 431,891, which beats the record except when Gen. Grant was elected President.
A son of Mr. M. D. Pusser, a merchant of Gibraltar, N. C., was so badly afflicted with rheumatism for a year or more as to be unable to work or go to school. His father concluded to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm on the boy. It soon cured him and he has since walked one and a half miles to school each day.
It is a rare thing to pick up a country paper of last week and not find therein the following item or one similar thereto:
According to a long established usage there will be no paper issued from this office next week.
How many of the papers that observe that "long established usage" charge their subscribers for fifty-two issues and furnish them only thirty-one?
It is given out as certain that Mr. Cleveland has decided upon the following four persons as members of his cabinet:
Secretary of State—Edward J. Phelps, of Vermont.
Secretary of the Treasury—John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky.
Secretary of the Interior—Wm. R. Morrison, of Illinois.
Attorney-General—J. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia.
It may be that Mr. Cleveland has and it may be that he has not, selected the above named gentlemen for the places as designated.
It is declared by Frances Willard that the total amount of force used at any given moment to compress the waists of women by artificial means would turn all the mills between Minneapolis and the Merrimack, while the condensed force of their tight shoes, if it could be applied, would run any number of trains. The amount of energy yearn wasted in attempts to make women not follow the fashion for health's sake, would, if it could be concentrated, not only run all the mills, but all the trains in the world. Wonder how many women agree with Frances on the above proposition.
The immigration question is of very great importance to this country at present. It took great difficulties on the part of the authorities to prevent the introduction of cholera in the country, which immigrants brought with them, and in view of the health authorities are now issuing an outbreak of that pestilential disease in this country, it would be well to have immigration laws so amended as to prevent the influx of foreigners from the infected countries. It should make it the duty of the United States next to prevent the influx of foreigners from the infected countries. It should make it the duty of the United States next to prevent the influx of foreigners from the infected countries.

This subject of good roads is just now agitating the minds of the people of Indiana, and the Green-castle Democrat gives the following as the results of bad roads, and no one will take issue with it:
Bad roads are a tax on every pound of grain or other produce borne over them to market. Every person who travels over them pays a dear toll, in loss of time and wear and tear of beast and vehicle.
The condition of the roads of a country is a fair indication of its enlightenment and enterprise. Nothing contributes so much towards the enhancement of the value of farm lands as the adjacency of good highways. It is to be hoped that the incoming Legislature will amend the road laws of the State to secure the improvement of the roads in a permanent manner.
We have before us a copy of the proposed new road law now pending in Lower House of the General Assembly, and for which we are under obligations to Hon. N. S. Walton. The proposed law makes some radical changes from our present system, and we condense from it as follows:
Roads are to be classified, the width of each class, between ditches, to be specified, as also the width between the fences. Roads of the first class shall not be more than 70 nor less than 50 feet wide; roads of the second class shall not be more than 30 nor less than 20 feet wide; roads of the third class shall not be more than 20 nor less than 15 feet wide. Where it is practicable and possible road beds shall be graded with a fall of one inch to the foot from the center of the road to the ditches. The fiscal court, at its levy court each year shall assess an ad valorem tax of not more than 25 cents on each $100 worth of taxable property, and a head tax of not less than 50 cents and not more than $1.50 on each male over 21 years of age, for road and bridge purposes. At its regular April term, 1894, the fiscal court of each county in the State shall order an election held for a county supervisor of roads, whose term of office shall be four years, and he shall execute bond for double the amount of the road and bridge funds, and take an oath for the faithful performance of his duties. The county court, or any person aggrieved, may institute suit against the supervisor and his sureties. It shall be the duty of the supervisor, at the court house, on the first Monday in March in each year, after 20 days' printed notice, posted at each voting precinct in the county and published in the county newspaper for the same length of time, to let out the lowest and best bidder or bidders, who shall give bond with surety approved by the supervisor, for the working and keeping in repair all the roads in the county for a term of not less than one year nor more than two years thereafter, the roads to be let either in sections or by justice's or road districts, and the work to be done as specified in the bond of the contractor; to let out at such times as needed, and on reasonable printed notice, the building and repairing of all such bridges and culverts as are not embraced in the contract for working roads; to receive notices and alterations in roads; to superintend the widening, opening, and changes made in roads; and to superintend the erection of gates on public roads.
Able bodied delinquent tax payers, between the ages of twenty-one and fifty years shall be required to work out their taxes on the public roads at $1 per day of not less than nine hours.
It is unlawful for any supervisor or county officer to become interested in any road contract.
The county judges, with the aid and advice of the road supervisor shall divide all the roads into districts, consecutively numbered, and in each district an assistant supervisor shall be appointed to assist the supervisor in looking after the roads and seeing that they are kept in repair.
The yearly salary of the county supervisor shall not exceed $800.
The above contains the points of the proposed law in which this county is mostly interested. It is not a law that will suit this county, one of the principal objects being the high rate of taxation made possible by its provisions.
Should Mr. Carlisle go into Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, he will precipitate one of the warmest Senatorial contests experienced by Kentucky in many a long day. There will be a host of aspirants for the position he would render vacant, and among them would likely be Gov. Brown, Judge Lindsay, ex-Gov. Buckner, Congressman McCreary, Congressman Stone, Cassius M. Clay and Proctor Knott.
From Kansas, a State that gave Harrison 50,000 plurality four years ago, Harrison will not receive a solitary electoral vote this time, while South Carolina, whose Democratic convention last May denounced Cleveland as a tool of Wall street, gave in November a plurality of 42,314 for the Cleveland electors.—Louisville Times.

A Washington special announces with needless particularity that "the Populists in Congress are alarmed." Populists are always alarmed. That's what a populist is. If he ceases to be alarmed and becomes rational, he becomes a Democrat. A Populist that is not always ringing a fire alarm or tooting a rattle horn is not the genuine article, but a cold blooded fraud, spoiled by a cross-train of common sense.—Courier Journal.

Committee should get to work on a bill, and that the Appropriations Committee and the Committee on Banking and Currency should begin preparing for the work before them, he regards as very desirable, it is declared. He is said to be opposed, however, to a prolonged extra session, and thinks it would be better to have Congress meet in the fall than to run any risk of a long summer session. He is not entirely certain, it is claimed, about the ability of his party friends in Congress to give the necessary assurances of an adjournment immediately after the organization of the House, but he is said to have signified his willingness to have a spring session if such an agreement can be had as will make a speedy adjournment sure.
There is probably no private residence in Washington more interesting to the general public than the former residence of the late W. W. Corcoran, the millionaire banker and philanthropist, which was once the home also of Daniel Webster. It has recently been chosen by Senator Calvin S. Brice, of Ohio, as his residence for the next five years, and he has begun the work of extensively altering and remodeling it. The casual observer sees it now as it looked after Mr. Corcoran's purchase in 1842, when were planned the changes and additions which, when completed, made it for many years the largest and most imposing private dwelling in Washington. The house is one of the last of the century, the most distinguished men and women of many decades have been entertained there, and some of the notable hospitalities of the early part of the last half century have taken place under its roof. It is said to have been built originally by Mr. Swan, who was district attorney under President John Quincy Adams. After that an English minister lived there, and following him Daniel Webster purchased the property and made it his home. At that period the house was small compared with what is considered a suitable establishment for a statesman nowadays. When Mr. Corcoran bought the house from Mr. Webster he added two wings and an addition and made it the commodious home it is today. Mr. Corcoran entertained very lavishly, and his name and house were known all over the world.

There is probably no longer a doubt that James G. Blaine is nearing the end of his life. The actual state of his health has been concealed from the public for several months, but it is definitely known that for some weeks past he has been rapidly growing more feeble. This loss of health has now assumed an alarming character, and he is sinking steadily. His recovery to even partial health is now considered impossible, and his death may occur at any time.

[Kentucky Post] FRANKFORT, KY., Dec. 24.—A remarkable entertainment was witnessed here to day in the State penitentiary in the shape of a cake walk.
At 10 o'clock this morning 250 visitors, including many of the State officials and members of the Legislature, and 1,000 striped convicts were admitted to the large hall to see the cake walk of the prisoners.
Five prominent citizens sat as judges and 10 convict couples, men and women completed for the prize.
The great room rang with cheers for the contestants. The contest finally narrowed down to "Mock Turtle," of Louisville and his partner, and Frank Carr, of Georgetown, and his partner.
The blue ribbon was finally tied on "Mock Turtle" and the red ribbon on Carr amid tumultuous applause. "Mock Turtle" wore a blue coat with big brass buttons, a black silk hat and his striped trousers. Carr wore a veritable "Joseph Coat" with his zebra trousers and upon his head was a white Cleveland hat, with red, white and blue silk bands streaming behind. Both carried cane clubs.
A number of society ladies were in the audience. The women convicts here are not garbed in prison uniform, and those who walked for the cake and danced up on their best. It was a picturesque scene. After the cake-walk there was a big dinner in the women's department, where strangers and a limited number of men convicts were admitted. A full string band was in attendance. The dinner in the prison was fine and bountiful. The Lexington friends of Rev. Mr. Cook, the chaplain, sent 125 huge cakes of every variety to the convicts.
Many other good things were sent in and the convicts feasted.
This afternoon the minstrel troupe of the prison—an excellent one—gave an entertainment to 1,200 people. The wives and children of several of the convicts were among the visitors.
Governor Brown pardoned Alvin Mitchell, of Lexington, who was sent up seven years for robbery. He had served three years. Mitchell belongs to a good family, and was exemplary in conduct. The pardon was recommended by members of the Legislature from Lexington and Fayette county and others.

WASHINGTON LETTER
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 23, 1892.
To the Editors of the Recorder:
Naturally there are all sorts of conflicting rumors at the capital regarding the policies Mr. Cleveland will follow after his inauguration as President, and there are equally varying statements as to his wishes about an extra session of the now Congress. Quite recently it has been stated on what is claimed to be an undoubted authority that Mr. Cleveland is really in favor of an extra session, but that he is undecided whether it should be held in the spring or in the fall. It is said that if an agreement could be reached which would insure an adjournment immediately after the organization of the House committees, he would favor a meeting of Congress very shortly after his inauguration. He thinks, it is stated, that it would be a very good thing to have the committees appointed early, so as to enable them to get their work ready for the House as soon as the regular session begins—next December. That the Ways and Means Committee should get to work on a bill, and that the Appropriations Committee and the Committee on Banking and Currency should begin preparing for the work before them, he regards as very desirable, it is declared. He is said to be opposed, however, to a prolonged extra session, and thinks it would be better to have Congress meet in the fall than to run any risk of a long summer session. He is not entirely certain, it is claimed, about the ability of his party friends in Congress to give the necessary assurances of an adjournment immediately after the organization of the House, but he is said to have signified his willingness to have a spring session if such an agreement can be had as will make a speedy adjournment sure.
